Contributors from a range of disciplines consider the disconnect between human evolutionary studies and the rest of evolutionary biology The study of human evolution often seems to rely on scenarios and received wisdom rather than theory and methodology with each new fossil or molecular analysis interpreted as supporting evidence for the presumed lineage of human ancestry We might wonder why we should pursue new inquiries if we already know the story Is paleoanthropology an evolutionary science Are analyses of human evolution biological In this volume contributors from disciplines that range from paleoanthropology to philosophy of science consider the disconnect between human evolutionary studies and the rest of evolutionary biology All of the contributors reflect on their own research and its disciplinary context considering how their fields of inquiry can move forward in new ways The goal is to encourage a more multifaceted intellectual environment for the understanding of human evolution Topics discussed include paleoanthropology s history of procedural idiosyncrasies the role of mind and society in our evolutionary past humans as large mammals rather than a special case genomic analyses computational approaches to phylogenetic reconstruction descriptive morphology versus morphometrics and integrating insights from archaeology into the interpretation of human fossils Contributors Markus Bastir Fred L Bookstein Claudine Cohen Richard G Delisle Robin Dennell Rob DeSalle John de Vos Emma M Finestone Huw S Groucutt Gabriele A Macho Fabrizio Mc Manus Apurva Narechania Michael D Petraglia Thomas W Plummer J W F Reumer Jeff Rosenfeld Jeffrey H Schwartz Dietrich Stout Ian Tattersall Alan R Templeton Michael Tessler Peter J Waddell Martine Zilversmit Biocultural

Evolution Pandey,Gaya,2010-08 The Human Lineage Matt Cartmill,Fred H. Smith,2009-03-30 This textbook aimed at advanced undergraduates and postgraduates in paleoanthropology courses tackles a rather difficult task that of presenting the substantial body of paleontological genetic geological and archaeological evidence regarding human evolution and the associated scientific history in a logical and readable way without sacrificing either clarity or detail the sheer quality of the writing and explanatory synthesis in this book will undoubtedly make it a valuable resource for students for many years PaleoAnthropology 2010 This book focuses on the last ten million years of human history from the hominoid radiations to the emergence and diversification of modern humanity It draws upon the fossil record to shed light on the key scientific issues principles methods and history in paleoanthropology The book proceeds through the fossil record of human evolution by historical stages representing the acquisition of major human features that explain the success and distinctive properties of modern Homo sapiens Key features Provides thorough coverage of the fossil record and sites with data on key variables such as cranial capacity and body size estimates Offers a balanced critical assessment of the interpretative models explaining pattern in the fossil record Each chapter incorporates a Blind Alley box focusing on once prevalent ideas now rejected such as the arboreal theory seed eating single species hypothesis and Piltdown man Promotes critical thinking by students while allowing instructors flexibility in structuring their teaching Densely illustrated with informative well labelled anatomical drawings and photographs Includes an annotated bibliography for advanced inquiry Written by established leaders in the field providing depth of expertise on evolutionary theory and anatomy through to functional morphology this textbook is essential reading for all advanced undergraduate students and beginning graduate students in biological anthropology

Human Adaptation Yehudi A. Cohen, 2017-07-12 Underlying the anthropological study of humans is the principle that there is a reality to which a human must adapt for survival Populations must adapt to the realities of the physical world and maintain a proper fit between their biological makeup and the pressures of the various niches of the world Social groups must develop adaptive mechanisms in the organization of their social relations if there is to be order regularity and predictability in patterns of cooperation and competition This book presents an introduction to anthropology that is unified and made systematic by its focus on adaptations that have accompanied the evolution of humans from non human primates to inhabitants of vast urban areas in modern industrial societies Human Adaptation contains over forty outstanding essays that are intended to serve as an introduction to physical anthropology archeology and linguistics from the point of view of the processes of adaptation The organization of these selections contains a balance between biological and prehistoric cultural adaptations They provide coherence for the study of human evolution Several selections notably those in connection with linguistic adaptations deal with contemporary people in order to shed light on earlier evolutionary processes More than half of the selections deal with biological evolution This volume unifies the subject matter of anthropology within a single and powerful explanatory framework and incorporates the work of the most renowned anthropological experts on man The Cambridge History of Africa J. D. Fage, Roland Anthony Oliver, 1975 Volume I examines African prehistory from the time of the first hominids in the Plio Pleistocene up to the spread of iron technology after c 500 BC A Prehistory of the North John F. Hoffecker, 2005 Annotation Early humans did not drift north from Africa as their ability to cope with cooler climates evolved Settlement of Europe and northern Asia occurred in relatively rapid bursts of expansion This study tells the complex story spanning almost two million years of how humans inhabited some of the coldest places on earth Human Prehistory in Fiction Charles De Paolo, 2015-09-11 What was the world like for people thousands of years ago How can we know Through fiction This is a work of literary criticism and more It begins with a discussion of the problem of authenticity and then considers twelve pieces of fiction that depict human prehistory H G Wells The Island of Doctor Moreau Pierre Boulle s The Planet of the Apes Jules Verne s The Village in the Treetops Edgar Rice Burroughs The Land That Time Forgot the struggle for legitimacy in Wells The Grisly Folk the Tasmanian analogue in Lester Del Rey s The Day Is Done William Golding

Klein, 2024-05-31 Since its publication in 1989 The Human Career has proved to be an indispensable tool in teaching human origins This substantially revised third edition retains Richard G Klein s innovative approach while showing how cumulative discoveries and analyses over the past ten years have significantly refined our knowledge of human evolution Klein chronicles the evolution of people from the earliest primates through the emergence of fully modern humans within the past 200 000 years His comprehensive treatment stresses recent advances in knowledge including for example ever more abundant evidence that fully modern humans originated in Africa and spread from there replacing the Neanderthals in Europe and equally archaic people in Asia With its coverage of both the fossil record and the archaeological record over the 2.5 million years for which both are available The Human Career demonstrates that human morphology and behavior evolved together Throughout the book Klein presents evidence for alternative points of view but does not hesitate to make his own position clear In addition to outlining the broad pattern of human evolution The Human Career details the kinds of data that support it For the third edition Klein has added numerous tables and a fresh citation system designed to enhance readability especially for students He has also included more than fifty new illustrations to help lay readers grasp the fossils artifacts and other discoveries on which specialists rely With abundant references and hundreds of images charts and diagrams this new edition is unparalleled in its usefulness for teaching human evolution The Jesuit and the Skull Amir Aczel, 2008-11-04 From the New York Times bestselling author of Fermat s Last Theorem an extraordinary story Philadelphia Inquirer of discovery evolution science and faith In 1929 French Jesuit priest Pierre Teilhard de Chardin was a part of a group of scientists that uncovered a skull that became known as Peking Man a key evolutionary link that left Teilhard torn between science and his ancient faith and would leave him ostracized by his beloved Catholic Church His struggle is at the heart of The Jesuit and the Skull which takes readers across continents and cultures in a fascinating exploration of one of the twentieth century s most important discoveries and one of the world s most provocative pieces of evidence in the roiling debate between creationism and evolution Advances in Psychological Science, Volume 2 Fergus Craik, Michele Robert, Michel Sabourin, 2014-01-21 The chapters in this volume are the edited versions of invited addresses to the XXVI International Congress of Psychology held in Montr al in August 1996 As one major goal of the Congress was to promote communication among specializations in scientific psychology the speakers were asked to survey their research area and present their own work in a way that would be accessible to their colleagues in other areas Another purpose of the meeting was to bring researchers together from different parts of the world reflecting their different approaches to the scientific study of mind brain and behavior Consequently the eminent researchers who have written the

Ride of the Second Horseman Robert L. O'Connell, 1997-10-23 In Ride of the Second Horseman Robert L. O'Connell probes the distant human past to show how and why war arose concluding that it is an invention an institution that formed due to very specific historical circumstances an institution that now verges on extinction He begins with a definition that distinguishes between war and mere feuding and draws on anthropology and archeology to locate the rise of war sometime after the human transition from nomadic hunting and gathering to agriculture when society split between farmers and pastoralists O'Connell explores the histories of the civilizations of ancient Sumeria Egypt Assyria China and the New World showing how war came to each and how it adapted to varying circumstances Studying societies based on trade he finds that they employed war much more selectively and pragmatically Thus Minoan Crete long protected from marauding pastoralists developed a wealthy mercantile society marked by unmilitaristic attitudes equality between men and women and a relative absence of class distinctions In Assyria by contrast war came to be an end in itself in a culture dominated by male warriors Despite the violence in the world today O'Connell finds reason for hope The industrial revolution broke the old patterns of subsistence war no longer serves the demographic purpose it once did Fascinating and provocative Ride of the Second Horseman offers a far reaching tour of human history that suggests the age old cycle of war may now be near its end Three Big Bangs Holmes Rolston III,2010-10-11 By dividing the creation of matter energy life and mind into three big bangs Holmes Rolston III brings into focus a history of the universe that respects both scientific discovery and the potential presence of an underlying intelligence Matter energy appears initially in simpler forms but with a remarkable capacity for generating heavier elements The size and expansion rate of the universe the nature of electromagnetism gravity and nuclear forces enable the the explosion of life on Earth DNA discovers stores and transfers information generating billions of species Cognitive capacities escalate and with neural sentience this results in human genius A massive singularity the human mind gives birth to language and culture increasing the brain s complexity and promoting the spread of ideas Ideas generate ideals which lead life to take on spirit The nature of matter energy genes and their genesis therefore encourages humans to wonder where they are who they are and what they should do Human origin sites and the World Heritage Convention in Africa - N° 33 Nuria Sanz,2012 Uses examples of artistic work in all media in order to show how contemporary artists have adapted their vision in a manipulation of modern materials to satisfy mankind s needs for spiritual satisfaction through art A View to a Death in the Morning Matt Cartmill,2009-07-01 A View to a Death in the Morning shows us how hunting has figured in the Western imagination from the myth of Artemis to the tale of Bambi This book will captivate readers on every side of the dilemma from the most avid hunters to their most vehement opponents to those who simply wonder about the importance of hunting in human nature Culture and the Evolutionary Process Robert Boyd,Peter J. Richerson,1988-06-15 How do biological psychological sociological and cultural factors combine to change societies over the long run Boyd and Richerson explore how genetic and cultural factors interact under the influence of evolutionary forces to produce the diversity we see in human cultures Using methods developed by population biologists they propose a theory of cultural evolution that is an original and fair minded alternative to the sociobiology debate
