between diaspora and the creation of national identity as well as on nationalist politics tied to a particular territory But The Palestinian Diaspora also sheds light on the possibilities opened up by a transnational existence the possibility of new less territorialized identities even in a diaspora as bound to the idea of an idealized homeland as the Palestinian Members of the diaspora form new lives in new settings and the idea of homeland becomes one important but not the only source of identity Ultimately though Schulz argues the strong attachment to Palestine makes the diaspora crucial in any understandings of how to formulate a viable strategy for peace between Israelis and Palestinians
