The Lieutenant Nun Transgenderism Lesbian Desire And:

The Lieutenant Nun Sherry Velasco, 2000 This book is an exciting well organized overview of the evolution of a cultural icon the nun ensign Catalina de Erauso It will be of interest not only to Hispanists but also to students of gender theater and film Anne J Cruz Professor of Spanish University of Illinois Chicago Catalina de Erauso 1592 1650 was a Basque noblewoman who just before taking final vows to become a nun escaped from the convent at San Sebastian dressed as a man and in her own words went hither and thither embarked went into port took to roving slew wounded embezzled and roamed about Her long service fighting for the Spanish empire in Peru and Chile won her a soldier's pension and a papal dispensation to continue dressing in men's clothing This theoretically informed study analyzes the many ways in which the Lieutenant Nun has been constructed interpreted marketed and consumed by both the dominant and divergent cultures in Europe Latin America and the United States from the seventeenth century to the present Sherry Velasco argues that the ways in which literary theatrical iconographic and cinematic productions have transformed Erauso's life experience into a public spectacle show how transgender narratives expose and manipulate spectators fears and desires Her book thus reveals what happens when the private experience of a transgenderist is shifted to the public sphere and thereby marketed as a hybrid spectacle for the curious gaze of the general audience Lieutenant Nun: transgenderism, lesbian Desire & Catalina Erauso sm

Autobiographical Writing by Early Modern Hispanic Women Elizabeth Teresa Howe,2016-04-08

Women s life writing in general has too often been ignored dismissed or relegated to a separate category in those few studies of the genre that include it The present work addresses these issues and offers a countervailing argument that focuses on the contributions of women writers to the study of autobiography in Spanish during the early modern period There are indeed examples of autobiographical writing by women in Spain and its New World empire evident as early as the fourteenth century Memorias penned by Do a Leonor L pez de Cord ba and continuing through the seventeenth century Cartas of Sor Juana In s de la Cruz What sets these accounts apart the author shows are the variety of forms adopted by each woman to tell her life and the circumstances in which she adapts her narrative to satisfy the presence of male critics whether ecclesiastic or political actual or imagined who would dismiss or even alter her life story Analyzing how each of these women viewed her life and conversely how their contemporaries both male and female received and sometimes edited her account Howe reveals the tension in the texts between telling a life and telling a lie

Ambiguous Gender in Early Modern Spain and Portugal

Francois Soyer, 2012-08-27. From the sixteenth to the eighteenth centuries, the Spanish and Portuguese Inquisitions conducted a number of trials against individuals accused by members of their communities of being of the other gender: men accused of being women and women accused of being men or even hermaphrodites. Using new inquisitorial sources, this study examines the complexities revolving around transgenderism and the construction of gender identity in the early modern Iberian World. It throws light upon the manner in which the Inquisition, medical practitioners, and the wider society in Spain and Portugal responded to transgenderism and on the self-perception of individuals whose behaviour, whether consciously or unconsciously, flouted these social and sexual conventions.

Mapping Gendered Routes and Spaces in the Early Modern World

Merry E. Wiesner-Hanks, 2016-03-03. How did gender figure in understandings of spatial realms, from the inner spaces of the body to the furthest reaches of the globe? How did women situate themselves in the early modern world, and how did they move through it in both real and imaginary locations? How do new disciplinary and geographic connections shape the ways we think about the early modern world and the role of women and men in it? These are the questions that guide this volume, which includes articles by a select group of scholars from many disciplines: Art History, Comparative Literature, English, German History, Landscape Architecture, Music, and Women's Studies. Each essay reaches across fields, and several are written by interdisciplinary groups of authors. The essays also focus on many different places, including Rome, Amsterdam, London, and Paris, and on texts and images that crossed the Atlantic and the Mediterranean or that portrayed real and imagined people who did. Many essays investigate topics key to the spatial turn in various disciplines, such as borders and their permeability, actual and metaphorical spatial crossings, travel and displacement, and the built environment.

Jonas Roelens, 2024-02-06. The Southern Low Countries were among Europe's core regions for the repression of sodomy during the late medieval period. As the first comprehensive study on sodomy in the Southern Low Countries this book charts the prosecution of sodomy in some of the region's leading cities such as Bruges Ghent and Antwerp from 1400 to 1700 and explains the reasons behind local differences and variations in the intensity of prosecution over time Through a critical examination of a range of sources this study also considers how the urban fabric perceived sodomy and provides a broader interpretive framework for its meaning within the local culture

Pornographic Sensibilities Nicholas R. Jones, Chad Leahy, 2020-11-29 Pornographic Sensibilities stages a conversation between two fields Medieval Early Modern Hispanic Studies and Porn Studies that traditionally have had little to say to each other The collection offers innovative new approaches to the study of gendered and sexualized bodies in medieval and early modern textual production including literary and historical documents The volume's embrace of the interpretative tools of Porn Studies also inscribes a critical provocation in what ways can contemporary modes of reading the past serve to freshly illuminate not only the contours of that same past but also the very critical assumptions of the present upon which fields like medieval and early modern Hispanic Studies are built In this way Pornographic Sensibilities encourages at once both rigorous historicizations of pre and early modern culture and playful engagement with presentism considered here as a critical tool to undress the hidden assumptions of both past and present This move substantively challenges long held critical orthodoxies among scholars of pre Enlightenment periods for whom the very category of pornography itself has often problematically been framed as an anachronism when applied to their work

A Companion to Luis Buñuel Rob Stone, Julián Daniel Gutiérrez-Albilla, 2013-02-12 A Companion to Luis Buñuel presents a collection of critical readings by many of the foremost film scholars that examines and reassesses myriad facets of world renowned filmmaker Luis Buñuel's life works and cinematic themes A collection of critical readings that examine and reassess the controversial filmmaker's life works and cinematic themes Features readings from several of the most highly regarded experts on the cinema of Buñuel Includes a multidisciplinary range of approaches from experts in film studies Hispanic studies Surrealism and theoretical concepts such as those of Gilles Deleuze Presents a previously unpublished interview with Luis Buñuel's son Juan Luis Buñuel

Arms and Letters Faith S. Harden, 2020-11-03 Arms and Letters analyses the unprecedented number of autobiographical accounts written by Spanish soldiers during the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries These first person retrospective works recount a range of experiences throughout the sprawling domain of the Hispanic monarchy Reading a selection of autobiographies in contemporary historical context including the coalescing of the first modern armies which were partially populated by forced recruits and the urban poor Faith S Harden explains how soldiers adapted the concept of honour and contributed to the burgeoning autobiographical form Harden argues that Spanish military life writing took two broad forms the first as a petition wherein the soldier's service was presented as a debt of honour and second as a series of misadventures staging honour as a spectacle that captivated an audience Honour was inevitably gendered and performative and as such it functioned as one of the overarching metrics of value that early modern men and women applied to themselves and others In charting how non elite subjects rendered their lives legitimate through autobiography Arms and Letters contributes both to a critical genealogy of honour and to the history of life writing
