One Day Closer to Death Jennifer Rinaldi, 2022-07-25 What my soul sees cannot be conceived by any thought nor expressed in words I see nothing and I see it all The more infinite Good is seen in the darkness the more certain it is and the more it exceeds all things else Saint Angela of Foligno Book of visions and instructions I have an incredible story to tell and as my finger crosses the soft surface of my third scroll I realize why this story must be told It occurs during extraordinary times between two worlds that have grown complacent about God Perhaps that's why Azrael and I were positioned to meet as God has a sense of humor and an exquisite sense of irony A rebellion brewing on heaven and earth made worse by doubt about whether we even need each other As both realms wrestle with the yes no and maybe's the four horsemen saddle up Stay with me here because redemption is always worth it especially when it comes to the salvation of two profoundly broken beings one who has been transformed into the bringer of death and the collector of souls A being who has hidden from his disfigurement and refuses to look any further in fear of what he might see And then there's me a middle aged breast cancer survivor who until I met him could barely find the will to live outside of work much less find the courage to look at myself in the mirror Despite all that baggage Azrael and I find each other twice Within our bond we find the courage to believe in one another and look beyond outward appearances to the souls beneath Our unlikely friendship and later love will give hope and proof to both heaven earth that we need each other to flourish even if those opposed to our message seek to devastate everything we hold dear Our journey will nearly destroy us but will lead us to a place where our battle for the partnership between angels and mankind will outweigh our struggles allowing us to find a cause much more significant than our own lives Along the way we find like minds and souls that will join us on our quest Excerpt From One Day Closer to Death Jen Rinaldi <https://itunes.apple.com/WebObjects/MZStore.woa/viewBook?id=0> This material may be protected by copyright Photograph the Face ,2014-06-10 The most essential factor in creating a successful salable portrait is properly lighting the face But every face is different and each face type requires a different style of lighting It is imperative that the photographer realizes this From the subjects complexion and facial size to their clothing hair color and setting there are many aspects to consider when lighting a client The photographer must also take into consideration what type of product the client wants senior portrait bridal portrait

glamour or professional Each one of these requires something different Properly and efficiently addressing all of these factors will set you and your business apart from the competition In this book Smith focuses on teaching photographers how to conceptualize and produce portraits that will please the client He emphasizes that he is not creating his own artistic vision but that he is crafting what the client wants That is not to say the results aren't artful and creative Both of those things are very important as Smith shows but the main goal as a successful professional photographer is to create portraits that the subject wants to buy Smith advises photographers to be aware of a subject's self image when creating the portrait being sure not to light them in a manner that is unflattering or distorted Success in creating salable portraits relies as much on understanding people and the way our self image functions as it does understanding the proper techniques of lighting First Smith discusses the differences between face types and what to be aware of when setting up the lighting for each Proper metering and placement of light source are essential to controlling your highlights your shadowing and the transition area in between Establishing a system for modifying your lighting setup for each subject is emphasized The concept of Camera Sight or visualizing the finished photo ahead of time to look for potential problem areas is very important As Smith admits this skill comes with experience Where he once had to take many test shots to pick out these issues he is now able to see them before he shoots a single frame This is a skill that develops over time with training and practice The author then explains the differences between shooting in a studio and shooting on location both indoors and outdoors Different equipment is required for each scenario but the equipment used for shooting outdoors can even differ depending on the time of day While the most ideal natural light occurs just after sunrise or just before sunset most customers do not want to have their portraits taken at 5am or late in the day So the photographer needs to be prepared to shoot in the harsh midday sun In addition to lighting the face the photographer must find usable light to illuminate the background properly Smith details the lighting system he uses for outdoor portraiture and presents it in the context of his shooting experiences While studio shoots provide greater levels of comfort and consistency compared to a location shoot there are still many things required to get that perfect shot Properly applying fill accent light and shadowing are just as important in the studio as they are on location Understanding the concepts of traditional lighting allows the photographer to consistently create studio portraits that will please any customer The most important part of the face to light properly is the eyes Smith explains in detail what factors a successful photographer must consider to get the final portrait every client wants Whether it is a difference in the size of the client's eyes or ears asymmetrical lips or a crooked nose there are ways to light these to correct the differences Using artistry and creative vision to adapt from the comfort of studio shoots to the complicated and diverse demands of location shoots Smith provides the reader with the tools to capture what the client wants every time

Karl Barth's Epistle to the Romans Christophe Chalamet, Andreas Dettwiler, Sarah Stewart-Kroeker, 2022-05-09 Karl Barth's commentary on Paul's epistle to the Romans in its two editions 1919 and 1922 is one of the most significant works published in Christian theology in the 20th century This book which landed like a bombshell on the theologians' playground still deserves close scrutiny one hundred years after its publication In this volume New Testament scholars philosophers of religion and systematic theologians ponder the intricacies of Barth's expressionistic commentary pointing out the ways in which Barth interprets Paul's epistle for his own day how this actualized interpretation of the apostle's message challenged the theology of Barth's time and how some of the insights he articulated in 1919 and in 1922 have shaped Christian theology up to our day With his commentary the young Swiss pastor paved the way for a renewed intensely theological interpretation of the Scriptures The volume thus centers on some of the key themes which run through Barth's commentary faith as divine gift beyond any human experience or psychological data the Easter event as the turning point of the world's history God's judgment and mercy and God's one Word in Jesus Christ This volume represents a major contribution to the interpretation of Karl Barth's early thought Still Life Painting Atelier Michael Friel, 2010-09-28
