The Karen People of Burma: A Study in Anthropology and Ethnology Harry Ignatius Marshall, 2021-11-09

In The Karen People of Burma: A Study in Anthropology and Ethnology, Harry Ignatius Marshall delves deeply into the complex social structures, cultural practices, and historical contexts of the Karen people, an indigenous group in Burma (Myanmar). Through meticulous ethnographic research and rich descriptive prose, Marshall captures the nuances of Karen customs, beliefs, and their interactions with surrounding communities. The book is situated within the broader context of anthropological studies of Southeast Asia during the early 20th century, employing both qualitative and quantitative methodologies to present a nuanced understanding of the Karen's identity and resilience amid transformation. Harry Ignatius Marshall, a prominent anthropologist of his time, amassed extensive fieldwork experience among various ethnic groups in Southeast Asia. His commitment to understanding marginalized voices propelled him to advocate for anthropological perspectives that prioritize participant narratives and lived experiences. Marshall's immersive approach and deep respect for the Karen culture illuminate the struggles they faced in a rapidly changing political landscape, reflecting his own dedication to social justice and advocacy for indigenous rights. This scholarly work is essential for students and researchers in anthropology, ethnology, and Southeast Asian studies. It offers a compelling examination of the cultural intricacies of the Karen people while challenging readers to reflect on themes of identity, resilience, and the importance of cultural preservation, making it a valuable addition to any academic library. diverse inhabitants of the Philippines Taiwan Indonesia New Guinea and Oceania show a common inheritance that extends beyond language This commonality is found above all in mythology and ritual which reach back to an ancient prehistoric past From around 1250 BCE the original proto Oceanic speakers migrated eastwards from South East Asia Navigating by the sun the stars bird flight the swells of the sea and cloud swathed mountain islands Austronesian voyagers used canoes and outriggers to settle on new territories They developed a unified pattern of religion characterised by mortuary rites headhunting and agrarian rituals of the annual calendar culminating in a post harvest festival often sexual in nature This unique overview of Austronesian belief and tradition the author s final book and published posthumously will be essential reading for students of religion prehistory and anthropology

The Tinguian: Social, Religious, and Economic Life of a Philippine Tribe Fay-Cooper Cole, 2016-08-28 It seems desirable at the outset to set forth certain general conclusions regarding the Tinguian and their neighbors Probably no pagan tribe of the Philippines has received more frequent notice in literature or has been the subject of more theories regarding its origin despite the fact that information concerning it has been exceedingly scanty and careful observations on the language and physical types have been totally lacking According to various writers these people are descended from Chinese Japanese or Arabs are typical Malay are identical with the Igorot are pacific hospitable and industrious are inveterate head hunters inhospitable lazy and dirty The detailed discussion of these assertions will follow later in the volume but at this point I wish to state briefly the racial and cultural situation as I believe it to exist in northwestern Luzon AUTHOR The Collection of Primitive Weapons and Armor of the Philippine Islands in the United States National Museum Herbert William Krieger, 1926 The primary objective to this handbook is to describe various weapon types that have preserved in metal wood horn and bone traces of the material culture of the several waves of civilization that have reached the Philippines in the past The second objective of this catalogue of Philippine weapons of offense and defense is to describe the typical originality of form the skill displayed in weapon manufacture and the beauty of ornamental patterns produced in the islands but characteristic of the localities in which they are made and used Origins, History and Social Structure in Brunei Darussalam Victor T. King, Stephen C. Druce, 2020-10-29 This wide ranging book re evaluates in detail the early history and historiography of Brunei Darussalam the origins of the sultanate its genealogical foundations and the structure and administration of Brunei society Contributors draw on the seminal work of Donald E Brown whose major monograph on the sultanate was published in 1970 and marked the beginnings of advanced sociological anthropological and historical research on Brunei Among the key issues addressed are status systems titles and social stratification Chinese sources for the study of Brunei Malay oral and written histories and traditions the symbolism meanings and origins of coronation rituals previously unknown sources for the study of Brunei history and the processes of incorporation of minority populations into the sultanate Contributions by leading scholars of Brunei Borneo and the wider Indonesian Malay world both from within Brunei Darussalam and beyond address some central preoccupations which Brown raised and which have been the subject of continued debate in Austronesian and Southeast Asian studies A novel contribution to the study of the history of Brunei Darussalam this book will be of interest to scholars of Southeast Asian history Asian history Colonial and Imperial history and anthropology Monograph series Statens etnografiska museum (Sweden),1967

A History of Architecture and Trade Patrick Haughey,2018-01-19 A History of Architecture and Trade draws together essays from an international roster of distinguished and emerging scholars to critically examine the important role architecture and urbanism played in the past five hundred years of global trading moving away from a conventional Western narrative The book uses an alternative holistic lens through which to view the development of architecture and trade covering diverse topics such as the coercive urbanism of the Dutch East India Company how slavery and capitalism shaped architecture and urbanization and the importance of Islamic trading in the history of global trade Each chapter examines a key site in history using architecture landscape and urban scale as evidence to show how trade has shaped them It will appeal to scholars and researchers interested in areas such as world history economic and trade history and architectural history

The Pagan Tribes of Borneo; a Description of Their Physical, Moral and Intellectual Condition, With Some Discussion of Their Ethnic Relations; Volume 1 Charles Hose,2018-10-11 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public To ensure a quality reading experience this work has been proofread and republished using a format that seamlessly blends the original graphical elements with text in an easy to read typeface We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant Staging Indigenous Heritage Yunci Cai,2020-08-12 Staging Indigenous Heritage examines the cultural politics of four Indigenous cultural villages in Malaysia Demonstrating that such villages are often beset with the politics of brokerage and representation the book shows that this reinforces a culture of dependency on the brokers By critically examining the relationship between Indigenous tourism and development through the establishment of Indigenous cultural villages the book addresses the complexities of adopting the culture for development paradigm as a developmental strategy Demonstrating that the opportunities for self representation and self determination can become entwined with the politics of brokerage and the contradictory dualism of culture it becomes clear that this can both facilitate and compromise their intended outcomes Challenging the simplistic conceptualisation of Indigenous communities as harmonious and unified wholes the book shows how Indigenous cultures are actively forged struggled over and negotiated in contemporary Malaysia Confronting the largely positive rhetoric in current discourses on the benefits of community based cultural projects Staging Indigenous Heritage should be essential reading for academics and students in the fields of museum studies cultural heritage studies Indigenous studies development studies tourism anthropology and geography The book should also be of interest to museum and heritage professionals around the world
