From the Monastery to the World Thomas Merton, Ernesto Cardenal, 2017-09-15 Thomas Merton and Ernesto Cardenal were both poets and priests wholly committed to a life of spiritual contemplation which was never far from the gritty work that lead them to risk life and reputation in order to raise worldwide consciousness concerning issues of social justice and the abuse of human rights From the Monastery to the World collects the complete correspondence between these spiritual men and dedicated activists translated into English for the first time The letters in this book written between Merton and Cardenal from 1959-1968 give us fascinating insights into the early spiritual and political awakenings of eventual Sandinista and exponent of liberation theology Ernesto Cardenal who was then a novice leaving the Trappist Monastery in Kentucky where he first met Merton While making the long trip home to Nicaragua to build a utopian artist's commune on the Island of Solentiname Cardenal rubs elbows with some of Latin America's greatest writers and artists of that time In From the Monastery to the World Cardenal is still a hungry pupil years away from becoming the internationally renowned poet statesman and Nicaraguan Minister of Culture Here we see the poet and monk Thomas Merton as a wise patient and sometimes even humbled mentor during the years when he was still shaping and collecting the raw materials for such writings as The Way of Chuang Tzu Raids on the Unspeakable and Conjectures of a Guilty Bystander Merton and Cardenal's correspondence grants readers an audience to conversations between two men deeply connected by their vigorous endeavors toward spiritual freedom voracious intellectual appetites and artistic exploration despite the cultural differences language barriers and geographic distances which divide them

Confessions of Faith in Early Modern England Brooke Conti, 2014-01-18 As seventeenth century England wrestled with the aftereffects of the Reformation the personal frequently conflicted with the political In speeches political pamphlets and other works of religious controversy writers from the reign of James I to that of James II unexpectedly erupt into autobiography John Milton famously interrupts his arguments against episcopacy with autobiographical accounts of his poetic hopes and dreams while John Donne's attempts to describe his conversion from Catholicism wind up obscuring rather than explaining Similar moments appear in the works of Thomas Browne John Bunyan and the two King Jameses themselves These autobiographies are familiar enough that their peculiarities have frequently been overlooked in scholarship but as Brooke Conti notes they sit uneasily within their surrounding material as well as within the conventions of confessional literature that preceded them Confessions of Faith in Early Modern England positions works such as Milton's political tracts Donne's polemical and devotional prose Browne's Religio Medici and Bunyan's Grace Abounding to the Chief of Sinners as products of the era's tense political climate illuminating how the pressures of public self declaration and allegiance led to autobiographical writings that often concealed more than they revealed For these authors autobiography was less a genre than a device to negotiate competing political personal and psychological demands The complex works Conti explores provide a privileged window into the pressures placed on early modern religious identity underscoring that it was no simple matter for these authors to tell the truth of their interior life even to themselves
