economic analysis incentives equilibrium optimization to bear on racial issues From health care housing and education to employment wealth and crime he shows how racial differences powerfully determine American lives and how progress in one area is often constrained by diminishing returns in another The Economics of Crime Harold Winter,2008-05-09 Since Gary Becker's seminal article in the late sixties the economic analysis of crime has blossomed from an interesting side field within law and economics into a mature stand alone sub discipline that has been embraced by many well respected academic economists Wide ranging and accessible this is the most up to date textbook in this area The Socio-economics of Crime and Justice Brian Forst,2016-06-16 This book on crime and justice is motivated primarily by the idea that individual behaviour is influenced both by self interest and by conscience or by a sense of community responsibility Forst has assembled a collection of authors who are writing in four parts 1 the philosophical foundations and the moral dimension of crime and punishment 2 the sense of community and the way it influences the problem of crime 3 on offenders and offences and 4 on the response of the criminal justice system The Economics of Structural Racism Patrick L. Mason,2023-04-13 This extensive and comprehensive book tracks persistent racial disparities in the US across multiple regimes of structural racism It begins with an examination of the economics of racial identity mechanisms of stratification and regimes of structural racism It analyzes trends in racial inequality in education and changes in family structure since the demise of Jim Crow The book also examines generational trends in income wealth and employment for families and individuals by race gender and national region It explores economic differences among African Americans by region ethnicity nativity gender and racial identity Finally the book provides a theoretical analysis of structural racism productivity and wages with a special focus on the role of managers and instrumental discrimination inside the firm The book concludes with an investigation of instrumental discrimination hate crimes the criminal legal system and the impact of mass incarceration on family structure and economic inequality Race, Crime, and Justice Shaun Gabbidon,Helen Taylor Greene,2013-10-18 A comprehensive collection of the essential writings on race and crime this important Reader spans more than a century and clearly demonstrates the long standing difficulties minorities have faced with the justice system The editors skillfully draw on the classic work of such thinkers as W E B DuBois and Gunnar Myrdal as well as the contemporary work of scholars such as Angela Davis Joan Petersilia John Hagen and Robert Sampson This anthology also covers all of the major topics and issues from policing courts drugs and urban violence to inequality racial profiling and capital punishment This is required reading for courses in criminology and criminal justice legal studies sociology social work and race Encyclopedia of Race and Crime Helen Taylor Greene,Shaun L. Gabbidon,2009-04-14 The organization of the reader's guide especially the groupings of landmark cases race riots and criminology theories is impressive Other related titles lack the breadth detail and accessibility of this work Recommended for all libraries essential for comprehensive social studies collections Library Journal As seen almost daily on local and national news race historically and presently figures prominently in crime and justice reporting within the United States in the areas of hate crimes racial profiling sentencing disparities wrongful convictions felon disenfranchisement political prisoners juveniles and the death penalty and culturally specific delinquency prevention programs The Encyclopedia of Race and Crime covers issues in both historical and contemporary context with information on race and ethnicity and their impact on crime and the administration of justice These two volumes offer a greater appreciation for the similar historical experiences of varied racial and ethnic groups and illustrate how race and ethnicity has mattered and continues to matter in the administration of American criminal justice Key Features Covers a number of broad thematic areas basic concepts and theories of criminal justice the police courts and corrections juvenile justice public policy the media organizations specific groups and populations and specific cases and biographies Addresses such topics as gender hate bias crimes immigrant experiences international and cross cultural issues race and gangs and race and law Presents experiences of all major racial and ethnic groups in the U S including Asians Blacks Latinos Native Americans and Ethnic Whites as well as religious minorities such as Muslims Includes coverage of recent incidents like the alleged rape of a black female North Carolina Central University student by white male members of the Duke University Lacrosse Team the Jena 6 incident the Tulsa Texas drug arrests the Rodney King beating the O J Simpson trials in the 1990s and more recent racial profiling incidents Two appendices provide information on locating and interpreting statistical data on race and crime as well as detailed instructions on how to access statistical data on the web for such specific areas as arrests drugs gang membership hate crimes homicide trends juvenile justice prison populations racial profiling the death penalty and victimization Because the topic of race and crime is of wide interest and relevance entries in this Encyclopedia are written in an accessible style to appeal to a broad audience making it a welcome addition to academic and public libraries alike African American

Classics in Criminology and Criminal Justice Shaun L Gabbidon, Helen Taylor Greene, Vernetta D Young, 2002

Congratulations to SAGE author Shaun L Gabbidon for becoming the second scholar in the college's history to be named a Distinguished Professor by the University's Office of the President Pennsylvania State University Harrisburg This collection of writings is crucially important in part because it reminds us the theoretical paradigms of these and other African American scholars are excluded when crime its causes and its control are discussed by criminologists criminal justice practitioners and policy makers To understand crime fully the perspectives advanced by these scholars must become an integral part of discussions about who is a criminal and which public policies will best control crime From the forward by Anne Thomas Sulton Ph D J D From W E B Dubois through Lee Brown this anthology provides a collection of the key articles in criminology and criminal justice written by black scholars Available in a single volume for the first time the articles collected in this book reflect the voices of African American scholars and display the diversity of perspectives sought after in today's academic community Crime in the African American community is examined from social economic and political perspectives and the historical context of each article is provided by the editors Spanning the 20th century these works present a historical chronology of African American views on crime and its control with theoretical perspectives that have often been tangential to mainstream scholarship For your courses in Criminological Theory Race and Crime Crime and Social Policy Minorities and Criminal Justice

Race, Markets, and Social Outcomes Patrick L. Mason, Rhonda M. Williams, 2012-12-06 THE JANUS FACE OF RACE REFLECTIONS ON ECONOMIC THEORY Patrick L. Mason and Rhonda Williams Many economists are willing to accept that race is a significant factor in US economic and social affairs Yet the professional literature displays a peculiar schizoid phrenia when faced with the task of actually formulating what race means and how race works in our political economy On the one hand race matters when the discussion is focused on anti social behavior social choices and undesired market outcomes Inexplicably African Americans are more likely to prefer welfare lower labor force participation and unemployment On the other hand race does not matter when the subject of discussion is economically productive or socially acceptable activities and legal market choices for example wages and employment This Janus faced construction of race is maintained by economists stubborn adherence to the market power hypothesis The market power hypothesis asserts that racial discrimination and market competition are inversely correlated Discriminatory behavior will persist only in those sectors of society where the competitive forces of the market are least operative When applied to the labor market the market power hypothesis suggests that pre and post labor market decisions represent disjoint sets On average members of a disadvantaged social group may accumulate a lower amount of or a lower quality of productive attributes because of discrimination in marital residential or school choice or because of substantial animosity in day to day interpersonal relations with members of a privileged group

Race to Incarcerate Marc Mauer, 2006-04-28 In this revised edition of his seminal book on race class and the criminal justice system Marc Mauer executive director of one of the United States leading criminal justice reform organizations offers the most up to date look available at three decades of prison expansion in America Including newly written material on recent developments under the Bush administration and updated statistics graphs and charts throughout the book tells the tragic story of runaway growth in the number of prisons and jails and the overreliance on imprisonment to stem problems of economic and social development Called sober and nuanced by Publishers Weekly Race to Incarcerate documents the enormous financial and human toll of the get tough movement and argues for more humane and productive alternatives

The Economic Approach to Law, Second Edition, 2009 Designed specifically for economics students The Economic Approach to Law 2nd Edition provides an introductory treatment of law and economics revealing how economic principles explain the structure of the law and how they can help make the law more efficient To that end the author focuses on unifying themes in the field rather than exhaustively covering legal topics and thus provides a more analytical treatment of the subject The second edition includes current research into the economics of common law areas such as torts contracts and property law The revised text also offers a new chapter that explores how economics can be applied to anti trust law as well as added material on intellectual property This edition features an expanded suite of exercises and problems at the end of each chapter to encourage students to do law and economics A companion web site offers a full suite of resources for students and professors Key pedagogical features include cases discussion points that provide additional analysis of topics in the book graduate notes which deepen the text for more advanced readers and relevant Web links Professors have access to sample syllabi for undergraduate and graduate courses and to an instructor's manual providing suggested answers to all of the end of chapter questions problems in the book

The Handbook of Economic Development and Institutions Jean-Marie Baland, François Bourguignon, Jean-Philippe Platteau, Thierry Verdier, 2020-01-21 The essential role institutions play in understanding economic development has long been recognised and has been closely studied across the social sciences but some of the most high profile work has been done by economists many of whom are included in this collection covering a wide range of topics including the relationship between institutions and growth educational systems the role of the media and the intersection between traditional systems of patronage and political institutions Each chapter covers the frontier research in its area and points to new areas of research and is the product of extensive workshopping and editing The editors have also written an excellent introduction which brings together the key themes of the handbook The list of contributors is stellar Steven Durlauf Throsten Beck Bob Allen and includes a diverse mix of Western and non Western male and female scholars

Hate Crimes Barbara Perry, 2009-03-05 This book offers a comprehensive approach to understanding hate crime its causes consequences prevention and prosecution Hate crimes continue to be a pervasive problem in the United States The murder of Matthew Shepard the lynching of James Byrd the murderous rampage of Benjamin Smith and anti Muslim violence remind us that incidence of deadly bigotry is not only a recurring chapter in U S history but also a part of our present day world Contrary to common belief hate mongers who commit crimes are rarely members of the Ku Klux Klan or a skinhead group In fact fewer than 5 percent of identifiable offenders are members of organized hate groups Yet rather than being an individual crime hate crime represents an assault against all members of stigmatized and marginalized communities To fully understand the phenomenon of hate crime and reduce its incidence it is necessary to clearly define the term itself to examine the victims and the offenders and to evaluate the consequences and harms of hate crimes This comprehensive five volume set carefully addresses the disturbing variety and incidence of hate crimes exposing their impacts on the broader realms of crime punishment individual communities and society The contributing authors and editors pay critical attention to cutting edge topics such as online hate crimes hate based music anti Latino hostilities Islamophobia hate crimes in the War on Terror school based anti hate initiatives and more The final volume of Hate Crimes provides valuable food for thought on possible legislative educational social policy or community organizational responses to the varied forms of hate crime

The Economics of Empire Maureen E. Ruprecht Fadem, Michael O'Sullivan, 2020-12-30 The Economics of Empire Genealogies of Capital and the Colonial Encounter is a multidisciplinary intervention into postcolonial theory that constructs and theorizes a political economy of empire This comprehensive collection traces the financial genealogies associated with the colonial enterprise the strategies of economic precarity the pedigrees of capital and the narratives of exploitation that underlay and determined the course of modern history One of the first attempts to take this approach in postcolonial studies the book seeks to sketch the commensal relation a symbiotic phoresy between capitalism and colonialism reading them as linked structures that carried and sustained each other through and across the modern era The scholars represented here are all postcolonial critics working in a range of disciplines including Political Science Sociology History Peace and Conflict Studies Legal Studies and Literary Criticism exploring the connections between empire and capital and the historical and political implications of that structural hinge Each author engages existing postcolonial and poststructuralist theory and criticism while bridging it over to research and analytic lenses less frequently engaged by postcolonial critics In so doing they devise novel intersectional and interdisciplinary frameworks through which to produce more greatly nuanced understandings of imperialism capitalism and their inextricable relation new postcolonial critiques of empire for the twenty first century This book will be an excellent resource for students and researchers of Postcolonial Studies Literature History Sociology Economics Political Science and International Studies among others

Racism in the United States Meyer Weinberg, 1990-05-21 This volume represents the most comprehensive book length bibliography on the subject of racism available in the United States Compiler Meyer Weinberg has surveyed a wide ranging group of material and classified it under 87 subject headings drawing on articles books congressional hearings and reports theses and dissertations research reports and investigative journalism Historical references cover the long history of racism while the heightened awareness and activity of the recent past is also addressed in detail In addition to works that fit the narrow definition of racism as a mode of oppression or group denial of rights based on color Weinberg includes references dealing with sexism antisemitism economic exploitation and similar forms of dehumanization References are grouped under a series of subject headings that include Civil Rights Desegregation Housing Socialism and Racism Unemployment and Violence against Minorities Items which do not have self explanatory titles are annotated and virtually every section is thoroughly cross referenced Also included is one section of carefully selected references on racism in countries other than the United States Unlike the remainder of the book this section is not comprehensive but rather provides an opportunity to view racism comparatively The volume concludes with an author index This work will be a significant addition to both academic and public libraries as well as an important resource for courses in racism sociology and black history

Race and the Making of American Political Science Jessica Blatt, 2018-03-13 Race and the Making of American Political Science shows that changing scientific ideas about racial difference were central to the academic study of politics as it emerged in the United States From the late nineteenth century through the 1930s scholars of politics defined and continually reoriented their field in response to the political imperatives of the racial order at home and abroad as well to as the vagaries of race science The Gilded Age scholars who founded the first university departments and journals located sovereignty and legitimacy in a Teutonic germ of liberty planted in the new world by Anglo Saxon settlers and almost extinguished in the conflict over slavery Within a generation Teutonism would come to seem like philosophical speculation but well into the twentieth century major political scientists understood racial difference to be a fundamental shaper of political life They wove popular and scientific ideas about race into their accounts of political belonging of progress and change of proper hierarchy and of democracy and its warrants And they attended closely to new developments in race science viewing them as central to their own core questions In doing so they constructed models of human difference and political life that still exert a powerful hold on our political imagination today in and outside of the academy By tracing this history Jessica Blatt effects a bold reinterpretation of the origins of U S political science one that embeds that history in larger processes of the coproduction of racial ideas racial oppression and political knowledge
