Gays and Lesbians in Mainstream Cinema James Robert Parish, 1993 Hollywood's depiction of gays and lesbians has almost always been stereotypical from the extremely effeminate characters portrayed by Franklin Pangborn, Eric Blore and Grady Sutton in the 1930s to the gay characters in To Be or Not to Be 1983 and Torch Song Trilogy 1988. A contrasting depiction the homicidal homosexual has been the basis for such popular films as Looking for Mr. Goodbar 1977. This comprehensive filmography to homosexual characters in mainstream movies 1914-1992 includes full cast and credits, production information, reviews and an analysis of the film with an essay blending critical commentary and a synopsis of each film.

Hollywood v. Hard Core Jon Lewis, 2002-09-01 A tale of censorship and regulation at the heart of the modern film industry. In 1972 The Godfather and Deep Throat were the two most popular films in the country. One a major Hollywood studio production, the other an independently made skin flick. At that moment, Jon Lewis asserts, the fate of the American film industry hung in the balance. Spanning the 20th century, Hollywood v. Hard Core weaves a gripping tale of censorship and regulation. Since the industry's infancy, film producers and distributors have publicly regarded ratings codes as a necessary evil. Hollywood regulates itself; we have been told to prevent the government from doing it for them. But Lewis argues that the studios self-regulate because they are convinced it is good for business and that censorship codes and regulations are a crucial part of what binds the various competing agencies in the film business together. Yet between 1968 and 1973, Hollywood films were faltering at the box office and the major studios were in deep trouble. Hollywood's principal competition came from a body of independently produced and distributed films from foreign art house film, Last Tango in Paris, to hard core pornography like Behind the Green Door, that were at once disreputable and for a moment at least irresistible even chic. In response, Hollywood imposed the industry-wide MPAA film rating system, the origins of the G, PG and R designations we have today that pushed sexually explicit films outside the mainstream and a series of Supreme Court decisions all but outlawed the theatrical exhibition of hard core pornographic films. Together, these events allowed Hollywood to consolidate its iron grip over what films got made and where they were shown, thus saving it from financial ruin.

Shots in the Mirror Nicole Hahn Rafter, 2006 Criminologist Nicole Rafter analyses the source of the appeal of crime films and their role in popular culture. She argues that crime films both reflect and shape our ideas about fundamental social, economic and political issues.

At a Theater or Drive-in Near You Randall Clark, 2013-12-17 Millions of Americans have been thrilled, scared, titillated and shocked by exploitation movies, low budget films with many scenes of sex, violence and other potentially lurid elements. The term derives from the fact that promoters of such films exploit the contents in advertising that plays up the sexual or violent aspects of the films. This is the first comprehensive study of the American exploitation film to be published. It discusses five distinct genres: the teen movie, the sexploitation film, the martial arts movie, the blaxploitation film, and the lawbreaker picture Contained within these genres are many popular American film types including beach movies biker pictures and women s prison movies The study provides a history and sociopolitical analysis of each genre focusing on significant films in those genres It also discusses the economics of exploitation films and their place in the motion picture industry the development of drive in theaters the significance of the teenage audience and the effect of the videocassette Finally the book applies major film and cultural theories to establish an aesthetic for evaluating the exploitation film and to explore the relationship between film and audience
