Theology and Social Issues in Africa Francis Anekwe Oborji, 2020-11-22 The Volume speaks to us from the heart and engages the socio political concerns in the Nigerian context through the lens of a theological approach The author reflects historically the numerous consequences of the amalgamation of the ethnic groups of different orientations in Nigeria into one socio political structure of the colonizers interests This sociopolitical structure raises several questions than answers it pretends to offer the indigenous people From a Nigerian point of view the articles in this volume critically challenge the unjust formation of any nationhood in the Africa context It points out how the sustenance of an unjust nation formation betrays the creed on which such a nation is established Truth conquers all is the spirit with which this Volume is written It is the truth that will set a nation like Nigeria free from the spirit of confusion and unperceived religio socio political syncretism The awareness emanating from this volume suggests liberating steps from the unsuspecting colonial interests and the sustained feigned relationship with the colonizers which militate against the socio political and economic growth and theological orthodoxy of such a growing nation *INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL OF INTEGRATIVE HUMANISM GHANA Vol 8. Janestic Mwende Twikirize,Sharlotte Tusasiirwe,Rugare Mugumbate,2023-10-24 This book addresses a recurrent gap in social work literature by examining Ubuntu as an Indigenous African philosophy that informs social work beyond the largely residual and individualistic conceptualisation of social work that currently prevails in many contexts Owing to the lack of social work theories models and generally literature that is locally and contextually relevant most social work lecturers based in African context struggle to access learning materials and texts that centre local indigenous voices and worldviews It is within this context that the ubuntu philosophy has gained traction There is increasing consensus that Ubuntu as an African philosophy and way of life has the potential to be used as a decolonising framework for social work education and practice Theorising from Ubuntu can influence and be the foundation for African social work theory and knowledge social work values and ethics social work research and policy and Ubuntu informing different fields of social work practice like social work with older people children and young people ubuntu and poverty alleviation ubuntu and the environment among others Drawing together social workers engaged in education research policy practice to theorise Ubuntu and its tenets philosophies and values this book shows how it can be a foundation for a decolonised more relevant social work education and practice in African contexts Transformations in Digital Learning and Educational Technologies Mateo-Guillen, Copelia,Cortijo

Anthony Okechukwu Nnadi,2020-01-09 This publication representing the doctoral dissertation of Rev Fr Anthony Okechukwu Nnadi examines the healthcare system in Nigeria in the light of the Catholic social teaching He supports that the allocation of health care resources is not only a matter of organization but is also an ethical problem. The debacles and failure of the Nigerian health system result from many factors including lack of will to implement the right policies on the ground, corruption among the leaders, lack of justice, lack of respect for the dignity of each human person, mismanagement and insufficient consideration and application of ethical principles in the administration of common good, especially in the distribution of health care and social resources. For the distribution of health care resources, this doctoral dissertation suggests that priority be given to the basic health care needs of Nigerian citizens, especially those who have no means of satisfying these needs themselves. In this context, the research affirms that great attention needs to be paid to ensuring that the principle of human dignity is completely respected in each and every policy in this important area. This doctoral thesis is an ethical vision of social reality in Nigeria. It proposes the person-centred Catholic principles as a possible way forward in the distribution of health care resources in Nigeria. It does not imply substituting the economic, political and health care experts in offering technical solutions in their areas of competence. The author is convinced that healthcare allocation is also an ethical issue that needs to be governed by ethical principles. The key factors for choosing this theme are based on the author's knowledge of the deplorable condition of the health care system in Nigeria and his desire to save human lives. Rev Fr Anthony Okechukwu Nnadi believes that we are all stewards of human life. This implies a moral obligation to protect the dignity of the human person, which is inseparable from protecting human life. The Humanitarian Engagement of the Church in Nigeria Emmanuel Ayebo, 2019-05. Human dignity, decent life and human rights are effects of extensive humanitarian struggles by a people to achieve reasonable life for all. The possibility of such El Dorado was stalled in the past by unforeseen circumstances and other man-made tribulations in global history. However, these struggles will remain incomplete without a global perspective. Thus, taking the responsibility to understand humanity and her shortfalls in other parts of the globe becomes necessary. This quest consequently triggers the thorough study on how, where and why their plight is intrinsically tied to their social, cultural, religious and political background. Such genuine consequent studies can uproot the causal effect and thus guarantee the success of that developmental slogan of helping people to help themselves. This study attempts to provide a platform that could chart a path towards sustainable answers to basic social questions.
