

A. R. D. FAIRBURN

A Farewell

What is there left to be said?
There is nothing we can say, nothing at all to be done
to undo the time of day;
no words to make the sun roll east, or raise the dead.

I loved you as I love life:
the hand I stretched out to you returning like Noah's dove brought a new earth to view, till I was quick with love;
but Time sharpens his knife,

Time smiles and whets his knife, and something has got to come out quickly, and be buried deep, not spoken or thought about or remembered even in sleep.
You must live, get on with your life.

The Letters Of Ard Fairburn:

The Letters of A.R.D. Fairburn Arthur Rex Dugard Fairburn,1981      Encyclopedia of Post-Colonial Literatures in English Eugene Benson,L.W. Conolly,2004-11-30 Post Colonial Literatures in English together with English Literature and American Literature form one of the three major groupings of literature in English and as such are widely studied around the world Their significance derives from the richness and variety of experience which they reflect In three volumes this Encyclopedia documents the history and development of this body of work and includes original research relating to the literatures of some 50 countries and territories In more than 1 600 entries written by more than 600 internationally recognized scholars it explores the effect of the colonial and post colonial experience on literatures in English worldwide

Picking Up the Traces Lawrence Jones,2003 The story of the generation of New Zealand writers who came of age in the 1930s and who deliberately and decisively changed the course of literature is told in this book shedding important new light on the key participants including Allen Curnow Denis Glover and Robin Hyde The movement is traced through small circulation magazines and small press publications from 1932 to 1941 The repudiations and loyalties by which the movement defined itself are explored including its opposition to the literary establishment and to late Georgian verse its naming of its precursors and allies from the 1920s and its choice of overseas models such as the British Moderns and the new American short story writers for the creation of a new literature oppose the cultural myths supported by the literary establishment and the writers responses to the world wide social upheavals of the period the Depression the international crises of 1935 to 1939 and World War II      Never a Soul at Home Stuart Murray,1998 The generation of writers that came to prominence in the 1930s laid down the framework for modern New Zealand literature This book looks at the beginnings of those writers careers at the influences of events like the Depression and the onset of war and at the role of cultural institutions Ultimately it is about the myths that surround the 1930s writers and the myths they made

Letters of Frank Sargeson Sarah Shieff,2012-02-03 A rich and riveting record of both literary and social value Frank Sargeson is one of New Zealand s best loved and most important writers Besides the ground breaking short stories he wrote memoirs novels and plays He encouraged at least three generations of younger writers and for most of his adult life the famous bach behind the hedge at 14 Esmonde Road was at the heart of New Zealand s artistic and literary world Sargeson was also a prolific letter writer and this selection of 500 of the most fascinating ranges over half a century from 1927 to 1981 The letters are immensely readable vividly capturing his life and times his milieu and his personality Frank loved gossip could be bitchy and peevish but also kind affectionate funny ribald astute This collection selected edited and annotated by Sarah Shieff is a document of extraordinary significance for all those interested in New Zealand s literary and social history      Simply by Sailing in a New Direction Terry Sturm,2017-09-29 Allen Curnow 1911 2001 was at the time of his death regarded as one of the greatest of all poets writing in English For seventy years from Valley of Decision 1933 to The Bells of Saint Babel s 2001 Curnow s poetry was always on the move from his early approaches to New Zealand identity and myth to later work concerned with the philosophical encounter between word and world Curnow also played a major role in New Zealand life as editor critic commentator and anthologist as well as a much loved writer of light verse under the penname of Whim Wham In his later years he acquired an impressive international reputation winning the Commonwealth Prize for Poetry and the Queen's Gold Medal for Poetry Throughout his lifetime Allen Curnow revised selected and collected his poetry in various ways For the first time this collection brings together all of the poems that Curnow collected in his lifetime grouped in their original volumes The notes reproduce Curnow's comments on individual poems and include relevant editorial guidance This is the definitive collection of work by New Zealand's most distinguished poet

Disputed Ground Robin Hyde, Gillian Boddy, Jacqueline D. Matthews, 1991 This book brings together for the first time the best of Hyde's journalism Alongside extracts from the now out of print Journalese 1934 are previously uncollected articles and reviews from newspapers and magazines ranging in subject matter from the Treaty of Waitangi to the Spanish Civil War from China in the thirties to the Queen Street Riots These detailed and vivid accounts of aspects of New Zealand society and the international situation have an urgency which makes them relevant to us all The biographical introduction offers a fuller picture than we have had of this remarkable writer drawing on interviews letters and the work itself Back cover

Whole Men Kai Jensen, 1996 Kai Jensen takes a provocative look at masculinity in New Zealand literature He argues that New Zealand writing around the Second World War was shaped by excitement about masculinity as a way of challenging society Inspired partly by Marxism writers such as A R D Fairburn Denis Glover John Mulgan and Frank Sargeson linked national identity to the ordinary working man or soldier and attempted to merge artistic activity and manliness in a new ideal the whole man This masculine excitement forged a literary and intellectual culture which was powerful for thirty years and which discouraged women writers Jensen suggests that the aftermath of masculinism still influences the way New Zealand intellectuals see themselves and that the masculine tradition survives in the writing of Owen Marshall Sam Hunt Maurice Shadbolt and even Maurice Gee At the same time he argues that masculinism underwent a process of change after its high point in the 1940s Frank Sargeson's closeted homosexuality posed a complex problem for the masculine tradition and its historians and James K Baxter's symbolic Jungian poetry was also hard to reconcile with the idea that men's writing must be based on robust experience Yet Baxter prepared the masculine tradition for the 1960s and 1970s by renovating the whole man as bohemian lover Whole Men is not just about one literary movement but about how literary culture works and how New Zealand intellectuals construct their identities

Flight of the Phoenix James M. Bertram, 1985

New Zealand's London Felicity Barnes, 2013-11-01 Antipodean soldiers and writers meat carcasses and moa British films and Kiwi tourists throughout the last 150 years people objects and ideas have gone back and forth between New Zealand and London defining and redefining the relationship between this country and the colonial center that many New Zealanders once called home Exploring the relationship between a colony and its metropolis from Wakefield to the Wombles it answers questions including How did New Zealanders define themselves in relation to the center of British culture and How did New Zealanders view London when they walked through King s Cross or saw the city in movies By focusing on particular themes from agricultural marketing to expatriate writers this discussion develops a larger story about the construction of colonial and national identities

Leaving the Highway Mark Williams,2013-10-01 The major New Zealand novelists of the 1980s have begun to receive international acclaim This first critical study of Janet Frame Keri Hulme Witi Ihimaera Maurice Gee Ian Wedde and C K Stead concentrates on their important works to explore how deeply rooted anxieties about New Zealand s cultural situation and national identity are articulated in New Zealand fiction

Colin McCahon Peter Simpson,2019-10-03 The first of an extraordinary two volume work chronicling forty five years of painting by New Zealand s most important artist Colin McCahon Colin McCahon 1919 1987 was New Zealand s greatest twentieth century artist Through landscapes biblical paintings and abstraction the introduction of words and Maori motifs McCahon s work came to define a distinctly New Zealand modernist idiom Collected and exhibited extensively in Australasia and Europe McCahon s work has not been assessed as a whole for thirty five years In this richly illustrated two volume work written in an accessible style and published to coincide with the centenary of Colin McCahon s birth leading McCahon scholar writer and curator Peter Simpson chronicles the evolution of McCahon s work over the artist s entire forty five year career Simpson has enjoyed unprecedented access to McCahon s extensive correspondence with friends family dealers patrons and others This material enables us to begin to understand McCahon s work as the artist himself conceived it Each volume includes over three hundred illustrations in colour with a generous selection of reproductions of McCahon s work many never previously published plus photographs catalogue covers facsimiles and other illustrative material This will be the definitive work on New Zealand s leading artist for many years to come

Encyclopedia of Life Writing Margaretta Jolly,2013-12-04 First published in 2001 This is the first substantial reference work in English on the various forms that constitute life writing As this term suggests the Encyclopedia explores not only autobiography and biography proper but also letters diaries memoirs family histories case histories and other ways in which individual lives have been recorded and structured It includes entries on genres and subgenres national and regional traditions from around the world and important auto biographical writers as well as articles on related areas such as oral history anthropology testimonies and the representation of life stories in non verbal art forms

A Popular Vision Rachel Barrowman,1991

The Ivory Tower and Beyond Susan Cochrane,Doug Munro,Max Quanchi,2009-03-26 There is a tradition of participant history among historians of the Pacific Islands unafraid to show their hands on issues of public importance and risking controversy to make their voices heard This book explores the theme of the participant historian by delving into the lives of J C Beaglehole J W Davidson Richard Gilson Harry Maude and Brij V Lal They lived at the interface of scholarship and practical engagement in such capacities as constitutional advisers defenders of civil liberties or upholders of the principles of academic freedom As well as writing history they made history and their excursions beyond the ivory tower informed their scholarship Doug Munro's sympathetic engagement with these five historians is likewise informed by his own long term involvement with the sub discipline of Pacific History
