Wallace, 2003 Biochar for Environmental Management Johannes Lehmann, Stephen Joseph, 2012-05-16 Biochar is the carbon rich product when biomass such as wood manure or crop residues is heated in a closed container with little or no available air It can be used to improve agriculture and the environment in several ways and its stability in soil and superior nutrient retention properties make it an ideal soil amendment to increase crop yields In addition to this biochar sequestration in combination with sustainable biomass production can be carbon negative and therefore used to actively remove carbon dioxide from the atmosphere with major implications for mitigation of climate change Biochar production can also be combined with bioenergy production through the use of the gases that are given off in the pyrolysis process This book is the first to synthesize the expanding research literature on this topic The book's interdisciplinary approach which covers engineering environmental sciences agricultural sciences economics and policy is a vital tool at this stage of biochar technology development This comprehensive overview of current knowledge will be of interest to advanced students researchers and professionals in a wide range of disciplines Sustainable Management of Nematodes in Agriculture, Vol.1: Organic Management Kamal Kishore Chaudhary, Mukesh Kumar Meghvansi, 2022-09-12 The present work covers many aspects of plant nematode management using organic strategies These range from applications of latest understandings of fundamental concepts mechanisms of nematode control to modern tools and techniques used in efficacy evaluation The Volume also includes some case studies applied aspects of organic nematode pest management Chemical and physical control measures used for nematode management have their own implications Against this backdrop organic management of plant nematodes appears as a more rational and sustainable approach However concise information on the current topic is scarce This book is a sincere effort to bridge this void as we aim to provide the most updated critical and in depth knowledge synthesized by many experts working in the field of plant nematology worldwide Downsizing Technology for rural Development, Vol. 1 ,2003 Biodegradation of Nitroaromatic Compounds and Explosives Jim C. Spain,Joseph B. Hughes,Hans-Joachim Knackmuss,2000-06-14 Filled with practical applications and research Biodegradation of Nitroaromatic Compounds and Explosives presents an international perspective on environmental contamination from explosives It covers biodegradation strategies for DNT and a wide variety of other nitroaromatic compounds of environmental significance and makes the information access Green Technologies for Industrial Contaminants Riti Thapar Kapoor,Rachana Singh,2025-02-19 Green Technologies for Industrial Contaminants is essential for understanding innovative eco friendly solutions to combat the pressing challenges of pollution and water scarcity faced by our planet Increasing population environmental pollution rampant industrialization and scarcity of water are all major global threats Significant amounts of pollutants are released from various industries such as textile paper leather rubber plastic cosmetics food pharmaceuticals and petroleum industries A lack of proper treatment facilities has proliferated the discharge of effluents enriched with toxic pollutants such as dyes heavy metals organic compounds and other hazardous chemicals in the environment Water is a natural treasure and availability of safe and clean water is essential for human health ecosystems and sustainable development The continuous decline of the groundwater table and deterioration of water quality are matters of serious concern The presence of color in water poses a serious threat to the environment affecting light penetration and reducing photosynthesis and dissolved oxygen Most dyes and heavy metals are toxic in nature which may cause skin irritation allergies respiratory disease mental disorders tumors and cancer Different physical and chemical methods are available for the treatment of industrial effluents but due to their high cost low efficiency and sludge generation these methods are not feasible at large scale The synergistic approaches of biochar and microbes have an edge over other techniques including being eco friendly cost competitive and efficient achieving complete mineralization and showing low waste production Therefore the combined application of biochar and microbes for pollutant degradation can be a viable option as it is a low cost and sustainable effluent treatment system for industries Green Technologies for Industrial Contaminants provides useful information and applications of microbes bacteria algae fungi and biochar for the removal of contaminants from industrial effluent and reutilization of waste sludge in the production of biofuel and bioenergy
