Social Sciences and Public Policy in the Developing World Laurence Davis Stifel, Ralph Kirby Davidson, James S. Coleman, 1982     Horizons ,1983     National Development of Psychology John Adair, Cigdem Kagitcibasi, 1995     Social Research in Developing Countries Martin Bulmer, Donald P. Shinn, J. Spaapen, V.V. Krishna, 2013-04-17 block possible Soviet expansion by mobilizing European democracies the policy soon extended to some developing countries in Asia and Latin America In response the USSR gradually initiated development programs for newly independent nations in Asia and Africa In this context super power rivalry operated in the South to i expand spheres of influence and control ii guard Southern nations from the influence and incursions launched by the opposed camp iii stimulate indigenous development With few exceptions Southern nations provided little input to the definition and execution of North South dynamics during this period In the case of Africa and to some extent Asia the acquisition of independence was so recent and often sudden that there was little time to reflect on the kind of policies and measures needed to build balanced relations with the former mother country In Latin America the Monroe Doctrine had long insured that the region was a virtual captive of the US Aid for development was contingent on conformity to US political and economic interests The cognitive component of South North dealings strongly reflected the two above mentioned dispositions The relative lack of political experience in the South and the dearth of an organized and sizable intellectual academic community meant that there were few cognitive and human resources for undertaking careful study and analysis of the conditions and needs of development from a Southern perspective influential exceptions existed though such as Raul Prebisch in Latin America or Gandhi in India

International Perspectives on Teacher Education Donald K. Sharpes, 2020-09-10 The preparation of suitably qualified teachers is vital for political social and economic growth in developing countries Some major problems have been caused by the enormous growth in primary enrolment and by the need to train more teachers without reducing standards exacerbated by the fact that in many cases the structure of teacher education is still in its formative stages However these problems can lead to innovative options and solutions Originally published in 1988 this book reports on research and practice in teacher education around the world It examines for example what happens to teacher education at times of great social change or political unrest as in South Africa or Cyprus how programmes in for example Nigeria or China approach minority education and how teachers are prepared for the teaching of indigenous populations such as the Saskatchewan Indians in Canada These examples of international teacher education practice are presented within a specific national regional and cultural context and provide important perspectives on the traditional views of how teachers are and should be prepared and professionally maintained The book will be of interest to all involved in teacher education adult education and curriculum significantly more challenging In this background the chapters of the book with sector themes examine the three basic foundations of public policy courses of action regulatory measures and issues and funding structures and priorities in public service delivery The book is a multi country multi sector perspective since it includes studies from Russian Federation India Ethiopia Pakistan Fiji South Africa Columbia Philippines Macedonia and India This perspective lends itself to the investigation for a comprehensive overall development model Corporate Social Responsibility in Developing Countries Steven Kayambazinthu Msosa, Shame Mugova, Courage Mlambo, 2023-06-20 This book examines corporate social responsibility theories and models in the context of developing countries The developing countries are amongst the poorest countries of the world despite vast natural resources The natural resources are mismanaged proceeds are misappropriated corruption and conflict are centered on resource control Governments and Multinational Corporations MNCs are at the centre of the controversy of corporate social responsibility CSR in the affected countries Moreover the lack of systems procedures and legislation to enforce CSR has led to environmental degradation and a decline in business ethics and morality This book analyses Corporate Social Responsibility in developing countries with specific reference to the extractive industry by integrating academic and industrial perspectives It will be of interest to researchers in the field of CSR as well as for management professionals Marketizing Education and Health in Developing Countries Christopher Colclough, 1997

This book draws on evidence from a large number of developing countries to assess the impact of market reforms on the provision of education and health services The contributors show that approaches that seek merely to pass more of their costs to consumers perform less well than is often claimed and that improved cost effectiveness of health and education systems requires far more than changes in the sources and mechanisms of obtaining finance The Diversity of Emerging Capitalisms in Developing Countries Eric Rougier, François Combarnous, 2017-04-06 This book presents the results of a collective and original empirical investigation of the institutional systems underlying the capitalisms that are coming to the fore in developing nations While varieties of industrialized countries capitalisms are extensively scrutinized those of developing countries capitalisms are far less documented By implementing a unified and original comparative approach based on the institutional complementarity theory the different contributors of the book find evidence for the originality and heterogeneity of the forms of capitalism to be observed in developing countries This text analyses capitalist systems as clusters of sectoral institutions and regulations identifying differences between these clusters in a large sample of emerging and developing countries Rougier and Combarnous bring together contributions answering the following questions What are these clusters of institutions underlying emerging capitalisms Are there common or specific patterns of institutional clustering across countries and what are the main characteristics of the varieties of capitalism they shape What are their main long term determinants Are there specific patterns of economic outcome associated with these clusters Can different forms of institutional complementarity be observed How can we analyse institutional reform from this perspective
