The Diaries of Anthony Hewitson, Provincial Journalist, Volume 1 Andrew Hobbs, 2022-09-26 Anthony Hewitson 1836-1912 was a typical Victorian journalist working in one of the largest sectors of the periodical press: provincial newspapers. His diaries, written between 1862 and 1912, lift the veil of anonymity, hiding the people, processes, and networks involved in the creation of Victorian newspapers. They also tell us about Victorian fatherhood, family life, and the culture of a Victorian town. Diaries of nineteenth-century provincial journalists are extremely rare. Anthony Hewitson went from printer's apprentice to newspaper reporter and eventually editor of his own paper. Every night he jotted down the day's doings, his thoughts, and feelings. The diaries are a lively account of the reporter's daily round: covering meetings and court cases, hunting for gossip, or attending public executions and variety shows in and around Preston, Lancashire. Andrew Hobbs's introduction and footnotes provide background and analysis of these valuable documents. This full scholarly edition offers a wealth of new information about reporting, freelancing, sub-editing, newspaper ownership, and publishing, and illuminates aspects of Victorian periodicals and culture extending far beyond provincial newspapers. The Diaries of Anthony Hewitson, Provincial Journalist are an indispensable research tool for local and regional historians, as well as social and political historians with an interest in Victorian studies and the media. They are also illuminating for anyone interested in nineteenth-century social and cultural history.

Who's Who in Gay and Lesbian History Vol. 1 Robert Aldrich, Garry Wotherspoon, 2005-10-25 Who's Who in Gay and Lesbian History: From Antiquity to the Mid Twentieth Century is a comprehensive and fascinating survey of the key figures in gay and lesbian history from classical times to the mid twentieth century. Among those included are Classical heroes Achilles, Aeneas, Ganymede; Literary giants Sappho, Christopher Marlowe, Arthur Rimbaud, Oscar Wilde; Royalty and politicians Edward II, King James I, Horace Walpole, Michel de Montaigne. Over the course of some 500 entries, expert contributors provide a complete and vivid picture of gay and lesbian life in the Western and sexually violent homicides in Canada were more likely than any other condemned criminals to be executed for their crimes. Despite the emergence of psychiatric expertise in criminal trials, moral disgust and anger proved more potent in courtrooms than the public mind and the hearts of the bureaucrats and politicians responsible for determining the outcome of capital cases. Wherever death has been set as the ultimate criminal penalty, the poor, minority groups, and stigmatized peoples have been more likely to be accused, convicted, and executed. Although the vast majority of convicted sex killers were white, Canada's racist notions of the Indian mind meant that Indigenous defendants faced the presumption of guilt. Black defendants were also subjected to discriminatory treatment, including near lynchings. In debates about capital punishment, abolitionists expressed concern that prejudices and poverty created the prospect of wrongful convictions. Unique in the ways it reveals the emotional drivers of capital punishment in delivering inequitable outcomes, The Death Penalty and Sex Murder in Canadian History provides a thorough overview of sex murder and the death penalty in Canada. It serves as an essential history and a richly documented cautionary tale for the present.

AFGHANISTAN: History, Diplomacy and Journalism Volume 1 Dr. M. Halim Tanwir, 2013. The book Afghanistan: History, Diplomacy and Journalism you are studying is a summary of my research and work through the continuous years. My aim was to research about the occupation of Afghanistan by Great Britain, Russia, and America in the recent centuries, resistance, defeat of Afghan nation, journalism, and factional publications in Afghanistan, and to make research and analysis by using cultural and journalistic methods about the historical occurrences from the rise of the press up to the contemporary period, twenty-first century, to author and publish it. In reality, this book covers the cultural possession of Afghanistan from the end of the 19th century (1878-1257) up to the 2014 American and NATO forces withdrawal from Afghanistan.

A History of American Magazines, Volume V: 1905-1930 Frank Luther Mott, 1968-01-02. In 1939, Frank Luther Mott received a Pulitzer Prize for Volumes II and III of his History of American Magazines. In 1958, he was awarded the Bancroft Prize for Volume IV. He was at work on Volume V of the projected six-volume history when he died in October 1964. He had at that time written the sketches of the twenty-one magazines that appear in this volume. These magazines flourished during the period 1905-1930, but their biographies are continued throughout their entire lifespan; in the case of the ten still published to recent years, Mott's daughter, Mildred Mott Wedel, has prepared this volume for publication and provided notes on changes since her father's death. No one has attempted to write the general historical chapters the author provided in the earlier volumes, but which were not yet written for this last volume. A delightful autobiographical essay by the author has been included, and there is a detailed cumulative index to the entire set of this monumental work. The period 1905-1930 witnessed the most flamboyant and fruitful literary activity that had yet occurred in America. In his sketches, Mott traces the editorial partnership of H. L. Menckens and George Jean Nathan first on The Smart Set and then in the pages of The American Mercury. He treats The New Republic, the liberal magazine founded in 1914 by Herbert Croly and Willard Straight; the conservative Freeman; and Better Homes and Gardens, the first magazine to achieve a circulation of one million without
