Henrichs-Tarassenkova, 2015-11-19 Henrichs Tarassenkova argues against a long tradition of scholars about how best to represent Luke's Christology When read against the backdrop of ancient ways of constructing personal identity key texts in the Lukan narrative demonstrate that Luke indirectly characterizes Jesus as the one God of Israel together with YHWH Henrichs Tarassenkova employs a narrative approach that takes into consideration recent studies of narrative and history and enables her to construct characters of YHWH and Jesus within the Lukan narrative She employs Richard Bauckham's concept of divine identity that she evaluates against her study of how one might speak of personal identity in the Greco Roman world She engages in close reading of key texts to demonstrate how Luke speaks of YHWH as God in order to demonstrate that Luke Acts upholds a traditional Jewish view that only the God of Israel is the one living God and to eliminate false expectations for how Luke should speak of Jesus as God This analysis establishes how Luke binds Jesus identity to the divine identity of YHWH and concludes that the Lukan narrative in fact does portray Jesus as God when it shows that Jesus shares YHWH's divine identity      Biopolitical Screens Pasi Valiaho, 2023-08-15 An investigation of the aesthetics and politics of new visual media under twenty first century capitalism from console games to virtual reality to video installation art In perception and theoretical ideas After laying out the conceptual foundations of the book V liaho offers focused and detailed investigations of the current visual economy He considers the imagery of first person shooter video games as tools of neuropower explores the design and construction of virtual reality technologies to treat post traumatic stress disorder in veterans of Iraq and Afghanistan and examines three instances of video installation art that have the power to disrupt the dominant regime of sensibility rather than reinforce it

Illness and Literature in the Low Countries Jaap Grave, Rick Honings, Bettina Noak, 2015-12-09. From as early as classical antiquity, there has been an interplay between literature and medicine. The first book of Homer's Iliad recounts the plague that swept the camp of the Achaeans. While this instance concerns a full-length book, it is the aphorism that is of greater importance as a literary technique for the dissemination of medical knowledge from the Corpus Hippocraticum of antiquity until the Aphorismi de cognoscendis et curandis morbis 1715 by Herman Boerhaave. In addition, the subject of illness and its impact on mankind was explored by great numbers of poetic scholars and scholarly poets. This collection offers fourteen articles which all highlight the relation between disease and literature. It entails a first-ever overview of Dutch language research in this field whereby the literary and cultural functions of medical knowledge and the poetics of medical and literary writing are in the focus.

The Heart of Judgment Leslie Paul Thiele, 2006-09-04. The Heart of Judgment explores the nature, historical significance, and continuing relevance of practical wisdom. Primarily a work in moral and political thought, it also relies extensively on research in cognitive neuroscience to confirm and extend our understanding of the faculty of judgment. Ever since the ancient Greeks first discussed practical wisdom, the faculty of judgment has been an important topic for philosophers and political theorists. It remains one of the virtues most demanded of our public officials. The greater the liberties and responsibilities accorded to citizens in democratic regimes, the more the health and welfare of society rest upon their exercise of good judgment. While giving full credit to the roles played by reason and deliberation in good judgment, the book underlines the central importance of intuition, emotion, and worldly experience.
