Archaeological Encounters Margarita Díaz-Andreu, 2012-11-13 This book examines the relationship between British and Spanish archaeology in the light of international geographies of knowledge It looks at the practical aspects of the personal relationships established between British and Spanish prehistoric archaeologists from the 1920s to the 1970s Part I of the book sets the scene It provides some contextual information on the main events in the archaeology of both countries in the period under study It also introduces Professor Luis Pericot the archaeologist whose archive serves as the basis for much of what is discussed throughout the following chapters In Part II of the book an analysis of the correspondence held in the Pericot Archive the Fons Pericot in the Biblioteca de Catalunya is undertaken The examination of the letters exchanged between Spanish and British prehistorians in general and in particular between Luis Pericot and about a dozen major British scholars of his time allows the reconstruction of the nature of the relationships formed between them The analysis has been divided into three chapters corresponding to the three main towns where his correspondents lived for most of their academic careers London Cambridge and Oxford In Part III of the book the information obtained from the correspondence is then complemented and re examined considering three main aspects the production transmission and reception of knowledge This analysis puts together aspects discussed in Part I of the book with the data gathered from the letters in Part II as well as other information provided by publications including translations and reviews First of all an assessment is made as to whether the geographical context affected the way knowledge of prehistoric archaeology was produced Secondly the mechanisms and networks that allowed the international transmission of both ideas and practices linked to prehistoric archaeology are assessed A third aspect looked into is the reception of knowledge linking this with issues such as academic prestige and authority

G. Routh, 1912 The story of the English occupation of Tangier in the reign of Charles II is to be found among hundreds of contemporary documents and letters most of which have never been published By far the most important source of information is the large collection of official correspondence preserved at the Public Record Office under the heading Colonial Office 279 which contains many letters and reports written by the English Governors of Tangier between 1662 1684 The present work is based principally on these manuscript letters from which a number of extracts are printed Of many other valuable authorities the most interesting perhaps is a journal written at Tangier by John Luke this journal which gives many details concerning social life is so far as I can ascertain generally known Preface p vii From Hunters to Farmers John Desmond Clark, Steven A.
