The Vanishing American Lawyer Thomas D. Morgan, 2010-02-01 Over 4 000 lawyers lost their positions at major American law firms in 2008 and 2009 In The Vanishing American Lawyer Professor Thomas Morgan discusses the legal profession and the need for both law students and lawyers to adapt to the needs and expectations of clients in the future The world needs people who understand institutions that create laws and how to access those institutions works but lawyers are no longer part of a profession that is uniquely qualified to advise on a broad range of distinctly legal questions Clients will need advisors who are more specialized than many lawyers are today and who have more expertise in non legal issues Many of today s lawyers do not have a special ability to provide such services While American lawyers have been hesitant to change the ways they can improve upon meeting client needs lawyers in other countries notably Great Britain and Australia have been better at adapting Law schools must also recognize the world their students will face and prepare them to operate successfully within it Professor Morgan warns that lawyers must adapt to new client needs and expectations The term professional should be applied to individuals who deserve praise for skilled and selfless efforts but this term may lead to occupational suicide if it becomes a justification for not seeing and adapting to the world ahead

The Law of Loyalty Lionel Smith, 2023 The Law of Loyalty is a study of the principles governing the use of legal powers that are held for other regarding ends It addresses both public law and private law and examines both the common law and the civil law It aims to provide a theory of how Western law regulates the situations in which we hold legal powers not for ourselves but for and on behalf of others It does this by elucidating the justificatory principles that are attracted in those situations These principles include that other regarding powers can only properly be used for the purposes for which they were granted that they should not be used when the holder is in a conflict of self interest and duty or a conflict of duty and duty and that the holder is presumptively accountable for any profits extracted from the other regarding role These principles stand behind the detailed legal rules that govern these relationships in multiple legal systems and in multiple public and private settings In private law this includes the powers of trustees corporate directors agents and mandataries in public law it includes all powers held for public purposes whether they be held by the Prime Minister by a police officer or by a judge
