The Christian Response:

The Christian Response Michel Quoist, 1965 This book was written in response to a strictly modern need It is an attempt to renew and reaffirm endangered spiritual values It is an outline of nothing less than a Christian attitude and the full Christian life But The Christian Response is not merely a manual a listing of virtuous advice By the author's own admission it is not to be taken as a complete guide to anything Instead it is intended as a series of practical contemporary meditations Perhaps the most refreshing thing about Father Quoist's book as readers of his Prayers of life will know is his acknowledgement of the importance of man's life in the world His Christian is a human being flesh and blood living in working in enjoying the world Men must suffer and struggle for a just world through political and social involvement This book constantly underlines man's essential unity each and all of his aspects must be satisfied in proper order He must live fully totally in the world and in Christ Publisher

The Christian Response to Hunger in America Barbara Muse M.Div., 2019-08-16 In this country alone there are over 22 million children receiving free or reduced meals during the school year During the summer months those same children can scarcely find a free nutritious meal Using Lamentations 2:19 as a guide Christians are to respond to the hunger that they see on the streets of America and eventually throughout the world The assignment begins at home by making sure that no child goes hungry in America I present this book to stir to move and to compel Christians to action in regards to ending hunger in the name of Jesus Christ I lay out compelling reasons biblically historically and theologically why Christians should respond to the call to feed hungry children I pray that this book liberates Christians to take action for the children in our neighborhoods in our state in our country and in the world who need food

The Myth Of The Undeserving Poor - A Christian Response to Poverty in Britain Today Martin Charlesworth, Natalie Williams, 2014-09-30 When you think of poverty in Britain today do you picture innocent children going without food or scroungers lounging on the sofa all day watching TV and cheating on benefits claims For Christians what we think about the poor in our nation needs to be shaped by biblical values but can so often be framed by the dominant narratives of the day which affect our attitudes and actions Have we fallen for the myth of the undeserving poor

Twentieth Century Christian Responses to Religious Pluralism David Pitman, 2016-02-17 Twentieth Century Christian Responses to Religious Pluralism begins with the recognition that the traditional three fold typology adopted by Christians in responding to other living world religions is no longer adequate and offers a much more sophisticated and developed approach This is accomplished with particular reference to ten key Twentieth Century theologians each of whom had significant influence in the field of inter religious studies both during their lifetime and beyond The author rejects the exclusivism and triumphalism of traditional Christian approaches and argues strongly and persuasively that the future for inter religious relationships lies in what he describes as classical pluralism and in an understanding of the importance of difference for inter faith dialogue Presenting an accessible introduction to the contemporary issues and challenges facing all those engaged in the further development of inter faith relationships dialogue and partnership between the world religions Pitman argues that the future of world peace and prosperity depends on the outcome

Christian responses to Islam Anthony O'Mahony, Emma Loosley, 2024-06-04 In the aftermath of 9 11 there has been much talk of a need to engage on a meaningful level with Islam but where do we begin and what is the right approach This book available in paperback for the first time looks at case studies from around the world in order to explore how Christian groups sometimes as minorities and sometimes as the majority engage with their Muslim neighbours in the search for a peaceful society Some of the initiatives are politically motivated others run by Church authorities and a number are community based but all offer different approaches to a variety of situations that are encountered in Christian Islamic dialogue This is the first time that global strategies for dialogue have been published in one book by a series of leading academics Whilst previous publications have concentrated on a particular geographical area usually the Middle East or Europe this book casts a wider net and considers issues such as the rise of radical Islam in post Soviet states Indonesian immigration in Australia and the spread of Islam amongst the Black South Africans after the fall of apartheid Scholars and all those interested in politics current affairs religion or peace studies will find this book essential reading as a guidebook to the state of contemporary Christian Islamic relations

Evangelical Christian Responses to Islam Richard McCallum, 2024-02-08 Do Christians and Muslims worship the same God Who was Muhammad How does the Israeli Palestinian conflict affect Christian Muslim relations This is a book about Evangelical Christians and how they are answering challenging questions about Islam Drawing on over 300 texts published by Evangelicals in the first two decades of the twenty first century this book explores what the Evangelical micro public sphere has to say about key issues in Christian Muslim relations today From the books they write the blogs they post and the videos they make it is clear that Evangelical Christians profoundly disagree with one another when discussing Islam Answers to the questions range from seeing Muslims as the enemy posing an existential threat to Christians through to welcoming them as good neighbours or even as close cousins Contemporary Muslim and Christian Responses to Religious Plurality Lewis E Winkler, 2012-04-26 In our rapidly changing and progressively globalized world Christians and Muslims are faced with the prospect of directly encountering and responding to people of other faiths and cultures This has pushed us all to address the vital question of how best to live with work beside and love one another as fellow citizens of our planet Using resources from Christian theologian Wolfhart Pannenberg Muslim ethicist Abdulaziz Sachedina and several others Winkler argues that we must continually dialogue with one another not only about the beliefs and practices held in common between us but also about the ways in which we are distinctively different Only then can we take the opportunity more comprehensively to understand appreciate and cooperate with each other to build just moral and cohesive communities of hope in our often uncertain and unsettling times
