REMEMBRANCE OF THINGS PAST - VII

Sodom And Gomorrah Cities Of The Plain Remembrance Of Things Past 7

Hendrika C. Freud

Sodom And Gomorrah Cities Of The Plain Remembrance Of Things Past 7:

How Traditions Live and Die Olivier Morin, 2016 Of all the things we do and say most will never be repeated or reproduced Once in a while however an idea or a practice generates a chain of transmission that covers more distance through space and time than any individual person ever could What makes such transmission chains possible For two centuries the dominant view from psychology to anthropology was that humans owe their cultural prosperity to their powers of imitation In this view modern cultures exist because the people who carry them are gifted at remembering storing and reproducing information How Traditions Live and Die proposes an alternative to this standard view What makes traditions live is not a general purpose imitation capacity Cultural transmission is partial selective often unfaithful Some traditions live on in spite of this because they tap into widespread and basic cognitive preferences These attractive traditions spread not by being better retained or more accurately transferred but because they are transmitted over and over This theory is used to shed light on various puzzles of cultural change from the distribution of bird songs to the staying power of children's rhymes and to explain the special relation that links the human species to its cultures Morin combines recent work in cognitive anthropology with new advances in quantitative cultural history to map and predict the diffusion of traditions This book is both an introduction and an accessible alternative to contemporary theories of cultural evolution Words on Cassette, 2002 R R Bowker Publishing, 2002 Marrano as Metaphor Elaine Marks, 1996 When Europeans in the Middle Ages spoke of marranos they were making a derogatory reference to crypto Jews those who publicly converted to and performed as Christians but who remained secretly faithful to Judaic law Today asserts Elaine Marks in Marrano as Metaphor the concept can be used to describe all Jews living in a dominant Christian or Muslim culture whatever may be their conscious relationship to Judaism A sweeping examination of the Jewish presence in French literature from the sixteenth century to the present Marrano as Metaphor explores the many shapes and forms in which Jews are perceived spoken and written about Employing a wide spectrum of analytical methods from history literary theory and psychoanalysis renowned French scholar Elaine Marks opens new doors in the study of literature Marrano as Metaphor investigates questions of difference and assimilation of respect and derogation in a wide range of French literature from Alain Robbe Grillet's discussion in his memoirs of his parents' antisemitism to the story of Esther through Jean Racine and Marcel Proust from efforts to address Jewish issues in the writings of Marguerite Duras and Jean Paul Sartre to the secular assimilated Jewish tradition of Jacques Derrida and Helene Cixous Marks looks closely at strains of antisemitism running through French literature analyzing such antecedents as the nihilism of the 1880s and its meditation on death and absence Bowker's Guide to Characters in Fiction 2007, 2008-02 Poetics of Space Steven A. Yates, 1995 This volume begins with the early modern period when avant garde artists were challenging the traditional aesthetic with Constructivism and Futurism in Russia Dadaism and Surrealism in Germany and France and new forms of photography collage photomontage photograms and so on were emerging throughout the Western art world Included also are influential mid century essays by Gaston Bachelard Leo Steinberg and William M Ivins as well as essays on contemporary art issues by L Lippard F Sommer and J Snider

Men and Mothers
Hendrika C. Freud,2018-03-08 Not all men vie with their fathers for the love of their mothers In some families the mother becomes the central figure for her son the father is excluded or excludes himself and does not come between mother and son The main thesis of this book using clinical vignettes and quotes from the work of Marcel Proust to illustrate the author s points is that in these cases fantasies of matricide replace patricide Men develop their male gender identity by being permitted to separate from their mother early on but when a man does not resolve his infantile tie to his mother he risks remaining in a passive and or dependent position towards her Over identification with the mother might ensue hampering masculine development Mothers who seek emotional support by binding their sons too closely can become seductive towards them The child is inclined to try to satisfy the emotional needs of his mother and he fears rejection if he asserts his independence instead of complying
