The Ancient Egyptian Book of Thoth Richard Jasnow, Karl-Theodor Zauzich, 2005 The composition which the editors entitle the Book of Thoth is preserved on over forty Graeco Roman Period papyri from collections in Berlin Copenhagen Florence New Haven Paris and Vienna The central witness is a papyrus of fifteen columns in the Berlin Museum Written almost entirely in the Demotic script the Book of Thoth is probably the product of scribes of the House of Life the temple scriptorium It comprises largely a dialogue between a deity usually called He who praises knowledge presumably Thoth himself and a mortal He who loves knowledge The work covers such topics as the scribal craft sacred geography the underworld wisdom prophecy animal knowledge and temple ritual Particularly remarkable is one section the Vulture Text in which each of the 42 nomes of Egypt is identified with a vulture The language is poetic the lines are often clearly organized into verses The subject matter dialogue structure and striking phraseology raise many issues of scholarly interest especially intriguing are the possible connections between this Egyptian work in which Thoth is called thrice great and the classical Hermetic Corpus in which Hermes Trismegistos plays the key role The first volume comprises interpretative essays discussion of specific points such as the manuscript tradition script and language The core of the publication is the transliteration of the Demotic text translation and commentary A consecutive translation glossary bibliography and indices conclude the first volume The second volume contains photographs of the papyri almost all of which reproduce their original size Current Research in Egyptology 2007 Ken Griffin, 2008-05-01 The Eighth Annual Current Research in Egyptology Symposium CRE 2007 was held at Swansea University on the 19th 21st April The conference brought together graduate and postgraduate students of Egyptology from ten different countries contributing to a total of 40 presentations The range of topics included art and architecture archaeology literature and language history and society as well as scientific analysis spanning the entire epoch of Egyptian history from the Predynastic to the Coptic era The papers presented in the following volume represent a diverse range of topics and multidisciplinary approaches A Commemoration Ritual for Senwosret I Christina Geisen, 2018-12-31 A Commemoration Ritual for Senwosret I better known under the term Ramesseum Dramatic Papyrus is a document that was found in a late Middle Kingdom tomb in the Ramesseum necropolis together with other manuscripts and artifacts all primarily magico medical in function The present study discusses the occupation of the tomb owner based on an analysis of this exceptional find in its entirety The main core of the book is dedicated however to the Ramesseum Dramatic Papyrus It examines the fabrication of the manuscript and its present condition An updated translation and a grammatical analysis of the text are provided and a discussion of the relationship of myth and ritual as well as of the dramatic aspect of the ritual is included Based on the analysis of the content the participants in the ritual the representation of the king in the vignettes and relying on the comparison between the rites occurring in this document and those included in other royal and statue rituals attested from ancient Egypt it can be shown that the text features a ritual that was held in commemoration of the deceased king Senwosret I The book also includes photographs of the manuscript as well as digital drawings of the papyrus The Walking Dead at Saqqara Lara Weiss, 2022-06-21 Funerary rituals and the cult of the dead are classics of research in religious studies especially for ancient Egypt Still we know relatively little about how people interacted in daily life at the city of Memphis and its Saqqara necropolis in the late second millennium BCE By focussing on lived ancient religion we can see that the social and religious strategies employed by the individuals at Saqqara are not just means on the way to religious post mortem salvation nor is their self representation simply intended to manifest social status On the contrary the religious practices at Saqqara show in their complex spatiality a wide spectrum of options to configure sociality before and after one's own death The analytical distinction between religion and other forms of human practices and sociality illuminates the range of cultural practices and how people selected modified or even avoided certain religious practices As a result pre funerary funerary and practices of the subsequent mortuary cults in close connection with religious practices directed towards other ancestors and deities allow the formation of imagined and functioning reminiscence clusters as central social groups at Saqqara creating a heuristic model applicable also to other contexts The Sunshade Chapel of Meritaten from the House-of-Waenre of Akhenaten Josef Wegner, 2017-02-20 Introduction Provenance and object history The block and its decoration The Aten cartouches and epithets Architectural inlay Reconstruction of the Meritaten Sunshade chapel The chapel of Meritaten and the Amarna period Sunshades The House of Waenre A Heliopolitan Horizon of the Aten Damnatio memoriae Ramesside reuse at Heliopolis Reuse of the Meritaten sunshade block in Islamic Cairo Conclusions Gods in Dwellings Michael B. Hundley, 2013-11-10 In this book devoted exclusively to temples and perceptions of the divine presences that inhabit them Michael B Hundley focuses on the official religions of the ancient Near East and explores the interface between the human and the divine within temple environs Hundley identifies common ancient Near Eastern temple systems and examines issues that include what temple structures communicate how temples were understood to function temple ideology the installation of divine presence in a temple the connection between presence and physical representation and human service to the deity Drawing on architectural and spatial theory ritual theory theories of language art history archaeology sociocultural anthropology and comparative studies Hundley offers a single interpretive lens through which to view temple worship Features A close examination of temples in Egypt Mesopotamia Hittite Anatolia and Syria Palestine An interdisciplinary treatment of architecture language ritual and art A dual focus on how a deity's divine presence connects to space and art and how human service to the deity maintains the deity's active presence
