The Edifice African Writers Ser:

The Edifice Kole Omotoso, 2023-11-01 The Edifice tells the tale of a Nigerian student in a predominantly white university and the slow painful deterioration of his marriage to an English woman In this debut novel Kole Omotoso captures the alienating experiences of a Black man living in 1960s Britain Dele is a graduate from one of Nigeria's most prestigious universities After receiving an offer to study in Britain he is eager to travel overseas and earn his Doctorate degree But soon the small significant moments of prejudice he encounters each day leave Dele feeling unhappy and isolated From the tangible coldness of his fellow students to the demeaning depiction of Africa in the press he reluctantly concedes that this is not a place he can ever call home Disheartened the only remaining light in his life is his relationship with another student named Daisy Daisy can see that Dele's love for her is overshadowed by the intolerance he faces So she makes the life changing decision to move back with him to Nigeria and leave everything she's ever known behind But the decision Daisy thought would cement their love ultimately leads to its disastrous collapse African Writers Series, 1983 The Southern African Impossible Book Quiz Book Robin Malan, 2005 The author a fanatical motor sport enthusiast has spent seventeen years writing and compiling this work which confirms Kyalami as synonymous with motor racing in South Africa Catalog of the Melville J. (patrologue.),1994 Books Abroad Roy Temple House,1972 Re-Inventing the Postcolonial (in the) Metropolis Cecile Sandten,Annika Bauer,2016-09-27 The notion of the postcolonial metropolis has gained prominence in the last two decades both within and beyond postcolonial studies Disciplines such as sociology and urban studies however have tended to focus on the economic inequalities class disparities and other structural and formative aspects of the postcolonial metropolises that are specific to Western conceptions of the city at large It is only recently that the depiction of postcolonial metropolises has been addressed in the writings of Suketu Mehta Chris Abani Amit Chaudhuri Salman Rushdie Aravind Adiga Helon Habila Sefi Atta and Zakes Mda among others Most of these works probe the urban specifics and physical and cultural topographies of postcolonial cities while highlighting their agential capacity to defy appropriate and abrogate the superimposition of theories of Western modernity and urbanism These ASNEL Papers are all concerned with the idea of the postcolonial in the metropolis from various disciplinary viewpoints as drawn from a great range of cityscapes spread out over five continents The essays explore on the one hand ideas of spatial subdivision and inequality political repression social discrimination economic exploitation and cultural alienation and on the other the possibility of transforming reinventing and reconfiguring the postcolonial condition in and through literary texts and visual narratives In this context the volume covers a broad spectrum of theoretical and thematic approaches to postcolonial and metropolitan topographies and their depictions in writings from Australia and New Zealand South Africa South Asia and greater Asia as well as the UK addressing issues such as modernity and market economies but also caste class and social and linguistic aspects At the same time they reflect on the postcolonial metropolis and postcolonialism in the metropolis by concentrating on an urban imaginary which turns on notions of spatial subdivision and inequality political repression social discrimination economic exploitation and cultural alienation as the continuing postcolonial condition Africa in Literature ,1993 Reading Contemporary African Literature Reuben Makayiko Chirambo,J. K. S. Makokha,2013 Reading Contemporary African Literature brings together scholarship on critical debates about and examples of reading African literature in all genres poetry fiction and drama including popular culture The anthology offers studies of African literature from interdisciplinary perspectives that employ sociological historical and ethnographic besides literary analysis of the literatures It has assembled critical and researched essays on a range of topics theoretical and empirical by renowned critics and theorists of African literature that evaluate and provide examples of reading African literature that should be of interest to academics researchers and students of African literature culture and history amongst other subjects Some of the essays examine authors that have received little or no attention to date in books on recent African literature These essays provide new insights and scholarship that should broaden and deepen our understanding and appreciation of African literature Encyclopedia of African Literature Simon Gikandi,2003-09-02
