Sleepless Moon:

The Sleepless Moon Herbert Ernest Bates, 2005 The Sleepless Moon H.E. Bates, 1957 H.E. Bates Dean R. Baldwin, 1987

Reevaluates the accomplishments of the British writer within the context of major literary movements and cross currents. It considers all areas of his work including his stories of country life, war stories and novels, his best work Love for Lydia and his highly acclaimed nonfiction on environmental issues.

Zainab Mohammed Hussein Haikal, 2016-10-02

Zainab, a name which aptly reflects the beauty of this tale's protagonist, is also the title of the first modern Egyptian novel written in native vernacular. Crafted in 1910 by a privileged member of society and a student at the time living in Paris, Mohammed Hussein Haikal later rose through the ranks of Egyptian politics and media. The writer, journalist, and politician also holds a number of written works to his name, including The House of Revelation (1939) and Thus Was I Created (1955). Haikal successfully humanises and contextualises Egypt's societal issues without too reproachful a voice. As the great poet Ahmed Fouad Negm said, it is better to wake your child up through laughter rather than shouting at him. Haikal expresses his sympathies with the fellah of Egypt who, despite the apparent reverence with which they are looked upon by society, are still obliged to bear extreme difficulties which they do so with great dignity. Their suffering remains unchallenged as they are routinely exploited by their employers, the state, religious leaders, and cheated out of education, which results in the demise of their mental and physical wellbeing. Illnesses may be treated as a metaphysical phenomenon rather than with a trip to the doctor, whilst depression is treated as a headache. Zainab, a hardworking farmer girl, is to be married to a son of the landowner despite her love for another named Ibrahim. Haikal is highly critical of this traditional marriage practice where young men and women are picked off by families and pushed together into marriage to suit the requirements of the parents over the needs of the young couple. This message is clear throughout the book but appears most starkly in an open letter from Haikal to the public, guised as a note written by the character Hamid to his own father. Hamid states: "To this day I consider the institution of marriage defective on account of the conditions that are attached to it. Indeed I believe a marriage which is not based on love and does not progress with love to be contemptible." As Haikal wrote in his room in Paris, he was undoubtedly influenced by his nostalgia, describing scenes in Egypt in a way that only an Egyptian could. He is a man who has succeeded in writing for the woman, and his critiques of society are logical and empathetic. Few are painted as evil in Zainab, but the writer warns that, as with most of society's ills, our failures are the consequence of apathy, silence, and the desire to fulfil what is expected of us through convention, culture, and our own ignorance.

The Grotonian, 1912 Modernity and the English Rural Novel Dominic Head, 2017-04-07

This book examines the persistence of the rural tradition in the English novel into the twentieth century. In the shadow of metropolitan literary culture, rural writing can seem to strive for a fantasy version of England with no compelling social or historical relevance. Dominic Head argues that the apparent disconnection is in itself a response to modernity rather than a refusal to engage with it, and that the important writers in this tradition have had a significant bearing on the trajectory of English cultural life through the twentieth century At the heart of the discussion is the English rural regional novel of the 1920s and 1930s which reveals significant points of overlap with mainstream literary culture and the legacies of modernism Rural writers refashioned the conventions of the tradition and the effects of literary nostalgia to produce the swansong of a fading genre with resonances that are still relevant today The Legacies of Modernism David James,2011-10-20 An engagement with the continued importance of modernism is vital for building a nuanced account of the development of the novel after 1945 Bringing together internationally distinguished scholars of twentieth and twenty first century literature these essays reveal how the most innovative writers working today draw on the legacies of modernist literature Dynamics of influence and adaptation are traced in dialogues between authors from across the twentieth century Lawrence and A S Byatt Woolf and J M Coetzee Forster and Zadie Smith The book sets out new critical and disciplinary foundations for rethinking the very terms we use to map the novel s progression and renewal enhancing our understanding not only of what modernism was but also what it might still become With its global reach The Legacies of Modernism will appeal to scholars working not only in the new modernist studies but also in postcolonial studies and comparative literature Mahabharata Udyoga Parva Part 1 in English Kausiki Books,2022-01-29 One Nation Under Seige William P.
