Addiction Treatment Daniel Hood,2017-09-08 Addiction Treatment is an ethnography that compares two types of residential drug free treatment programs religious faith based programs and science based secular programs Although these programs have originated from significantly different ideological bases in examining the day to day operations of each Daniel E Hood concludes that they are far more alike than they are different Drug free treatment today whether in secular or religious form is little more than a remnant of the temperance movement It is a warning to stop using drugs At its best treatment provides practical advice and support for complete abstinence At its worst it demeans users for a form of behavior that is not well understood and threatens death if they do not stop Hood argues that there is no universal agreement on what addiction is and that drug abuse is little more than a catch all term of no specific meaning used to condemn behavior that is socially unacceptable Through extensive participatory observations intimate life history interviews and informal conversations with residents and staff Hood shows how both programs use the same basic techniques of ideological persuasion mutual witnessing methods of social control discourse deprivation and the same proposed zero tolerance abstinent lifestyle Christian living vs Right living as they endeavor to transform clients from addicts to citizens or from sinners to disciples

Polite Politics Denny Ho Kwok-leung,2020-08-26 This title was first published in 2000 This book contributes to social movement theory and to an understanding of Hong Kong politics through analysis of an urban housing protest movement The theoretical approach adopted is a multi level one and seeks to show the influence of the political context the resources available to the groups concerned the actors interpretations of their situation and their strategy preferences This approach fills a gap in social movement theory because most theoretical frameworks focus on a single level of analysis The book also aims to help researchers in the field to re examine the current development of social movement theories and to learn the specific trajectory of urban social movements in Hong Kong

Racism Matters William D. Wright,1998-09-24 This work offers a new discussion of racism in America that focuses on how White people have been affected by their own racism and how it impacts upon relations between Blacks and Whites This study draws attention to how racism is distinctly different from race and it shows how since the late 17th century most Whites have been afflicted by their own racism as evidenced by considerable delusional thinking dehumanization alienation from America and psychological and social pathology White people have created and maintained a White racist America which is the antithesis of liberty equality justice and freedom Black people continue to be the primary victims of this culture Although racism in America has changed since the 1950s and 1960s from a blatant and violent White racist America to a less violent and more subtle White racist America racism still severely hampers the ability of most Blacks to develop and be free The continuing racist context in which Blacks live requires that they organize and use effective group power or Black Power to help themselves One obstacle to Black achievement is the use of intelligence tests which are wholly unscientific and represent a manifestation of subtle White racism A challenge to the writing on race in this country this work focuses on the victims and not the perpetrators Sociological Abstracts Leo P. Chall,1996
