COLD WARRIORS Roy R. Manstan, 2014 This is the story of a technological war There was no ambiguity behind the phrase mutually assured destruction nuclear weapons and the means to deliver them had become a reality The atomic bomb brought Japan to the USS Missouri for the formal surrender on September 2 1945 a date that marked the end of World War Two But this date also signaled the beginning of the Cold War as the Soviet Union emerged from the shadows There was no shot heard round the world no Fort Sumter no Pearl Harbor only the threat of a mushroom cloud far worse than what Japan experienced The Cold War remained cold because all the players aggressively pursued a strategy of deterrence aimed at keeping the opponent's finger off the trigger The people on the front lines and behind the scenes the Cold Warriors on both sides would come from the civilians who created the technology and the military that would be entrusted with its use When tensions escalated it was the Navy and the silent service that played a critical role In Cold Warriors the author describes a Navy laboratory in New London Connecticut populated with pioneers in submarine and antisubmarine warfare technology Their mandate was to take the intellectual risks that would keep this country one step ahead of the Soviet Union But ideas alone would not win the Cold War The scientists relied on teams of field engineers whose willingness to take on physical risk would convert theory into reality One of these groups was simply known as the divers Beginning in the 1950s the U S Navy Underwater Sound Laboratory began sending a small number of its civilian staff one or two each year to train at one of the Navy s diving schools As the Laboratory in New London evolved into the Naval Undersea Warfare Center Newport Rhode Island that small team became the Engineering and Diving Support Unit For more than a half century the divers would travel the world this book is their story A Fearsome Heritage Dr John Schofield, Wayne Cocroft, 2016-07-08 Fearsome Legacies unites innovative work on the interpretation and management of Cold War heritage from fields including archaeology history art and architecture and cultural studies Rearming for the Cold War, 1945-1960 Elliott Vanveltner Converse, 2012 Book Description The first publication in a multivolume series on the history of the acquisition of major weapon systems by the Department of Defense author Elliott Converse presents a meticulously researched overview of changes in acquisition policies organizations and processes within the United States military establishment during the decade and a half following World War II Many of the changes that shaped the nature and course of weapons research and development production and contracting through the end of the century were instituted between 1945 and 1960 many of the problems that have repeatedly challenged defense policymakers and acquisition professionals also first surfaced during these years This study is the first to combine the histories of the Office of the Secretary of Defense OSD and the military services into one account The volume is organized chronologically with individual chapters addressing the roles of OSD the Army Navy and Air Force in two distinct periods History of Acquisition in the Department of Defense, Volume 1 Elliott V. Converse, 2012-06-12 This volume is a history of the acquisition of major weapon systems by the United States armed forces from 1945 to 1960 the decade and a half that spanned the Truman and Eisenhower administrations following World War II These instruments of warfare aircraft armored vehicles artillery guided missiles naval vessels and supporting electronic systems when combined with nuclear warheads gave the postwar American military unprecedented deterrent and striking power 1 They were also enormously expensive The volume is organized chronologically with individual chapters addressing the roles of OSD the Army Navy and Air Force in two distinct periods The first roughly coinciding with President Truman's tenure covers the years from the end of World War II through the end of the Korean War in 1953 The second spans the two terms of the Eisenhower presidency from 1953 through early 1961 The year 1953 marked a natural breakpoint between the two periods The Korean War had ended President Eisenhower and his defense team began implementing the New Look a policy and strategy based on nuclear weapons which they believed would provide security and make it possible to reduce military spending The New Look s stress on nuclear weapons along with the deployment of the first operational guided missiles and the rapid advances subsequently made in nuclear and missile technology profoundly influenced acquisition in the services throughout the 1950s and the remainder of the century As used in this study the term acquisition encompasses the activities by which the United States obtains weapons and other equipment In surveying the history of acquisition between 1945 and 1960 this study discusses or refers in passing to many of the hundreds of weapon system programs initiated by the services in that period but it is not a weapons encyclopedia Instead it investigates a few major programs in depth in the belief that such detailed examination best reveals the evolution of acquisition policies organizations and processes and the various forces influencing weapons programs Reorganizing the Joint Chiefs of Staff Gordon Lederman, 1999-11-30 The Goldwater Nichols Department of Defense Reorganization Act of 1986 is the most important legislation to affecting U S national defense in the last 50 years This act resulted from frustration in Congress and among certain military officers concerning what they believed to be the poor quality of military advice available to civilian decision makers It also derived from the U S military s perceived inability to conduct successful joint or multi service operations. The act passes after four years of legislative debate designated the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff as the principal military advisor to the President and sought to foster greater cooperation among the military services Goldwater Nichols marks the latest attempt to balance competing tendencies within the Department of Defense namely centralization versus decentralization and geographic versus functional distributions of power As a result of the Goldwater Nichols Act the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs has achieved prominence but his assignment is somewhat contradictory the spokesman and thus the advocate for the Commander in Chief while simultaneously the provider of objective advice to the President While the act did succeed in strengthening the CINCs authority and in contributing to the dramatic U S achievements in the Gulf War the air and ground campaigns revealed weaknesses in the CINCs capability to plan joint operations In addition the increased role of the military in ad hoc peacekeeping operations has challenged the U S military s current organizational structure for the quick deployment of troops from the various services Rapid technological advances and post Cold War strategic uncertainty also complicate the U S military s organizational structure The Legend of Federal-Mogul Jeffrey L.
