Sagebrush Soldier Sherry L. Smith, 2001-05-14 Sagebrush Soldier is an account of military life during the Indian Wars in the late nineteenth century West Private William Earl Smith describes daily camp life battle scenes and the behavior of famous men Ranald Mackenzie and George Crook in public and private poses His diary covers the war from the enlisted men's viewpoint as he worries about what he will eat and how he will keep warm in freezing conditions and how he will keep calm when bullied by the sergeant major of whom he says he would give five years of my life to have walked up to him and smacked him in the nose To complete the picture of the Sioux War and particularly the Powder River Expedition Sherry Smith frames Private Smith's narrative with contemporary accounts written by other participants in these events She assembles a balanced comprehensive history by also incorporating the testimony of officers their Indian scouts and allies and their enemy the Northern Cheyennes In camp on Christmas Eve 1876 Smith bought a can of peaches which cost him two dollars to share with his bunkmate Meanwhile he sees another man give ten dollars for a bottle of whiskey His own words best convey the feelings of a young man far from home at Christmas We had a regular Old Christmas Dinner a little piece of fat bacon and hard tack and a half cup of coffee You bet I thought of home now if ever I did But fate was a game me and I could not be there My Bunkey bought some candy and we ate it Christmas candy and thoughts of home some things never change as readers will learn in this picture of military life unique in its eloquent honesty      Shell Shock and the Modernist Imagination Wyatt Bonikowski, 2016-04-01 Looking closely at both case histories of shell shock and Modernist novels by Ford Madox Ford Rebecca West and Virginia Woolf Wyatt Bonikowski shows how the figure of the shell shocked soldier and the symptoms of war trauma were transformed by the literary imagination Situating his study with respect to Freud's concept of the death drive Bonikowski reads the repetitive symptoms of shell shocked soldiers as a resistance to representation and narrative In making this resistance part of their narratives Ford West and Woolf broaden our understanding of the traumatic effects of war exploring the possibility of a connection between the trauma of war and the trauma of sexuality Parade's End The Return of the Soldier and Mrs Dalloway are all structured around the relationship between the soldier who returns from war and the women who receive him but these novels offer no prospect for the healing effects of the union between men and women Instead the novels underscore the divisions within the home and the self drawing on the traumatic effects of shell shock to explore the link between the public events of history and the intimate traumas of the relations between self and other
