Identity, Social Class and Learning in the 'Bottom' Reading Group Jess Anderson, 2025-02-28 The common practice of ability grouped reading in UK schools often termed guided reading influences children's sense of identity feelings and progress as readers Drawing on a rich ethnographic study of three primary classrooms this book reopens a critical inquiry into ability grouped reading that has been quiet since the 1990s when guided reading in literacy education became established practice in the UK and the US Through the lens of children's agency in accommodating resisting and at times transforming such reading pedagogy the book shows how readers are shaped by ability grouped reading and by the more egalitarian reading pedagogies introduced in the study Children's individual and collective experiences are brought to life through extended narratives that attend as closely to gesture posture visage silences and prosody of speech as to spoken words The book ends with a provocation how literacy pedagogy might change if reflexive noticing and dismantling of hierarchies become the compass of pedagogical change This demands attention to structural inequalities around race gender and class and a turn towards deep listening to children As well as being a valuable read for scholars of the sociology of childhood and education it should appeal to anyone concerned with making education more equitable including teachers school leaders parents carers and policymakers

Understanding Cultural Diversity in the Early Years Peter Baldock, 2010-03-18 Taking the discussion about cultural diversity beyond the usual topics of anti racism and inclusion but without overlooking these issues this book considers current debates around the alleged failure of multiculturalism and encourages practitioners to utilise their own cultural backgrounds and experiences as a way of developing their teaching With an optimistic outlook and focusing on the advantages for learning that cultural diversity can offer the book discusses the concepts of culture multi culturalism and inter cultural competence and describes the principles that underpin good practice It is packed full of case studies from a variety of early years settings with ideas to try out and interactive exercises to aid reflection Issues covered in the book include addressing cultural diversity in staff meetings and on short training courses planning a critical audit of your setting working with parents from a variety of cultural backgrounds how to explain diversity to young children the overwhelmingly white British setting settings where white British children are in the minority curriculum developments in different parts of the UK post devolution Written for all early childhood students and early years practitioners it is relevant to anyone interested in inclusion society and global citizenship Peter Baldock has worked extensively in early years education as a teacher in community development in registration and inspection of early years services and as an Associate Lecturer with the Open University His publications include three books on early years services and he is actively involved in Sheffield's 0 19 Partnership on behalf of the voluntary sector
