Social Bonds In Later Life:

Social Bonds in Later Life Warren A. Peterson, Jill S. Quadagno, 1985-05-01 As people age they become less mobile and social networking becomes more difficult to maintain This book examines the support networks of the elderly and reaches the conclusion that older people do not engage in relationships on the basis of a one sided dependency rather relationships tend to be reciprocal or interdependent The authors offer a positive and realistic approach to the relationship between the elderly and society

Intimacy in Later Life Kate M. Davidson, Kate Davidson, Graham Fennell, To love and be loved is arguably one of the most powerful and fundamental driving forces sustaining self esteem and self identity throughout the lifecourse Need for reciprocal loving does not change as we grow older despite failures of health loss of a partner late divorce and alterations of personality due to the aging process However most studies of human sexuality have ignored the problems and developing patterns of older adults entering into new partnerships To fill this gap Intimacy in Later Life brings together a wide range of distinguished international scholars to address this neglected research area This volume explores how older people today think and behave in relation to partner change Contributors consider the choices and constraints that influence decisions about new romantic relationships after divorce or the death of a spouse along with how these differ with respect to age gender and culture The authors discuss the considerable social variety to be found between permissive and morally conservative societies and cultural milieux as well as how standards of sexual behavior have changed over time Contributions include Kate Davidson and Graham Fennell New Intimate Relationships in Later Life Sofie Ghaanfareeon Karlsson and Klas Borell Intimacy and Autonomy Gender and Ageing Living Apart Together Deborah Carr and Rebecca Ut Late Life Widowhood in the United States New Directions in Research and Theory Nan Stevens Re Engaging New Partnerships in Late Life Widowhood Kate Davidson Gender Differences in New Partnership Choices and Constraints for Older Widows and Widowers Jenny De Jong Gierveld The Dilemma of Repartnering Considerations of Older Men and Women Entering New Intimate Relationships in Later Life Deborah K Van Den Hoonaard Attitudes of Older Widows and Widowers in New Brunswick Canada Towards New Partnerships Aldine J Moore and Dorothy C Stratton The Current Woman in an Older Widower's Life and Kalyani K Mehta Perceptions of Remarriage by Widowed People in Singapore Kate Davidson is lecturer in the Department of Sociology University of Surrey UK and is co director of the Centre for Research on Ageing and Gender Graham Fennell is professor of sociology and social policy in the School of Business and Social Sciences Roehampton University of Surrey UK and European editor of Ageing International

Ageing, Men and Social Relations Paul Willis, Ilkka Pietilä, Marjaana Seppänen, 2023-03-30 While there has been a gradual increase in scholarship on men ageing and masculinities little attention has been paid to the social relations of men in later life and the implications for enhancing their social wellbeing and counteracting ageist discourse Bringing together scholars in social gerontology and the social sciences from across Global North and South nations this collection fills the gaps in key texts by foregrounding older men's experiences It provides new perspectives across the intersections of old age ethnicities class and sexual and gender identity paying particular attention to older men from seldom heard or marginalised groups Social Exclusion in Later Life Kieran Walsh, Thomas Scharf, Sofie Van Regenmortel, Anna Wanka, 2021-03-30 Drawing on interdisciplinary cross national perspectives this open access book contributes to the development of a coherent scientific discourse on social exclusion of older people The book considers five domains of exclusion services economic social relations civic and socio cultural and community and spatial domains with three chapters dedicated to analysing different dimensions of each exclusion domain The book also examines the interrelationships between different forms of exclusion and how outcomes and processes of different kinds of exclusion can be related to one another In doing so major cross cutting themes such as rights and identity inclusive service infrastructures and displacement of marginalised older adult groups are considered Finally in a series of chapters written by international policy stakeholders and policy researchers the book analyses key policies relevant to social exclusion and older people including debates linked to sustainable development EU policy and social rights welfare and pensions systems and planning and development The book s approach helps to illuminate the comprehensive multidimensionality of social exclusion and provides insight into the relative nature of disadvantage in later life With 77 contributors working across 28 nations the book presents a forward looking research agenda for social exclusion amongst older people and will be an important resource for students researchers and policy stakeholders working on ageing Endocrinology of Social Relationships Peter T. Ellison, Peter B. Gray, 2012-03-05 In social relationships whether between mates parents and offspring or friends we find much of life s meaning But in these relationships so critical to our well being might we also detect the workings even directives of biology This book a rare melding of human and animal research and theoretical and empirical science ventures into the most interesting realms of behavioral biology to examine the intimate role of endocrinology in social relationships The importance of hormones to reproductive behavior from breeding cycles to male sexual display is well known What this book considers is the increasing evidence that hormones are just as important to social behavior Peter Ellison and Peter Gray include the latest findings both practical and theoretical on the hormonal component of both casual interactions and fundamental bonds The contributors senior scholars and rising scientists whose work is shaping the field go beyond the proximate mechanics of neuroendocrine physiology to integrate behavioral endocrinology with areas such as reproductive ecology and life history theory Ranging broadly across taxa from birds and rodents to primates the volume pays particular attention to human endocrinology and social relationships a focus largely missing from most works of behavioral endocrinology Macro Social Influences on Loneliness in Later Life Marja Aartsen, Iuliana Precupetu, Bianca Suanet, 2025-07-31 This open access book explores the macro social influences on loneliness in later life emphasizing how societal structures cultural contexts and broader social transformations shape the experience of loneliness Dedicated to the social construction of loneliness and the notable heterogeneity in its prevalence across European countries this volume

brings together a distinguished selection of experts who share their latest insights on meso and macro level influences cultural and structural theories and the impact of digitalization climate change and societal crises Divided into five parts the book addresses key aspects of this complex issue The first part introduces the central themes outlining the relevance of loneliness as a societal concern and discussing the limitations of existing research which predominantly focuses on individual level factors It highlights the need for a multi level approach that incorporates micro meso and macro perspectives to fully understand the contextual influences on loneliness The second part delves into theoretical perspectives offering a comprehensive framework for understanding loneliness at different levels It examines the interplay between individual relational and societal factors while also exploring cultural and social exclusion perspectives that shed light on how loneliness manifests across different contexts The third part presents empirical evidence focusing on variations in loneliness across different social groups and regions in Europe It synthesizes research on micro and meso level determinants while also providing a review of macro level influences This part highlights the role of welfare regimes demographic trends and broader societal conditions in shaping the prevalence and experience of loneliness The fourth part explores recent societal developments that may influence loneliness including digitalization migration climate change and societal crises These emerging topics illustrate how macro level transformations can either alleviate or exacerbate loneliness depending on how they interact with existing social structures and individual circumstances The final part discusses methodological advancements and policy implications It introduces an innovative approach to analyzing macro social influences on loneliness and revisits the loneliness paradox in light of new findings The book concludes with policy recommendations and future research directions emphasizing the need for a holistic approach that integrates individual relational and societal dimensions to develop more effective interventions against loneliness In sum by adopting a macro social lens this book contributes to a deeper understanding of the societal cultural and policy related determinants of loneliness It offers a foundation for evidence based interventions that go beyond individual level solutions recognizing loneliness as a socially embedded phenomenon shaped by broader societal forces It is our hope and expectation that the book and its content will fundamentally change our understanding of loneliness and strategies to combat it

The Effects of the Internet on Social Relationships Conchetta Gallo Ph.D. LMFT,Joan D. Atwood Ph.D. LMFT LCFW,2011-11-04 Since around the 1970s the world has witnessed a technological revolution equaling no less than a global paradigm shift in the way we communicate in our social relationships The impact of the new technology has impacted every aspect of our lives from early childhood to older ages This technology has revolutionized social communication and brought the world together with a single click This book explores the effects of the internet on our social relationships This impact is tremendous and often individuals seek therapy for the new issues that this type of communication presents whether it be parents who are concerned about their teenagers addiction to texting blogging and posting on Facebook My Space or Twitter or couples whose relationships are threatened by internet infidelity inattentiveness to their partner and or abuse of pornographic websites The chapters contained in this book provide not only important information on these topics across the life span but also provide helpful hints for individuals and mental health practitioners as well

Adult Development and Aging Julie Hicks Patrick, Bert Hayslip, Jr., Lisa Hollis-Sawyer, 2025-06-14 Topically organized Adult Development and Aging Growth Longevity and Challenges provides students with a comprehensive understanding of the aging process in adulthood from multiple perspectives In this Second Edition Julie Hicks Patrick Bert Hayslip and Lisa Hollis Sawyer use principles of lifespan development to show readers the directionality of changes in early middle and late adulthood Within its framework of scientific literacy the text charts four key themes to guide learners a focus on aging as development a global perspective on contexts a vibrant integrated approach to diverse coverage and psychological science that translates into real life experiences A final chapter focuses on ways to improve the experience of aging for all adults

Emotion, Social Relationships, and Health Carol D. Ryff Professor of Psychology University of Wisconsin-Madison, Burton Singer Office of Population Research Princeton University, 2001-05-03 A growing literature in humans and animals documents linkages between social integration and affiliative relationships and a variety of health and disease outcomes including mortality The actual mechanisms through which these efforts occur are however not well understood Emotion likely plays a central role in mediating connections between relational experiences underlying neurobiological processes and health outcomes Many prior studies have focused on the size and proximity of social networks thereby neglecting their emotional features When studied emotion in social relationships has also been heavily weighted on the side of negative and conflicting interactions thus giving minimal attention to the possible protective benefits of enduring love nurturing and affection This volume brings together for the first time these differing lines of inquiry to advance understanding of how emotion in significant social relationships influences health The collection integrates knowledge from those with expertise in mapping the nature of emotional experience in human relations with those who are linking social ties to health outcomes and those who explicate underlying neurobiological mechanisms A main message of the book is that full explication of how emotion social relationships and health are woven together demands multidisciplinary inquiry To this end the volume brings together leading experts from fields of affective science clinical and social psychology epidemiology psychiatry psychoneuroimmunology psychoneuroendocrinology and health to promote the above synthesis Some address how to formulate observe and evaluate social interactions in clinical laboratory or daily life contexts Others link emotional experience in significant social relationships to health outcomes or intervening biological parameters Still others manipulate social environments or exposure to health challenge to assess impact on respiratory infections and immune function Collectively each contributes different pieces to the larger puzzle that connects emotion in social relationships to health Recurrent themes include the importance of attending to 1 both positive and negative emotional experience in significant social relationships and how they influence underlying mechanisms 2 cumulative emotional experience namely the repeated chronic nature of socioemotional experience both positive and negative 3 gender differences in how emotion in social relationships is experienced and how it effects underlying mechanisms involved in health outcomes and 4 the need for multiple methodologies to advance the emotion social relationships and health agenda

Handbook of Social Psychology John DeLamater, Amanda Ward, 2013-08-13 This handbook provides a broad overview of the field of social psychology and up to date coverage of current social psychological topics It reflects the recent and substantial development of the field both with regard to theory and empirical research It starts out by covering major theoretical perspectives including the inter actionist identity social exchange social structure and the person perspectives Next it discusses development and socialization in childhood adolescence and adulthood In addition to updated discussions of topics that were included in the first edition the part examining personal processes includes entirely new topics such as social psychology and the body and individual agency and social motivation Interpersonal processes are discussed from a contemporary perspective with a focus on stress and health The final section examines the person in sociocultural context and includes another topic new to the second edition the social psychology of race and gender and intersectionality Time Use Research in the Social Sciences Wendy E. Pentland, M. Powell Lawton, Andrew S. Harvey, Mary Ann McColl, 1999-05-31 This collection demonstrates the use and variety of applications of time use methodology from multidisciplinary multinational and multicultural perspectives A distinguished roster of contributors from such fields as psychology occupational therapy sociology economics and architecture examines the complex relationship between human time utilization and health and well being and evaluates the future of time use analysis as a research tool in the social sciences Stress and Coping in Later-life Families Mary Ann Parris Stephens, 1990 First Published in 1990 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Substance Abuse And The New Road To Recovery Glenn D. Walters, 2014-06-03 Substance misuse is one of the more common yet baffling problems confronting the practising mental health professional today The issues involved in the misuse of substances can be so complex that some practitioners are inclined to avoid working with clients who have been diagnosed with a drug abuse problem This new guidebook is designed to assist clinicians with the task of conceptualizing understanding and intervening with persons who abuse substances It accomplishes this by offering practical suggestions assessment procedures and change strategies directed at the thoughts feelings and behaviours believed to support a drug lifestyle Although the approach described in this book utilizes a number of cognitive behavioural techniques the approach is unique in the sense that it also deals with the fear of change that frequently interferes with a client s ability to benefit from therapy It also considers change strategies used by people who have escaped from a drug lifestyle without any type of treatment or formal intervention Momentarily arresting the lifestyle is the first step of intervention This is followed by skill development in which the conditions choices and cognitions associated with a drug lifestyle are targeted for intervention and change In the final phase of this approach the client is engaged in the resocialization process whereby he or she is encouraged to develop ways of thinking and behaving that are incompatible with continued misuse of psychoactive substances The end result is a concise yet comprehensive examination of ways clinicians might facilitate change in persons previously committed to a drug lifestyle The Columbia Retirement Handbook Abraham Monk, 2010-06-01 The

Columbia Retirement Handbook Not Your Usual Suspect Hannah Bows, 2023-03-21 An important contribution to the criminological gerontological feminist and elder abuse fields Not Your Usual Suspect expands existing research to consider the behaviour and drivers of older offenders addressing the increasingly important issue of how the needs of this group can be addressed by policy and practice Social Isolation of Older Adults Lenard W. Kaye, Cliff Singer, 2018-12-17 Critical strategies for confronting a dire yet under addressed societal epidemic the risky and potentially deadly consequences for older adults living a socially isolated life are the focus for this book By documenting our current understanding of the complex and multi dimensional nature of social isolation among elders the authors highlight innovative and alternative forms of community and later life relationships that can serve to forestall or prevent social isolation and loneliness With contributions from recognized scholars clinicians and elder policy activists as well as from multiple practice perspectives direct service providers administrators researchers and educators the book documents the interrelated issues of social relationships and health in late life It describes creative programs and intervention techniques that help maintain the integrity of an older adult s individual group and community relations communication pathways and a sense of belonging The book also illuminates multidisciplinary and integrated best practices for minimizing the risk of late life social isolation Case studies showcase the issues that arise in clinical practice and service delivery and demonstrate proven methods for effectively addressing them Key Features Delivers best practice strategies and interventions for bolstering older adult social health and community engagement Written by top scholars in the gerontology community Explores the life threatening risks and consequences of social isolation for older adults and their families Describes the wide range of social relationships that can determine the extent to which older adults will be at risk of becoming socially isolated Considers the role that older adult diversity and difference plays in determining quality of life and the integrity of relationships Highlights physical behavioral environmental social and economic forces that can influence the quality of late life relationships Enhancing Mobility in Later Life Heidrun Mollenkopf, 2005 Outdoor mobility in old age is a complex phenomenon On the one hand it is a basic human need and means the physical ability to move On the other it means the realization of all types of trips out of doors either by foot or by means of transportation In addition societal and individual necessities modern values and economic interests mutually reinforcing each other have resulted in mobility as an ever more important precondition of ensuring the ability to lead an autonomous life and participate actively in society according to one s individual needs Mobility also promotes healthy ageing delays the onset of disabilities and postpones frailty thereby contributing to subjective well being and life satisfaction With advancing age however maintaining mobility may become jeopardized because of the increasing risk of physical and sensory impairments This book includes information on older people s actual out of home mobility on the transportation tools used the prevalence of typical problems associated with out of home mobility the impact of health social networks the home and neighbourhood environments and psychological aspects on their mobility and activities differences between urban and non urban areas and age and gender differences In addition a new model of mobility is suggested and the relation between mobility and quality of life is analysed The book concludes with implications for social and transport policies urban planning and industrial pursuits for meeting the mobility needs of ageing adults
