Doctrine and Speculation in Schleiermacher's Glaubenslehre Thomas H. Curran, 2013-03-01 No detailed description available for Doctrine and Speculation in Schleiermacher's Glaubenslehre The Myth of the Closed Mind Ray Scott Percival, 2011-12-15 It's like talking to a brick wall and We'll have to agree to disagree are popular sayings referring to the frustrating experience of discussing issues with people who seem to be beyond the reach of argument It's often claimed that some people fundamentalists or fanatics are indeed sealed off from rational criticism And every month new pop psychology books appear describing the dumb ways ordinary people make decisions as revealed by psychological experiments The conclusion is that all or most people are fundamentally irrational Ray Scott Percival sets out to demolish the whole notion of the closed mind and of human irrationality There is a difference between making mistakes and being irrational Though humans are prone to mistakes they remain rational In fact making mistakes is a sign of rationality a totally non rational entity could not make a mistake Rationality does not mean absence of error it means the possibility of correcting error in the light of criticism In this sense all human beliefs are rational they are all vulnerable to being abandoned when shown to be faulty Percival agrees that people cling stubbornly to their beliefs but he maintains that not being too ready to abandon one's beliefs is rational Theology for a Scientific Age Arthur Robert Peacocke, 1993 This second expanded edition of Arthur Peacocke's seminal work now includes the author's Gifford Lectures as well as a new part three in which he deals roundly with the central corpus of Christian belief for a scientific age Distinctively theological commitments are being rethought in light of scientific apprehensions of nature Ted Peters Zygon A Bishop's Ministry David Tustin, 2013-09 Few books on episcopacy deal with the inner life or practical problems of being a bishop but this volume gives an inside view It describes the initial challenge of adjusting to a new role with little preparation and indicates the main ongoing pressures This account combines personal experience with theological reflection Convinced that being comes before doing David Tustin first considers vital elements in the bishop's personal way of life inner life outer lifestyle home and hospitality and careful use of time The rationale of what bishops actually do is then examined in seven key areas together with suggestions about translating ideals into reality teamwork caring for people within and beyond the church conducting worship spreading the Christian message sending new ministers building bridges in society and within the church fostering visible Christian unity Emphasis is laid on bishops sharing their ministry with others and reaching out beyond the church This book offers examples of good practice It draws together resources useful for new bishops including excerpts from classic writers Gregory the Great and Bernard of Clairvaux and pointers to an ecumenical range of contemporary material unlikely to be in the hands of most readers It is relevant to all who share in senior church leadership A bibliography and index are included The closing section argues that bishops no less than other ministers need good initial training periodic review and continuing professional development It also looks at how bishops can adjust to active retirement The Nature of Christian Belief
