The Less Developed Economy A Critique Of Contemporary Theory:

The Less Developed Economy Kaushik Basu, 1984-01 Less Developed Economy Kaushik Basu, 1986 Less Developed Economy Basu Kaushik, 1984 Social Welfare Responses in a Neoliberal Era, 2018-11-26 Listen to the podcast about Cory Blad's chapter in this book Searching for Saviors Economic Adversities and the Challenge of Political Legitimacy in the Neoliberal Era This book seeks to explore welfare responses by questioning and going beyond the assumptions found in Esping Andersen's 1990 broad typologies of welfare capitalism Specifically the project seeks to reflect how the state engages and creates general institutionalized responses to market mechanisms and how such responses have created path dependencies in how states approach problems of inequality Moreover if the neoliberal era is defined as the dissemination and extension of market values to all forms of state institutions and social action the need arises to critically investigate not only the embeddedness of such values and modes of thought in different contexts and institutional forms but responses and modes of resistance arising from practice that might point to new forms of resilience The Balance Between Industry and Agriculture in Economic Development Kenneth J. Arrow, 1988-11-10 A Handbook of Alternative Monetary Economics Philip Arestis, Malcolm C. Sawyer, 2006 Consists of over 30 major contributions that explore a range of work on money and finance The contributions in this handbook cover the origins and nature of money detailed analyses of endogenous money surveys of empirical work on endogenous money and the nature of monetary policy when money is endogenous An Island for Itself Stephan R. Epstein, 2003-11-13 Late medieval Sicily is shown to have been neither underdeveloped nor dependent on foreign trade Wired for Culture: Origins of the Human Social Mind Mark Pagel, 2012-02-27 Does an excellent job of using evolutionary biology to discuss the origins of religion music art and morality Publishers Weekly starred review A unique trait of the human species is that our personalities lifestyles and worldviews are shaped by an accident of birth namely the culture into which we are born It is our cultures and not our genes that determine which foods we eat which languages we speak which people we love and marry and which people we kill in war But how did our species develop a mind that is hardwired for culture and why Evolutionary biologist Mark Pagel tracks this intriguing question through the last 80 000 years of human evolution revealing how an innate propensity to contribute and conform to the culture of our birth not only enabled human survival and progress in the past but also continues to influence our behavior today Shedding light on our species defining attributes from art morality and altruism to self interest deception and prejudice Wired for Culture offers surprising new insights into what it means to be human Agriculture Industry Interactions, 2010 Contributed articles with special reference to West Bengal India An Econometric and Game Theoretic Model of Common Pool Resource Management Wietze Lise, 2007 This book provides a manual for undertaking research into the role of people in commonly shared resources like forests water bodies fisheries and grazing pastures The method in this book constructs indicators for the level of participation net benefits from participating forest dependence forest quality inequality wealth and social differences It can be concluded that 1 the studied organisations for forest management vary considerably in their effectiveness and 2 voluntary participation is most likely to emerge among the villagers who depend highly on the forest and perceive the quality of the forest as good

Peasant Economics Frank Ellis,1993-11-25 This is a revised and expanded edition of a popular textbook on the economics of farm households in developing countries The second edition retains the same building blocks designed to explore household decision making in a social context Key topics are efficiency risk time allocation gender agrarian contracts farm size and technological change For these and other topics household economic behaviour represents the outcome of social interactions within the household and market interactions outside the household A new chapter on the environment combines exposition of economic tools not previously covered in the book with examination of household and community decision making in relation to environmental resources

Development Theory and the Economics of Growth Jaime Ros, 2001 Why are some countries richer than others Why do some economies grow so much faster than others do Do economies tend to converge at similar levels of per capita income Or is catching up simply impossible These questions have vast implications for human welfare After a period of lack of interest in growth theory they are back on the research agenda of mainstream economics They have also been at the heart of development economics since its inception some decades ago This book endeavors to answer such questions by blending classical contributions to development theory with recent developments in the economics of growth The unifying theme is that early theoretical insights and accumulated empirical knowledge of development economics have much to offer to research in the theory and empirics of economic growth With the help of a number of recent contributions the ideas and insights of the classical literature in development economics can be given simple and rigorous formulations Together they amount to an approach to growth theory that can overcome the long recognized empirical shortcomings of neoclassical growth economics while being free from the objections that can be raised against the new brand of endogenous growth theory In addition to an original thesis on the contribution that early development theory can make to the research program of modern growth economics the book provides professional and research economists and graduate students with an evaluation of the strengths and limitations of the different strands of inquiry in the modern economics of growth In addition it presents findings on comparative growth performance across countries Jaime Ros is Professor of Economics and Faculty Fellow of the Helen Kellogg Institute of International Studies University of Notre Dame
