The Legal Framework For Water Users Associations A Comparative Study:

The Legal Framework for Water Users' Associations Salman M. A. Salman, 1997-01-01 Recent experience confirms that participation of farmers in managing parts of an irrigation system and collecting water charges usually results in a more efficient use of water To be effective farmers in the hydraulic unit would need to organize themselves by establishing a water users association This paper presents a comparative study of the legal framework for these associations in Colombia India Mexico Nepal the Philippines and Turkey Building on the theory that participation of farmers in managing and operating parts of an irrigation system will result in an optimum use of water the document analyzes in a comparative manner how each of these countries addressed the basic aspects related to the establishment and functioning of such associations Additional emphasis is placed on the collection of water charges The Legal Framework for Water Users' Associations World Bank, 1998-07 Recent experience confirms that participation of farmers in managing parts of an irrigation system and collecting water charges usually results in a more efficient use of water To be effective farmers in the hydraulic unit would need to organize themselves by establishing a water users association This paper presents a comparative study of the legal framework for these associations in Colombia India Mexico Nepal the Philippines and Turkey Building on the theory that participation of farmers in managing and operating parts of an irrigation system will result in an optimum use of water the document analyzes in a comparative manner how each of these countries addressed the basic aspects related to the establishment and functioning of such associations Additional emphasis is placed on the collection of water charges Legislation on Water Users' Organizations Stephen Hodgson, Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2003-01-01 A robust regulatory framework for the corporate governance of water users organizations is a fundamental ingredient of irrigation management transfer policies The present publication offers a comparative analysis of the contemporary legislation of a wide variety of countries providing the needed regulatory framework for water users organizations to function and grow Legal Framework for Irrigation Management in Punjab and Sindh Provinces, Pakistan, A handbook for establishing water user associations in pump-based irrigation schemes in Myanmar de Silva, Sanjiv, Schmitter, Petra, Thiha, Nyan, Suhardiman, Diana, 2019 Regulatory Frameworks for Water Resources Management Salman M. A. Salman, Daniel D. Bradlow, 2006-01-01 This title examines how regulatory frameworks have addressed the various basic issues related to water resources management and provides a comparative analysis of those issues It elicits and discusses what it considers are the essential elements for a regulatory framework for water resources management and identifies some emerging trends A Planner's Guide for Selecting Clean-coal Technologies for Power Plants Karin Oskarsson, 1997-01-01 World Bank Discussion Paper No 373 This discussion paper constructs a consistent nationwide poverty profile of Cambodia to support the government's effort to strengthen the design of poverty reduction policies Basic data are given on the level and distribution of living standards as measured by per capita household consumption expenditures The authors use the Socioeconomic Survey of Cambodia SESC of 1993 94 to estimate poverty measures and make poverty comparisons for Cambodia

Competition Policy and MERCOSUR Malcolm Rowat, Michele Lubrano, Rafael Porrata, 1997-01-01 World Bank Technical Paper No 385 MERCOSUR the QUOTECommon Market of the Southern Cone QUOTE was established to liberalize the movement of goods and services eliminate customs duties and coordinate macroeconomic and sectoral policies Competition policy has been the subject of coordination at the MERCOSUR level This paper provides an assessment of the legislative and enforcement effectiveness of the competition framework of the four MERCOSUR countries and gives specific recommendations for reform MERCOSUR formed in 1991 under the Treaty of Asuncion currently consists of Argentina Brazil Paraguay and Uruguay with Chile and Bolivia as associate members

Energy from Biomass Peter Quaak, Harrie Knoef, Hubert E. Stassen, 1999 While energy is essential for development standard fossil fuels are often in short supply in countries where it is needed most However alternative fuel resources abound in the form of agricultural and municipal waste or biomass This report reviews the state of the art of biomass combustion and gasification systems their advantages and disadvantages It also encourages investment in use of these technologies to enable developing countries to better exploit their biomass resources and help close the gap between their energy needs and their energy supply

Urban Air Quality Management Strategy in Asia Jitendra J. Shah, Tanvi Nagpal, 1997 World Bank Technical Paper No 378 In the cities of Nepal's Kathmandu Valley the main contributor of air pollution comes from the transport sector followed by power plants industrial units and burning of garbage Fuel quality and engine conditions significantly influence the level of air pollution In response to this growing problem the Urban Environment Management Committee was launched to assist local institutions in developing action plans that would be an integral part of their air quality management system This report focuses on the development of the air quality management system and concludes with an action plan for air pollution abatement that takes into account the economic costs and benefits of abatement measures for the Kathmandu Valley

Experiences with Integrated-conservation Development Projects in Asia Malcolm Jansen, Susan Shen, 1997-01-01 China is in the throes of two transitions from a command economy to a market based one and from a rural agricultural society to an urban industrial one So far both transitions have been spectacularly successful China is the fastest growing economy in the world with per capita incomes more than quadrupling since 1978 achieving in two generations what took other countries centuries Although swift growth and structural change have resolved many problems they also have created new challenges employment insecurity growing inequality stubborn poverty mounting environmental pressures rising costs of food self sufficiency and periods of macroeconomic instability stemming from incomplete reforms Unmet these challenges could undermine the sustainability of growth and China's promise could fade China 2020 a seven volume set examines China's recent history where it is today and the path it should follow during the first two decades of the 21st century The volume in the set entitled At China's Table Food Security Options focuses on how China will avoid national chronic food insecurity The report evaluates solutions such as food storage and other alternatives for addressing the problems of transitory food insecurity from drought or other seasonal calamity It discusses national food security constraints and the investments required to maintain total factor productivity of 1.0 percent per year The study also models and projects food supply and demand for 2020

Listening to Farmers, 1997-01-01 Agro ecological Groundwater Salman M. A. Salman, 1999-01-01 Water is becoming an increasingly scarce resource for most of the world's citizens The current trends indicate that the overall situation is likely to deteriorate further at least for the next decade unless the water profession eschews business as usual practices which can only allow incremental changes to occur Groundwater is the least understood and least appreciated yet the most important natural resource available to mankind Groundwater represents about 97% of the existing fresh water resources excluding the resources locked in polar ice More than one and a half billion people in the urban parts of the world today depend on groundwater Groundwater supply is more reliable than the seasonal and sometimes erratic surface water and provides the main line of defense against drought Moreover the quality of groundwater is by and large superior to surface water and cheaper to develop However when available data on groundwater is very scanty As a result the World Bank is now paying increasing attention to this valuable resource through both operations and sector work This publication represents the proceeding of the seminar Groundwater Legal and Policy Perspectives that was organized by the Legal Vice Presidency of the World Bank It explains some basic technical aspects of groundwater surveys the regulatory framework for it and discusses the World Bank experience and international law regarding this precious resource It is a timely publication and should also assist in a better understanding and appreciation of this valuable source It will be of interest to Bank staff borrowing country officials international agencies and research organizations working on groundwater

Sharing Transboundary Resources Eyal Benvenisti, 2002-04-04 Why do states often fail to cooperate using transboundary natural resources inefficiently and unsustainably This book first published in 2002 examines the contemporary international norms and policy recommendations that could provide incentives for states to cooperate Its approach is multi disciplinary proposing transnational institutions for the management of transboundary resources Benvenisti takes a fresh approach to the problem considering mismanagement as the link between domestic and international processes As well he explores reasons why some collective efforts to develop the international law on transnational ecosystems have failed while others succeeded This inquiry suggests that adjudicators need to be assertive in progressively developing the law while relying on scientific knowledge more than on past practice Global water policy issues seem set to remain a cause for concern for the foreseeable future this study provides a new approach to the problem of freshwater and will interest international environmentalists and lawyers and international relations scholars and practitioners

Designing Rules for Demand-driven Rural Investment Funds Thomas B. Wiens, Maurizio Guadagni, 1998-01-01 The demand driven rural investment fund DRIF is a new mechanism for decentralizing decisionmaking authority and financial resources to local governments and communities to use for investments of their choice To counteract the local government's weak capacity to choose and implement projects well central governments have often constrained the choices of communities by limiting the types of projects eligible for financing and requiring specific procedures for procurement and disbursement This study explores the extent to which well designed DRIF rules and incentive structures can substitute for central control It looks at the different and often conflicting motivations of donors central governments and communities and explores how rules can be devised to allow actors to achieve their objectives Planning the

Management, Operation, and Maintenance of Irrigation and Drainage Systems, 1998 This paper provides the basis for the preparation of manuals necessary for managers and staffs to perform needed activities at the proper time The guide provides a comprehensive list of issues that should be addressed in operation and maintenance manuals for irrigation and drainage systems and a listing of published materials and working papers which will assist in the formulation of plans for operation and maintenance The paper serves as a valuable tool to help improve the performance of irrigation and drainage systems and to assist managers in developing and improving effective organizations to serve water consumers better

Institutional Reform for Irrigation and Drainage Fernando J. Gonzalez, Salman M. A. Salman, 2002-01-01 If sustainable management of tropical forests is to be accomplished and deforestation brought under control the on the ground performance of existing forest concessions along with the allocation of new concessions will have to be strengthened This study examines the failures of forest concessions and the loss of tropical forests due to mismanagement during the last two decades It also emphasizes the potential gains resulting from strengthening the allocation management and supervision of concessions by concentrating on improving procedures introducing performance incentives and monitoring key performance elements Concessions for Infrastructure Michel Kerf, 1998-01-01 This paper examines the increased role of the private sector in developing and maintaining critical infrastructure It identifies governments quest to shift part of the burden of new infrastructure investments to the private sector for the economic development of firms and industry and the improvement of quality of life and given the constraints on public budgets to finance growing infrastructure needs Adequate infrastructure services include power telecommunications transport water supply and sanitation The paper also emphasizes the private sector involvement in bringing increased efficiency to investment and management and operation Groundwater in Urban Development Stephen S. D. Foster, Adrian Lawrence, Brian Morris, 1998 This paper highlights key urban groundwater issues and management needs It also raises awareness and understanding of hydrogeological processes in urban areas and provides a framework for the proper and systematic consideration of groundwater dimensions in urban management This paper suggests options for greater sustainable development and management of groundwater in urban areas Measuring the Impact of Climate Change on Indian Agriculture Ariel Dinar, 1998-01-01 Using the Ricardian approach a cross sectional analysis of farm performance across different climate zones this report examines the impact of climate change on the agriculture sector and the sector's adaptation to that change. Studies in the report measure the climate sensitivity of low capital agriculture, test whether actual farm performance is as sensitive to climate as agronomic models predict, and compare the climate sensitivity of low capital farms with the results already calibrated for U.S. agriculture. The goal of the study is to examine farm behavior and test whether there is any evidence that farmers in developing countries currently adjust to their local climates.
