The Lawsons Fork Headwaters To Confluence:

The Lawson's Fork David Taylor, Gary Henderson, 2000-04 In this deeply personal journey author David Taylor takes an illustrated voyage down the Lawson s Fork an urban stream that crosses the city of Spartanburg South Carolina Circling Home John Lane, 2011-08-15 After many years of limited commitments to people or places writer and naturalist John Lane married in his late forties and settled down in his hometown of Spartanburg in the South Carolina piedmont He his wife and two stepsons built a sustainable home in the woods near Lawson s Fork Creek Soon after settling in Lane pinpointed his location on a topographical map Centering an old chipped saucer over his home he traced a circle one mile in radius and set out to explore the area What follows from that simple act is a chronicle of Lane s deepening knowledge of the place where he ll likely finish out his life An accomplished hiker and paddler Lane discovers within a mile of his home a variety of coexistent landscapes ancient and modern natural and manmade There is of course the creek with its granite shoals floodplain and surrounding woods The circle also encompasses an eight thousand year old cache of Native American artifacts graves of a dozen British soldiers killed in 1780 an eighteenth century ironworks site remnants of two cotton plantations a hundred year old country club a sewer plant and a smattering of mid to late twentieth century subdivisions Lane s explorations intensify his bonds to family friends and colleagues as they sharpen his sense of place By looking more deeply at what lies close to home both the ordinary and the remarkable Lane shows us how whole new worlds can open up The Bioregional Imagination Tom Lynch, Cheryll Glotfelty, Karla Armbruster, 2012 Bioregionalism is an innovative way of thinking about place and planet from an ecological perspective Although bioregional ideas occur regularly in ecocritical writing until now no systematic effort has been made to outline the principles of bioregional literary criticism and to use it as a way to read write understand and teach literature The twenty four original essays here are written by an outstanding selection of international scholars The range of bioregions covered is global and includes such diverse places as British Columbia s Meldrum Creek and Italy s Po River Valley the Arctic and the Outback There are even forays into cyberspace and outer space In their comprehensive introduction the editors map the terrain of the bioregional movement including its history and potential to inspire and invigorate place based and environmental literary criticism Responding to bioregional tenets this volume is divided into four sections The essays in the Reinhabiting section narrate experiments in living in place and restoring damaged environments The Rereading essays practice bioregional literary criticism both by examining texts with strong ties to bioregional paradigms and by opening other less obvious texts to bioregional analysis In Reimagining the essays push bioregionalism to evolve by expanding its corpus of texts coupling its perspectives with other approaches or challenging its core constructs Essays in the Renewal section address bioregional pedagogy beginning with local habitat studies and concluding with musings about the Internet In response to the environmental crisis we must reimagine our relationship to the places we inhabit This volume shows how literature and literary studies are fundamental tools to such a reimagining Elemental South Dorinda G. Dallmeyer, 2004 Includes a gathering of poetry essays and fiction by the region's best nature writers such as Rick Bass and Janisse Ray. Some featured writers are originally from the South and others migrated there but all have honed their voices on the region's distinctive landscapes. Simultaneous Teaching About Place Laird Christensen, Hal Crimmel-Eds, 2008-02-28 The sixteen essays in this anthology describe the practice of teaching about place with the goal of inspiring educators as well as other readers to discover the value of close investigation of their own places. The contributors discuss places from the desert river canyons of the American West to the bayous of Texas to wildlife refuges on the Atlantic Coast to New England's forests and river and back to the wildland urban interface in suburban Southern California. These essays reveal broader lessons about the possibilities and limitations that come with teaching about place and inhabiting our own places outside the classroom. Contributors include Ann Zwinger, Bradley John Monsma, Sue Ellen Campbell, Terrell Dixon, and John Elder.

Reading Shaver's Creek Ian Marshall, 2018-02-16 What does it mean to know a place? What might we learn about the world by returning to the same place year after year? What would a long-term record of such visits tell us about change and permanence and our place in the natural world? This collection explores these and related questions through a series of reflective essays and poems on Pennsylvania's Shaver's Creek landscape from the past decade. Collected as part of The Ecological Reflections Project, a century-long effort to observe and document changes to the natural world in the central Pennsylvanian portion of the Appalachian Forest, these pieces show how knowledge of a place comes from the information and perceptions we gather from different perspectives over time. They include Marcia Bonta's keen observations about how humans knowingly and unknowingly affect the landscape, Scott Weidensaul's view of the forest as a battlefield, and Katie Fallon describing the sounds of human and nonhuman life along a trail. Together, these selections create a place-based portrait of a vivid ecosystem during the first decade of the twenty-first century. Featuring contributions by nationally known nature writers and local experts, Reading Shaver's Creek is a unique, complex depiction of the central Pennsylvania landscape and its ecology. We know the land and creatures of places such as Shaver's Creek are bound to change throughout the century. This book is the first step to documenting how. In addition to the editor, contributors to this volume are Marcia Bonta, Michael P. Branch, Todd Davis, Katie Fallon, David Gessner, Hannah Inglesby, John Lane, Carolyn Mahan, Jacy Marshall, McKelvey Steven, Rubin, David Taylor, Julianne Lutz, Warren, and Scott Weidensaul.

Orion Afield, 2000 Rogue River-Siskiyou National Forest (N.F.), The Biscuit Fire Recovery Project, Josephine and Curry Counties, 2004 Through the Pale Door Brian Ray, 2009 Sarah West takes a temporary job at her father's South Carolina steel mill the summer before college, hoping for relief from the chaos of her psychotic and often institutionalized mother. Soon after moving into her father's home, tragic news about her mother arrives. The haunting funeral coincides with Sarah's first love affair with a fellow mill worker, Edgewood, who shares Sarah's artistic gifts. Confronted with danger and death at the mill, mortality confronts Sarah and Edgewood from every angle, and buried deep in their artwork, Edgewood helps Sarah overcome the loss of her mother. In the end however Sarah will face a greater challenge domesticating her own emerging inner demons while tending to her first lover's uncertainty in himself Come to the Cow Pens! Christine Swager, 2002 Follows the course of an important Revolutionary War battle and profiles Brigadier General Daniel Morgan and other figures using both prose and verse
