The Pelican's Briefs Mark R Joneschiet, 2001-06-24 Come celebrate a town Klamath Falls Oregon official population 18 538 people that is the cows you will have to count yourself Join the author in a homespun journey through the past in a town that is the epitome of all hometowns Located on a route that is the shortest distance between Los Angeles and Seattle this town seems innocuous enough however a peak beneath its exterior reveals enough oddities quirks and interesting characters to fuel the tabloids for centuries This rendering of the author s memoirs offers shameless name dropping of well known personalities recounts of events that have local near legendary status among those involved at least and some actual history that didn t quite make it into the history books Fade into the past to an era devoid of terms such as Duuuude Sweeeeet and Da Bomb Words that will characterize this world are more like Golly Gosh Gee Whiz and Shucky Darn Let a mildly embarrassed pelican guide you on this tongue in cheek and often ironic visit to a place that isn t too far from everyone s growing up experience

The Celluloid Courtroom Ross D. Levi, 2005-03-30 The genre of legal cinema is an extensive and revealing one it is a body of films that depicts lawyers clients criminals judges and juries often not as they actually are but as we would like them to be The idealized courtroom of many legal movies tells us a great deal about what we think of our justice system and what we want it to reflect about America but the films in the genre vary widely in how they do this From To Kill a Mockingbird to Liar Liar from A Time to Kill to Twelve Angry Men we see certain stereotypes repeating themselves again and again the judge as stern referee the jury as an ultimately fair body of decisionmakers the lawyer as hardworking and passionate fighter for the underdog In this new and comprehensive study of this understudied category of film author Ross D Levi argues that contrary to popular belief legal movies show us a system that is far more fair than our actual one with corruption downplayed and greed made subordinate to compassion and compromise With a comprehensive filmography penetrating analysis both cinematic and legal and engaging discussion of a wide array of movies The Celluloid Courtroom is an indispensable guide to a key aspect of American movies and American justice The genre of legal cinema is an extensive and revealing one it is a body of films that depicts lawyers clients criminals judges and juries often not as they actually are but as we would like them to be The idealized courtroom of many legal movies tells us a great deal about what we think of our justice system and what we want it to reflect about America but the films in the genre vary widely in how they do this From To Kill a Mockingbird to Liar Liar from A Time to Kill to Twelve Angry Men we see certain stereotypes repeating themselves again and again the judge as stern referee the jury as an ultimately fair body of decisionmakers the lawyer as hardworking and passionate fighter for the underdog In this new and comprehensive study of this understudied category of film author Ross D Levi argues that contrary to popular belief legal movies show us a system that is far more fair than our actual one with corruption downplayed and greed made subordinate to compassion and compromise These are films that have affected as much as reflected the American justice system as we enter the courts hoping often against hope that they

Gayk, 2010-09-30 Focusing on the period between the Wycliffite critique of images and Reformation iconoclasm Shannon Gayk investigates the sometimes complementary and sometimes fraught relationship between vernacular devotional writing and the religious image She examines how a set of fifteenth century writers including Lollard authors John Lydgate Thomas Hoccleve John Capgrave and Reginald Pecock translated complex clerical debates about the pedagogical and spiritual efficacy of images and texts into vernacular settings and literary forms These authors found vernacular discourse to be a powerful medium for explaining and reforming contemporary understandings of visual experience In its survey of the function of literary images and imagination the epistemology of vision the semiotics of idols and the authority of written texts this study reveals a fifteenth century that was as much an age of religious and literary exploration experimentation and reform as it was an age of regulation
