Social Support Networks, 1983 Social Support Networks, 1983 Research Design for Social Work and the Human Services Jeane W. Anastas, 2000-01-28 Research Design for Social Work and the Human Services integrates a range of research techniques into a single epistemological framework and presents a balanced approach to the teaching of research methods in the helping professions Jeane W Anastas begins with a discussion of the different philosophical perspectives within which social research occurs and continues with problem formulation research design and methodological issues influencing data collection analysis and dissemination She presents both fixed quantitative and flexible qualitative methods of research granting legitimacy value utility and relevance to both styles of inquiry Utilizing complete case studies to illustrate different methodological approaches Research Design for Social Work and the Human Services integrates material on women and people of color and draws attention to the ways racism heterosexism sexism and classism affect the conceptualization and conduct of research Anastas not only exposes these biases but actively addresses the experiences needs and concerns of clients of both genders and different races ethnicities sexual orientations cultures and classes Support Networks in a Caring Community J.A. Yoder, J.M.L. Jonker, R.A.B. Leaper, 2012-12-06 The historic Binnenhof seat of the Dutch government in The Hague provided the setting January 1985 for a conference in which participants from eleven countries met to consider the theme Support networks in a caring community research and policy fact and fiction At the outset conference leadership provided by Professors J M L Jonker The Netherlands and R A B Leaper United Kingdom urged the conferees not to allow their enthusiasm for informal support networks to combine with the pervasive awareness of the failures of welfare states into a simplistic stance of advocacy with a consequent appeal to politicians to direct state funds accordingly Legitimate criticisms of the responses of welfare states to the needs of citizens were to be seen as the context for discussion not the substance of conference deliberations More specifically if it is now apparent to many people that governmental assistance of individuals with social needs can lead to an undesirable dependency on the part of increasingly passive citizens that awareness does not lend logical support to an ideological position that governmental expenditures are pernicious per se to be replaced as rapidly as possible by a return to reliance on self family friends and associations that are developed voluntarily and financed by those who are sufficiently interested Restorative and Responsive Human Services Gale Burford, John Braithwaite, Valerie Braithwaite, 2019-03-04 In Restorative and Responsive Human Services Gale Burford John Braithwaite and Valerie Braithwaite bring together a distinguished collection providing rich lessons on how regulation in human services can proceed in empowering ways that heal and are respectful of human relationships and legal obligations The human services are in trouble combining restorative justice with responsive regulation might redeem them renewing their well intended principles Families provide glue that connects complex systems What are the challenges in scaling up relational practices that put families and primary groups at the core of health education and other social services This collection has a distinctive focus on the relational complexity of restorative practices How do they enable more responsive ways of grappling with complexity than hierarchical and prescriptive human services Lessons from responsive business regulation inform a re imagining of the human services to advance wellbeing and reduce domination Readers are challenged to re examine the perverse incentives and contradictions buried in policies and practices How do they undermine the capacities of families and communities to solve problems on their own terms This book will interest those who harbor concerns about the creep of domination into the lives of vulnerable citizens It will help policymakers and researchers to re focus human services to fundamental outcomes at the foundation of sustainable democracies This book is available for free in PDF format as Open Access from the individual product page at www.routledge.com It has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license functioning of clients being served in human service programs Topics covered include important skills in environmental practice including decisionmaking negotiating and leadership community practice and resource coordination social support the impact of organizational environments on practice environmental practice for the chronically disabled Author Neugeboren's approach is unique in its in depth focus on environmental practice applying concepts of social environment to specific practice roles This practice specific content which provides tools needed for environmental practice is in contrast to existing texts on the social environment which are very theoretical and not integrated with practice He includes material from the field of social ecology which has not been included in existing texts It shows how practitioners and administrators planners and policymakers can facilitate and support each other's work Reading Environmental Practice in the Human Services will enlighten students and practitioners with specific skills for impacting on different social environments to enhance client benefit It tells how a direct service practitioner can determine which organizational environments are suitable for particular client needs in making agency referrals It also provides administrators with information about designing planning and managing agencies with functional organizational environments which achieve effective services
