Infrathin Marjorie Perloff, 2021-09-03 Esteemed literary critic Marjorie Perloff reconsiders the nature of the poetic examining its visual grammatical and sound components The infrathin was Marcel Duchamp's playful name for the most minute shade of difference that between the report of a gunshot and the appearance of the bullet hole or between two objects in a series made from the same mold Eat is not the same thing as ate The poetic Marjorie Perloff suggests can best be understood as the language of infrathin For in poetry whether in verse or prose words and phrases that are seemingly unrelated in ordinary discourse are realigned by means of sound visual layout etymology grammar and construction so as to make it new In her revisionist micropoetics Perloff draws primarily on major modernist poets from Stein and Yeats to Beckett suggesting that the usual emphasis on what this or that poem is about does not do justice to its infrathin possibilities From Goethe's eight line Wanderer's Night Song to Eliot's Four Quartets to the minimalist lyric of Rae Armantrout Infrathin is designed to challenge our current habits of reading and to answer the central question what is it that makes poetry poetry

Rose-Colored Glasses - A Gramma Book Arlene Hill, Moving Modernisms David Bradshaw, Laura Marcus, Rebecca Roach, 2016-07-08 The essays in Moving Modernisms Motion Technology and Modernity written by renowned international scholars open up the many dimensions and arenas of modernist movement and movements spatial geographical and political affective and physiological temporal and epochal technological locomotive and metropolitan aesthetic and representational

Individual essays explore modernism's complex geographies focusing on Anglo-European modernisms while also engaging with the debates engendered by recent models of world literatures and global modernisms. From questions of space and place the volume moves to a focus on movement and motion with topics ranging from modernity and bodily energies to issues of scale and quantity. The final chapters in the volume examine modernist film and the moving image and travel and transport in the modern metropolis. Movement is reality itself; the philosopher Henri Bergson wrote the original and illuminating essays in Moving Modernisms point in new ways to the realities and the fantasies of movement in modernist culture. John Clare: Poems of the Middle Period, 1822-1837 John Clare, 1996. Completing the influential Oxford edition of Clare's collected poems, this volume presents the poems of the Northborough period of Clare's creativity. As with other volumes in the edition, many of the poems have never before been published, and Clare's spelling, punctuation, grammar, and vocabulary have all been carefully preserved. This final volume also includes corrections to the texts, variants, and notes in previously published volumes in the series, along with a cumulative glossary and cumulative indices of first lines and titles that will assist readers in their use of the edition as a whole. Clare's poetry deals not only with his own countryside but also with its ceremonies and celebrations, its customs and games, its political, economic, and religious concerns, its proverbs, tales, and songs, indeed with all aspects of its popular culture. The poems of the Northborough period are some of Clare's best work, demonstrating a particularly concise vision of Clare's experience of Nature. The Deaf Shoemaker: To Which Are Added Other Stories for the Young Philip Barrett, 2019-12-16.
