The Earthen Long Barrow in Britain Paul Ashbee,1970 The Earthen Long Barrow in Britain Paul Ashbee,1970 The Earthen Long Barrow in Britain Paul Ashbee,1984 British and Irish Archaeology ,1994 Houses of the Dead Alistair Barclay,David Field,Jim Leary,2020-02-28 The chronological disjuncture LBK longhouses have widely been considered to provide ancestral influence for both rectangular and trapezoidal long barrows and cairns but with the discovery and excavation of more houses in recent times is it possible to observe evidence of more contemporary inspiration What do the features found beneath long mounds tell us about this and to what extent do they represent domestic structures Indeed how can we distinguish between domestic houses or halls and those that may have been constructed for ritual purposes or ended up beneath mounds Do so called mortuary enclosures reflect ritual or domestic architecture and did side ditches always provide material for a mound or for building construction This collection of papers seeks to explore the interface between structures often considered to be those of the living with those for the dead Prehistoric Britain from the Air Timothy Darvill,1996-07-04 This book provides a bird s eye look at the monumental achievements of Britain s earliest inhabitants Arranged thematically it illustrates and describes a wide selection of archaeological sites and landscapes dating from between 500 000 years ago and the Roman conquest Timothy Darvill brings to life many of the familiar sites and monuments that prehistoric communities built and exposes to view many thousands of sites that simply cannot be seen at ground level Throughout the book he makes a unique application of social archaeology to the field of aerial photography

The Ancient Burial-mounds of England L.V. Grinsell,2014-10-24 First published in 1936 and rewritten in 1953 this book embodies the results of the author s extensive researches and fieldwork Part one considers types of barrows and dating their building and the cult of the dead from Palaeolithic to Saxon times A chapter is dedicated to maps and another to fieldwork in particular while the final bit of the introductory material discussed barrow digging from the time of the Romans to the twentieth century Part two is the regional surveys from Cornwall to Kent and northwards to the Scottish border The Social Archaeology of Funerary Remains Rebecca Gowland,Christopher Knusel,2009-04-06 Human bones form the most direct link to understanding how people lived in the past who they were and where they came from The interpretative value of human skeletal remains within their burial context in terms of past social identity and organisation is awesome but was for many years underexploited by archaeologists The nineteen papers in this edited volume are an attempt to redress this by marrying the cultural aspects of burial with the anthropology of the deceased The Agrarian History of England and Wales: Volume 1, Prehistory to AD 1042 Stuart Piggott,Joan Thirsk,2011-04-28 This volume surveys the evolution of the man made landscape in Britain over the period of some three millennia before the Roman conquest Neolithic Britain Rodney Castleden,2014-10-24 The climax of the Stone Age in Britain the Neolithic period 4700 2000BC was a period of startling achievement The British Isles are rich in Neolithic sites which give us evidence of a complex and surprisingly developed archaic society The author surveys 1100 secular and ceremonial sites in Britain selecting some for detailed explanation from these a sense of the diversity and dynamism of the living Neolithic communities emerges He presents a comprehensive profusely illustrated and up to date view of the Neolithic organised by county Archaeologists and prehistorians will find this book of interest and it should prove indispensable to students of archaeology as a source of information about the British Neolithic

The Birth of Neolithic Britain Julian Thomas,2013-11 The beginning of the Neolithic in Britain marks the end of a hunter gatherer way of life with the introduction of domesticated plants and animals polished stone tools and a range of new monuments Julian Thomas offers a coherent argument to explain the process of transition between the Mesolithic and Neolithic periods

England Timothy Darvill,Jane Timby,Paul Stamper,2002 Traveling around England is in many senses a journey back in time On all sides and sometimes even under the road or footpath itself there are fragments of the ancient past alongside the clutter of the modern world Medieval villages castles ancient churches and Roman villas are commonplace and take us back to the time of Christ And far older yet equally abundant are the barrows hillforts stone circles camps standing stones trackways and other relics of prehistoric times Now thanks to these three archaeologists each a specialist in one of the three periods covered by the Guide prehistoric Roman and medieval readers have the chance to not only explore but to understand in context these fascinating sites and ruins In addition to reporting on such well known sites as Stonehenge and Hadrian's Wall and cities such as London and York which themselves offer a wealth of archaeological remains the book also covers smaller lesser known sites throughout the country An introductory section provides background to the monuments and a reference section provides definitions further reading and information about museum collections Finally there are 200 photographs plans and maps that depict and describe these ancient remains in detail

The Stonehenge People Rodney Castleden,2002-01-31 First published in 1990 Of all the monuments left by the past Stonehenge is the most evocative the most memorable and the most mysterious Whilst the monuments of other cultures have gradually surrendered their mysteries Stonehenge alone seems to stimulate endless conjecture Rodney Castleden s vivid presentation of the world of the megaliths answers many of the most baffling questions about Stonehenge There are he stresses few absolute certainties but from the vast body of evidence assembled during the last hundred years it is now possible to get much closer to the truth than ever before Who built the monuments and for what purpose How were the bluestones moved from the sacred mountains of the west to Salisbury Plain Who were the people responsible for this amazing undertaking and what did they think and believe
