

The Auld Alliance

Stephen Wood

The Auld Alliance:

The Auld Alliance James Laidlaw,1999 An Antidote to the English Norman Macdougall,2001 The Auld Alliance originated as an offensive and defensive treaty made by John King of Scots and Philip IV of France directed against Edward I of England in 1295. Remarkably this original treaty of Paris Dunfermline was frequently renewed throughout the course of the next two and a half centuries becoming latterly a cornerstone of Scottish foreign policy. Combining narrative and analysis this book covers the uncertain beginnings of the Alliance moving on to the major military commitment of the Scots to the French side in the Hundred Years War 1337-1453 with England the subsequent settlement of Scots in France in the fifteenth century the close naval and military links between James IV and Louis XII of France in the early sixteenth century and the climax and end of the Alliance following the marriage of Francis II of France to Mary Queen of Scots 1558.

Explores the links between patronage identity and Franco Scottish relations in the late medieval and early modern periods. This monograph is the first book length study of Franco Scottish relations and the visual arts in the late medieval and early modern periods. Offers new interdisciplinary approaches to Franco Scottish history that challenge traditional accounts where there has been a failure to investigate visual material. Based on extensive archival research and making use of unknown and little known visual and archival evidence this work examines material from collections held in Scotland France the Netherlands and Italy. Applies innovative interdisciplinary approaches combining patronage studies and a consideration of artistic agency. It develops new methodologies combining art historical methods with insights drawn from political military and architectural histories and manuscript studies. Forms a significant contribution to our understanding of the history of Scotland's place in Europe and the significance of its historic ties to France in particular. This monograph provides the first substantial analysis of the visual arts commissioned by Scots in France prior to Mary Queen of Scots. It examines how Scottish identity was represented and promoted through patronage of the visual arts. Tying together previously unpublished archival documents with under researched visual and material culture this monograph examines how Scots used patronage to establish their place in French society thus furthering the reputation of the royal house of Scotland and progressing their own social political and diplomatic aims. Incorporating analysis of grand architectural projects such as the foundation of the Sainte Chapelle at Vincennes and studies of extraordinary manuscripts such as the Monypenny Breviary and the military manuals of Broughton Stuart this work highlights recurring themes within architectural history art history and material culture studies. By addressing broader questions of Scotland's historic relations with Europe it makes a necessary contribution to
