the fifth fourth centuries BCE these essays explore how speakers constructed or deconstructed identities for themselves and their opponents as part of a rhetorical strategy designed to persuade or manipulate the audience According to the needs of the occasion speakers could identify the Athenian people either as a unified demos or as a collection of sub groups and they could exploit either differences or similarities between Athenians and other Greeks and between Greeks and barbarians Names and naming strategies were an essential tool in the de construction of individuals identities while the Athenians civic identity could be constructed in terms of honour s ethnicity socio economic status or religion Within the forensic setting the physical location and procedural conventions of an Athenian trial could shape the identities of its participants in a unique if transient way The Making of Identities in Athenian Oratory is an insightful look at this understudied aspect of Athenian oratory and will be of interest to anyone working on the speeches themselves identity in ancient Greece or ancient oratory and rhetoric more broadly Roman Rhetoric Richard Leo Enos,2008-10-17 Greek and Roman traditions dominate classical rhetoric Conventional historical accounts characterize Roman rhetoric as an appropriation and modification of Greek rhetoric particularly the rhetoric that flourished in fifth and fourth centuries BCE Athens However the origins nature and endurance of this Greco Roman relationship have not been thoroughly explained Roman Rhetoric Revolution and the Greek Influence reveals that while Romans did benefit from Athenian rhetoric their own rhetoric was also influenced by later Greek and non Hellenic cultures particularly the Etruscan civilization that held hegemony over all of Italy for hundreds of years before Rome came to power
