Birds, Beasts and Burials: A study of the human-animal relationship in Romano-British St. Albans Brittany Elayne Hill, 2017-04-30 Birds Beasts and Burials examines human animal relationships as found in the mortuary record within the area of Verulamium that is now situated in the modern town of St Albans Romano-British Settlement and Cemeteries at Mucking Sam Lucy, Christopher Evans, 2016-11-30 Excavations at Mucking Essex between 1965 and 1978 revealed extensive evidence for a multiphase rural Romano British settlement perhaps an estate center and five associated cemetery areas 170 burials with different burial areas reserved for different groups within the settlement The settlement demonstrated clear continuity from the preceding Iron Age occupation with unbroken sequences of artefacts and enclosures through the first century AD followed by rapid and extensive remodeling which included the laying out a Central Enclosure and an organized water supply with wells accompanied by the start of large scale pottery production After the mid second century AD the Central Enclosure was largely abandoned and settlement shifted its focus more to the Southern Enclosure system with a gradual decline though the 3rd and 4th centuries although continued burial pottery and artefactual deposition indicate that a form of settlement continued possibly with some low level pottery production Some of the latest Roman pottery was strongly associated with the earliest Anglo Saxon style pottery suggesting the existence of a terminal Roman settlement phase that essentially involved an Anglo Saxon community Given recent revisions of the chronology for the early Anglo Saxon period this casts an intriguing light on the transition with radical implications for understandings of this period Each of the cemetery areas was in use for a considerable length of time Taken as a whole Mucking was very much a component place complex it was its respective parts that fostered its many cemeteries whose diverse rites reflect the variability and roles of the settlement s evidently varied inhabitants A Biography of Power: Research and Excavations at the Iron Age 'oppidum' of Bagendon, Gloucestershire (1979-2017) Tom Moore, 2020-07-30 This book explores the changing nature of power and identity from the Iron Age to the Roman period in Britain It provides fresh insights into the origins and nature of one of the lesser known but perhaps most significant Late Iron Age oppida in Britain Bagendon in Gloucestershire Making a Mint: Comparative Studies in Late Iron Age Coin Mould Mark Landon, 2016-08-15 This book presents the first large scale comparative study of Iron Age coin mould Iron Age minting techniques reveal a great deal about Iron Age political organisation and economy that has until now remained largely unreported Prehistoric Britain Timothy Darvill, 2010-07-02 Prehistoric Britain now in its second edition examines the development of human societies in Britain from earliest times to the Roman conquest of AD 43 as revealed by archaeological evidence Special attention is given to six themes which are traced through prehistory subsistence technology ritual trade society and population The Romano-British Roadside Settlement at Wilcote, Oxfordshire Anthony R. Hands, Arthur Robinson Hands, 1998 Neither towns nor villas the function of Roman road side settlements has previously been regarded as a mystery Wilcote however has now been thoroughly investigated and Anthony Hands suggests in this publication that it may have functioned as both a watering post for travellers along Akeman Street and as a kind of navvies encampment for road maintenance connected with large quarries reported on in this volume The 1993 1996 finds report contains details of coins pottery and metal objects of quite high value compared with the negligible architecture Do the finds reflect the inhabitants of the settlement or the passing trade With stimulating commentary on some of the theoretical issues generated by this long running excavation as well as fine illustration of the discoveries this is an excellent excavation report

Gloucestershire Archaeological Society Bristol and Gloucestershire Archaeological Society,1992 Transactions South Staffordshire Archaeological and Historical Society,1989 Health & Disease in Britain Charlotte A. Roberts,Margaret Cox,2003 With the aid of primary and secondary sources the authors present a multi disciplinary appraisal of the health of the British from Palaeolithic times to the twentieth century Archaeological finds skeletal remains art ancient medical texts contemporary comment and personal papers all contribute to the findings examined book jacket The Temple of Sulis Minerva at Bath Barry W. Cunliffe,Peter Davenport,1985 Iron Age Fen-edge Settlement at Black Horse Farm, Sawtry, Cambridgeshire Andrew A. S. Newton,2018 Black Horse Farm is situated on the Cambridgeshire fen edge During the Iron Age and early Romano British period it occupied a low promontory reaching out into the surrounding wetland This volume describes the archaeological excavation of the site and the Iron Age settlement and Romano British activity that was recorded there The wetland of the fen would have been a prominent part of everyday life at Black Horse Farm and the book examines the way in which the site s inhabitants utilised and exploited it Fluctuations between dry and damp conditions were also a prominent aspect of life at this marginal location and the later sections examine how the population responded to these conditions The book examines themes including the organisation of space within the roundhouse the role of ditches and banks as flood defences versus their social and defensive function and offers alternative interpretations for some commonly observed features at contemporary sites With contributions by Beta Analytic Inc Jane Cowgill Nina Crummy Julia E Cussans

 Davies and Caroline George Antiquity Osbert Guy Stanhope Crawford,1982 Includes section Reviews Lives in Land - Mucking excavations Christopher Evans,Grahame Appleby,Sam Lucy,2015-12-31 The excavations led by Margaret and Tom Jones on the Thames gravel terraces at Mucking Essex undertaken between 1965 and 1978 are legendary The largest area excavation ever undertaken in the British Isles involving around 5000 participants recorded around 44 000 archaeological features dating from the Beaker to Anglo Saxon periods and recovered something in the region of 1 7 million finds of Mesolithic to post medieval date While various publications have emerged over the intervening years the death of both directors insufficient funding many organizational complications and the sheer volume of material evidence have severely delayed full publication of this extraordinary palimpsest landscape Lives in Land is the first of two major volumes which bring together all the evidence from Mucking presenting both the detail of many important structures and assemblages and a comprehensive synthesis of landscape development through the ages settlement histories changing land use death and burial industry and craft activities The long time gap since completion of the excavations has allowed the authors the unprecedented opportunity to stand back from the density of site data and place the vast sum of Mucking evidence in the wider context of the archaeology of southern England throughout the major periods of occupation and activity Lives in Land begins with a thorough evaluation of the methods philosophy and archival status of the Mucking project against the organizational and funding background of its time and discusses its fascinating and complex history through a period of fundamental change in archaeological practice legislation finance research priorities and theoretical paradigms in British Archaeology Subsequent chapters deal with the prehistoric landscape each focusing on the major themes that emerge by major period from analysis and synthesis of the data The authors draw on archival material including site notebooks and personal accounts from key participants to provide a detailed but lively account of this iconic landscape investigation
