

The book cover features a photograph of a two-story tropical house with a balcony, framed by two tall palm trees. The scene is bathed in the warm, golden light of sunset or sunrise. The title 'THE AUSTRALIAN HOUSE' is printed in large, white, serif capital letters across the upper half of the image. Below the title, the subtitle 'Homes of the Tropical North' is written in a smaller, italicized serif font. At the bottom, the authors' names, 'BALWANT SAINI' and 'RAY JOYCE', are listed in white, sans-serif capital letters, separated by a small decorative flourish.

Architecture and the urban are connected to challenges around violence security race and ideology spectacle and data The first volume of this handbook extensively explored these oppressive roles This second volume illustrates that escaping the corporatized and bureaucratized orders of power techno managerial and consumer oriented capitalist economic models is more urgent and necessary than ever before Herein lies the political role of architecture and urban space including the ways through which they can be transformed and alternative political realities constituted The volume explores the methods and spatial practices required to activate the political dimension and the possibility for alternative practices to operate in the existing oppressive systems while not being swallowed by these structures Fostering new political consciousness is explored in terms of the following themes Events and Dissidence Biopolitics Ethics and Desire Climate and Ecology Urban Commons and Social Participation Marginalities and Postcolonialism Volume II embraces engagement across disciplines and offers a wide range of projects and critical analyses across the so called Global North and South This multidisciplinary collection of 36 chapters provides the reader with an extensive resource of case studies and ways of thinking for architecture and urban space to become more emancipatory Chapter 1 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution CC BY 4.0 license

Genteel women Dianne Lawrence, 2017-02-01 During the latter half of the nineteenth century and the first decades of the twentieth colonial expansion prompted increasing numbers of genteel women to establish their family homes in far flung corners of the world This work explores ways in which the women's values as expressed through their personal and household possessions specifically their dress living rooms gardens and food were instrumental in constructing various forms of genteel society in alien settings Lawrence examines the transfer and adaptation of British female gentility in various locations across the British Empire including Africa New Zealand and India In so doing she offers a revised reading of the behaviour motivations and practices of female elites thereby calling into doubt the oft stated notion that such women were a constraining element in new societies Australian Book Review, 1982

Design and the Vernacular Paul Memmott, John Ting, Tim O'Rourke, Marcel Vellinga, 2023-11-16 Design and the Vernacular explores the intersection between vernacular architecture local cultures and modernity and globalization focussing on the vast and diverse global region of Australasia and Oceania The relevance and role of vernacular architecture in contemporary urban planning and architectural design are examined in the context of rapid political economic technological social and environmental changes including globalization exchanges of people finance material culture and digital technologies Sixteen chapters by architects designers and theorists including Indigenous writers explore key questions about the agency of vernacular architecture in shaping contemporary building and design practice These questions include How have Indigenous building traditions shaped modern building practices What can the study of vernacular architecture contribute to debates about sustainable development And how has vernacular architecture been used to argue for postcolonial modernisation and nation building and what has been the effect on heritage and conservation Such questions provide valuable case studies and lessons for architecture in other global regions and challenge assumptions about vernacular architecture being anachronistic and static instead demonstrating how it can shape contemporary architecture nation building and cultural identities Making Better Places Richard Hayward, 2013-10-22

Making Better Places Urban Design Now discusses how to make better places how monotonous or rich urban development can be how appropriate to traffic requirements urban improvements are or how sustainable an urban design approach can be to existing and future urban dispersal The book reviews the gap existing between the various environmental disciplines leading to the emergence of urban design as well as the gap between the rhetoric and practical achievements of urban design The practice of urban design entails the premise that environments are to be created and transformed to provide the most opportunities for the largest number of people By using an urban tissue plan the urban developmental planner can produce and evaluate site development appraisal and design proposals The book also provides an abstract perspective that considers built forms as a set of signs to provide a mechanism which shows the modification of urban space The text also addresses the issue of urban change in established centers the urban fringe and beyond as well as cites four examples of exploration by intervention The book can prove beneficial to urban planners sociologists and policy makers involved in urban and social development The History & Design of the Australian House, 1985 Georgian Britain Georgian Australian Victorian Federation Between the wars Beyond the 1950s Future directions includes energy conserving and solar design Interiors Colonial kitchens Gardens Terrace Portable house Queensland style Housing in Darwin David C.
