The Limits Of State Action:

The Limits of State Action Wilhelm von Humboldt, 2008-12-11 This text is important both as one of the most interesting contributions to the liberalism of the German Enlightenment and as the most significant source for the ideas which John Stuart Mill popularized in his essay On Liberty Humboldt's concern is to define the criteria by which the permissible limits of the state's activities may be determined His basic principle like that of Mill is that the only justification for government interference is the prevention of harm to others He discusses in detail the role and limits of the state's responsibility for the welfare security and morals of its citizens Humboldt's special achievement in this work is to enlarge our sense of what a liberal political theory might be by his particularly sensitive grasp of the complexity of our attitudes to and our need of other people Dr Burrow has based his translation on Coulthard's version of 1854 In an important introduction he provides a most perceptive as well as scholarly guide to Humboldt's political thought The Limits of State Autonomy Nora

Public Procurement and the EU Competition Rules Albert Sánchez Graells, 2011-01-29 Shortlisted for the 2012 Prix Vogel in Economic Law Public procurement and competition law are both important fields of EU law and policy intimately intertwined in the creation of the internal market Hitherto their close connection has been noted but not closely examined

This new work is the most comprehensive attempt to date to explain the many ways in which these fields often considered independent of one another interact and overlap in the creation of the internal market. In this process of convergence between competition and public procurement law the need for this joint study is clearly apparent. As such the book asks whether competition law principles inform or condition public procurement rules and whether they are adequate to ensure that competition is not distorted in markets where public procurement is particularly significant. The book moves away from the classical focus of public procurement on the activities of private actors developing instead an analytical framework for the appraisal of the market behaviour of the public buyer from a competition perspective. The analysis is both legal and economic. Proceeding through a careful assessment of the general rules of competition and public procurement the book constantly tests the efficacy of the rules in competition and public procurement against a standard of the proper functioning of undistorted competition in the market for public procurement.

State Action on Local Problems 1972 United States. Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations, 1973

The State Debate Simon Clarke, 2016-07-27

The 1990s promise to be a period of rapid political change as old political boundaries dissolve and new political forces emerge. These changes throw into question our understanding of capitalism and socialism, of the character of the nation state and of the relationship between the economy and the state. However these changes are only the culmination of developments which have been unfolding over the past two decades. This book includes a comprehensive introductory survey which sets the contributions collected here within the context of the wider debate.

Marxism and the State P. Wetherly, 2005-06-07

Paul Wetherly provides a restatement and defence of the classical Marxist theory of the state developing an analytical approach that draws on G. A. Cohen's functional interpretation of Marx's theory of history. Instrumentalist and structuralist arguments are conceived as related causal mechanisms within the functional approach and the principle of economic determination is shown to be consistent with the relative autonomy of the state as an institution with its own interests and capacities. This old fashioned interpretation is defended against rival approaches within contemporary Marxism.

State Punishment Nicola Lacey, 2012-10-12

Nicola Lacey presents a new approach to the question of the moral justification of punishment by the State. She focuses on the theory of punishments in context of other political questions such as the nature of political obligation and the function and scope of criminal law. Arguing that no convincing set of justifying reasons has so far been produced she puts forward a theory of punishments which places the values of the community at its centre.

The Metaphysical Theory of the State (Routledge Revivals) L. T. Hobhouse, 2009-07-15

Originally published in 1918 this enduring work by renowned sociologist and Liberal politician Leonard Trelawny Hobhouse encompasses a series of five key lectures first delivered at the London School of Economics in the autumn of 1917. Outlining Hobhouse's theories on social investigation, freedom, law and the will of the state this edition revives an important work which has long been unavailable.

The State and Social Investigation in Britain and the United States Michael J. Lacey, Mary O. Furner, 1993-06-25

The State and Social Investigation

in Britain and the United States addresses the historical development of the knowledge base upon which the public policies of the democratic state depend This comparative study stretches from the Enlightenment origins of the impulse to base legislation on scientific knowledge to the twentieth century development of specialised institutions and professions engaged in social investigation and public policy making It probes investigators biases and omissions as well as their strengths as factors shaping social learning It illuminates the vital link between social empiricism and the late nineteenth century emergence of the New Liberalism in both Britain and the United States And it ponders the impact on social investigation and social policy today of relativism antistatism devolution and privatisation as these currents have developed in both societies since the 1970s     State Action Relating to Taxation of Farmland on the Rural-urban Fringe Peter William House,1961
