The Bamboo Fire William E. Mitchell,2017-09-29 Anthropology is primarily done in the field unlike the laboratory oriented experimental sciences Experimental sciences make their observations in constructed settings that permit variables influencing the outcome of the experiment to be known and controlled In contrast anthropology s object of inquiry like the science of ethology is life experience in its natural setting To understand how people organize their lives both in thought and in action one must settle among them for a very long time The Wape of Papua New Guinea inhabit a mountainous rain forest and live in sedentary villages They are slash and burn horticulturalists marriage is by bride wealth and polygyny is permitted but rare Male status is egalitarian and although the society is hierarchical in terms of sex and age differences both women and the young enjoy higher status than in many other New Guinea societies While most Wape are nominal Christians traditional religious beliefs and practices are of major importance This book concentrates on describing the field work process by giving the reader a feeling of the reflexive nature of this experience It demonstrate not only how the anthropologist proceeds in her or his work but describes the social and psychological context in which that work evolves and how anthropologists respond to it both within oneself and in communication with others While it is a book about the Wape people it is also a book about how one anthropologist tried to understand them It integrates the subjective and objective into a common research method Related to the book the author has published a film Magical Curing and a CD The Living Dead and Dying Music of the New Guinea Wape

To Have and to Hit Dorothy Ayers Counts, Judith K. Brown, Jacquelyn Campbell, 1999 This vitally important volume places the problem of wife beating in a broad cultural context in a search for strategies to reform societies including our own that are prone to this pernicious form of violence Based on first hand ethnographic data on more than a dozen societies including a number in Oceania this collection explores the social and cultural factors that work either to inhibit or to promote domestic violence against women The volume also includes a study of abuse among nonhuman primates and a cross cultural analysis of the legal aspects of wife beating By presenting counterexamples from other cultures contributors challenge Western assumptions about the factors leading to wife beating Through a close examination of societies where wife beating is infrequent or absent To Have and To Hit identifies the factors economic social political and cultural that must be explored and transformed in order to combat this violence and eventually eliminate it

Between Two Worlds Jack Kugelmass, 1988 Anthropology for the Nineties Johnnetta B. Cole, 1988 Road through the Rain Forest

David Hayano, 1990-01-01 On the remote steep slopes of the grassland and rain forests of Highland Papua New Guinea live the Awa subsisting on root crops and raising domestic pigs Like many cultures the Awa must deal with and find solutions to the problems of human social existence inevitable and rapid culture change interpersonal squabbles lying and deceit adultery sorcery and unexpected death They wait ambivalently for the building of a road that would put them in direct contact with the encroaching world of trade stores outdoor markets schools and the government station In the middle of this walks an anthropologist who learns that fieldwork is first and foremost about understanding lives both his and theirs This book is a personal narrative that provides an intimate glimpse of the actual conduct of fieldwork among diverse individuals with remarkably distinct views of their own culture It is an account of intertwined lives of living anthropology and a road of hope and promise despair and tragedy

Anthropology Stanley R. Barrett, 1996 The second phase centred around the 1960s as new theories sprang up and methods were refined in order to cope with doubts that a scientific study of culture had been established and with the recognition that change and conflict were as prevalent as stability and harmony The third phase began in the 1970s and continues today dominated by postmodernism and feminist anthropology One of my central arguments will be that beginning in phase two and growing rapidly during phase three a gap has emerged between our theories and our methods For most of the history of anthropology our methods have talked the language of science

The Challenge of Human Diversity DeWight R. Middleton, 2010-04-28 Middletons fair uncluttered synthesis of a wide ranging topic continues to offer inspiration for thinking about what it means to be different from and similar to Others Brief ethnographic excerpts are interwoven to demonstrate the hold that culture has on us Such firsthand experiences reported by anthropologists reveal the challenging and sometimes humorous situations that can arise when we attempt to understand Others and when they do the same with us Heralded by Anthropology Today Middleton by making the sensory and intellectual challenge of culture shock so central to his pedagogic strategy has found common ground that should unite all schools of cultural anthropology The work brims with valuable insights that broaden possibilities to achieve rewarding human interaction whether in our own neighborhood or across the globe Arguably one of the best contemporary treatments of cultural diversity available the latest edition includes expanded discussions of applied anthropology and ethics

Anthropology Stanley Barrett, 2009-09-19 Stanley R Barrett s Anthropology has long been a premiere sourcebook for students providing a comprehensive overview of both theory and method in the discipline In this updated second edition Barrett s discussion of the origins and evolution of anthropology remains augmented by sections addressing recent changes and ongoing questions in the field The second edition of Anthropology adds important new material on questions of culture versus power Max Weber s thought the potential of applied anthropology and the rise of public anthropology while briefly touching on the anthropology of globalization As in the previous edition Barrett remains committed to exploring the impact of postmodernism on the practice and theory of anthropology positing that it is a formless and ultimately short lived approach Including case studies to demonstrate real world applications of the theories discussed Barrett s Anthropology remains an essential text for students and teachers of anthropology Archaeology of Religion Sharon R. Archaeology of Religion Sharon R. Steadman,2023-12-06 The new and updated edition of The Archaeology of Religion explores how archaeology interprets past religions offering insights into how archaeologists seek out the religious ritual and symbolic meaning behind what they discover in their research The book includes case studies from around the world from the study of Upper Palaeolithic and hunter gatherer religions to religious structures and practices in complex societies of the Americas Mesopotamia Egypt India and China Steadman also includes chapters on the origins and development of key contemporary religions Judaism Christianity Islam among others to provide an historical and comparative context Three main themes are threaded throughout the book These main themes involve the intersection between cultural and religious structures religion reflects culture including the importance of environment in shaping a culture s religion the role religion can sometimes play as a method of social control and the role religion can sometimes play as a key component in revitalizing a culture Updated with new discoveries and theories and with two new chapters Hunter Gatherer Religions and Cultures in East Asia and with new sections on Neolithic Western Asia the book remains an ideal introduction for courses that include a significant component on past cultures and their religions Savage Money C.A.
