

A dramatic sunset over a body of water. The sun is low on the horizon, creating a bright, golden glow that reflects on the water's surface. The sky is filled with dark, heavy clouds, some of which are illuminated by the sun's light. In the foreground, a small, dark splash of water is visible in the center of the frame. To the right, a small sailboat with a single white sail is visible on the water. The background shows a dark silhouette of a shoreline with trees and buildings.
