International Sport Richard William Cox, 2004 There has been an explosion in the quantity of sports history literature published in recent years making it increasingly difficult to keep abreast of developments The annual number of publications has increased from around 250 to 1 000 a year over the last decade This is due in part to the fact that during the late 1980s and 90s many clubs leagues and governing bodies of sport have celebrated their centenaries and produced histories to mark this occasion and commemorate their achievements It is also the result of the growing popularity and realisation of the importance of sport history research within academe This international bibliography of books articles conference proceedings and essays in the English language is a one stop for the sports historian to know what is new

Football Adrian Harvey, 2005 The story of the creation of Britain's national game has often been told According to the accepted wisdom the refined football games created by English public schools in the 1860s subsequently became the sports of the masses Football The First Hundred Years provides a revisionist history of the game challenging previously widely accepted beliefs Harvey argues that established football history does not correspond with the facts Football as played by the masses prior to the adoption of the public school codes is almost always portrayed as wild and barbaric This view may require considerable modification in the light of Harvey's research Football's First One Hundred Years provides a very detailed picture of the football played outside the confines of the public schools revealing a culture that was every bit as sophisticated and influential as that found within their prestigious walls Football The First Hundred Years sets forth a completely revisionist thesis offering a different perspective on almost every aspect of the established history of the formative years of the game The book will be of great interest to sports historians and football enthusiasts alike
