The Law and the Song Ehsan Ahmed,1997      Sounding Objects Carla Zecher,2007-12-15 Often abstracted by the aesthetic implications of music itself musical instruments can be seen as physical signifiers apart from the music that they produce In Sounding Objects Carla Zecher studies the representation of musical instruments in French Renaissance poetry and art arguing that the efficacy of these material objects as literary and pictorial images was derived from their physical characteristics and acoustic properties as well as from their aesthetic product Sounding Objects is concerned with ways in which musical culture provided poets with a rich nuanced vocabulary for reflecting on their own art and its roles in courtly life the civic arena and salon society Poets not only depicted the world of musical practice but also appropriated it using musical instruments figuratively to establish their literary identities Drawing on music treatises and archival sources as well as poems paintings and engravings this unique study aims to enrich our understanding of the interplay of poetry music and art in this period and highlights the importance of musical materiality to Renaissance culture Electronic Format Disclaimer Images removed at the request of the rights holder      Esprit généreux, esprit pantagruélicque François Rigolot,2008 These fifteen essays by former doctoral students now distinguished seiziemistes of Francois Rigolot Meredith Howland Pyne Professor of French Literature at Princeton University represent a tribute to his qualities as professor scholar and person who embodies both a Montaignian esprit genereux and a Rabelaisian pantagruelisme They pay homage to his renowned erudition and publications on all aspects of French Renaissance literature his pedagogical skills his support of students and colleagues his leadership at Princeton University and his inspirational personality The balanced mixture of creative imagination rigorous explication de texte and delightful personal rhetoric that characterizes Professor Rigolot s scholarly works still forms a source of inspiration for his students as is clear in this volume Regrouping the major fields of interest in which the minds of magister and discipuli produced the most fruitful dialogues poetry the Renaissance au feminin Rabelais and Montaigne spanning a wide variety of authors Petrarch Sceve Ronsard Cretin Marguerite de Navarre Louise Labe Rabelais Montaigne La Boetie and Pascal these studies for a tribute to the extraordinary breadth of Professor Rigolot s research interests      The Practice of Reform in Health, Medicine, and Science, 1500-2000 Scott Mandelbrote,2017-07-05 Histories of medicine and science are histories of political and social change as well as accounts of the transformation of particular disciplines over time Taking their inspiration from the work of Charles Webster the essays in this volume consider the effect that demands for social and political reform have had on the theory and above all the practice of medicine and science and on the promotion of human health from the Renaissance and Enlightenment up to the present The eighteen essays by an international group of scholars provide case studies covering a wide range of locations and contexts of the successes and failures of reform and reformers in challenging the status quo They discuss the impact of religious and secular ideologies on ideas about the nature and organization of health medicine and science as well as the effects of social and political institutions including the professions themselves in shaping the possibilities for reform and renewal The Practice of Reform in Health Medicine and Science 1500 2000 also addresses the afterlife of reforming concepts and describes local and regional differences in the practice and perception of reform culminating in the politics of welfare in the twentieth century The authors build up a composite picture of the interaction of politics and health medicine and science in western Europe over time that can pose questions for the future of policy as well as explaining some of the successes and failures of the past

Literature and Nation in the Sixteenth Century Timothy Hampton, 2018-10-18 Assessing the relationship between the emergence of modern French literary culture and the ideological debates that marked Renaissance France Timothy Hampton explores the role of literary form in shaping national identity The foundational texts of modern French literature were produced during a period of unprecedented struggle over the meaning of community In the face of religious heresy political threats from abroad and new forms of cultural diversity Renaissance French culture confronted in new and urgent ways the question of what it means to be French Hampton shows how conflicts between different concepts of community were mediated symbolically through the genesis of new literary forms Hampton's analysis of works by Rabelais Montaigne Du Bellay and Marguerite de Navarre as well as writings by lesser known poets pamphleteers and political philosophers shows that the vulnerability of France and the instability of French identity were pervasive cultural themes during this period Contemporary scholarship on nation building in early modern Europe has emphasized the importance of centralized power and the rise of absolute monarchy Hampton offers a counterargument demonstrating that both community and national identity in Renaissance France were defined through a dialogic relationship to that which was not French to the foreigner the stranger the intruder from abroad He provides both a methodological challenge to traditional cultural history and a new consideration of the role of literature in the definition of the nation
