O'Brien,2013-03-01 Winner of the 2014 Lillian Smith Book Award Once in a great while a photograph captures the essence of an era Three people one black and two white demonstrate for equality at a lunch counter while a horde of cigarette smoking hotshots pour catsup sugar and other condiments on the protesters heads and down their backs The image strikes a chord for all who lived through those turbulent times of a changing America The photograph which plays a central role in the book's perspectives from frontline participants caught a moment when the raw virulence of racism crashed against the defiance of visionaries It now shows up regularly in books magazines videos and museums that endeavor to explain America's largely nonviolent civil rights battles of the late 1950s and early 1960s Yet for all of the photograph's celebrated qualities the people in it and the events they inspired have only been sketched in civil rights histories It is not well known for instance that it was this event that sparked to life the civil rights movement in Jackson Mississippi in 1963 Sadly this same sit in and the protest events it inspired led to the assassination of Medgar Evers who was leading the charge in Jackson for the NAACP We Shall Not Be Moved puts the Jackson Woolworth's sit in into historical context Part multifaceted biography part well researched history this gripping narrative explores the hearts and minds of those participating in this harrowing sit in experience It was a demonstration without precedent in Mississippi one that set the stage for much that would follow in the changing dynamics of the state's racial politics particularly in its capital city Monthly Labor Review ,1974 Publishes in depth articles on labor subjects current labor statistics information about current labor contracts and book reviews For the Love of Murphy's: The Behind-the-Counter Story of a Great American Retailer , Women Strikers Occupy Chain Stores, Win Big Dana Frank,2012-08-15 Frank does an excellent job of creating articulate arguments out of a complex blend of history economics

Woloson, 2020-10-05 Crap We all have it Filling drawers Overflowing bins and baskets Proudly displayed or stuffed in boxes in basements and garages Big and small Metal fabric and a whole lot of plastic So much crap Abundant cheap stuff is about as American as it gets And it turns out these seemingly unimportant consumer goods offer unique insights into ourselves our values and our desires In Crap A History of Cheap Stuff in America Wendy A Woloson takes seriously the history of objects that are often cynically made and easy to dismiss things not made to last things we don't really need things we often don't even really want Woloson does not mock these ordinary everyday possessions but seeks to understand them as a way to understand aspects of ourselves socially culturally and economically Why do we as individuals and as a culture possess these things Where do they come from Why do we want them And what is the true cost of owning them Woloson tells the history of crap from the late eighteenth century up through today exploring its many categories gadgets knickknacks novelty goods mass produced collectibles giftware variety store merchandise As Woloson shows not all crap is crappy in the same way bric a brac is crappy in a different way from say advertising giveaways which are differently crappy from commemorative plates Taking on the full brilliant and depressing array of crappy material goods the book explores the overlooked corners of the American market and mindset revealing the complexity of our relationship with commodity culture over time By studying crap rather than finely made material objects Woloson shows us a new way to truly understand ourselves our national character and our collective psyche For all its problems and despite its disposability our crap is us
