National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.),1971 The Physiology of Reproduction Ernst Knobil,Jimmy D. Neill,1988 Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.),1983 First multi year cumulation covers six years 1965 70 Asdell's Patterns of Mammalian Reproduction Virginia

Douglass Hayssen, Ari Van Tienhoven, Ans Van Tienhoven, 1993 Since the appearance of the second edition of Sydney A Asdell's widely used Patterns of Mammalian Reproduction in 1964 the field of reproductive physiology has expanded dramatically. Accordingly this revision adopts a different structure from previous editions substituting empirical delineations for physiological interpretations. With the emphases now on a presentation of the published facts of mammalian reproduction it provides a thorough compilation of what is known about the basic reproductive biology of each of the 4300 mammalian species. To gather information the authors examined more than 20 000 publications dating up to 1992. They used primary sources as much as possible supplementing them with English translations of Russian, Finnish, Chinese and Japanese journals. The data are presented in taxonomic order. Each familial account summarizes the pattern of reproduction for the family and provides lists of citations arranged by topic of the literature on the endocrinology, reproductive anatomy and reproductive physiology of the family. Following each account is a tabular listing of species specific data for neonatal mass and size, weaning mass and size, litter size, age at sexual maturity, estrous cycle length, gestation length, lactation length, number of litters per year and seasonality of reproduction. For each of these reproductive variables the range of data gleaned from the literature is given together with the source of each value listed. Virginia Hayssen is Assistant Professor of Biology at Smith College. Ari Van Tienhoven is Professor of Animal Physiology Emeritus at Cornell University. Ans Van Tienhoven assisted in the compilation of data for the book Reproductive Physiology of Marsupials. C. Hugh Tyndale-Biscoe, Marilyn Renfree, 1987-01-30 The results of this compilation of new research on the reproductive physiology of marsupials reveal much about their patterns of reproduction and evolution in comparison to monotremes and eutherians. New Clinical Issues in in Vitro Fertilization, 1985 Endocrinology of Pregnancy. Fuller W. Bazer, 2012-12-06 A comprehensive cutting edge review of the complex interactions between maternal and fetal/placental tissues that control the establishment and maintenance of pregnancy, the proper development of the fetus, the birth process and the behavioral aspects of bonding between mother and newborn. Expert researchers review the endocrine and physiological events that culminate in the delivery of offspring and provide a solid base of comparative information on the menstrual cycle of primates including humans. They also discuss the sources and functions of both steroid and protein hormones from the placenta and the details of their effects on uterine function, placental development, fetal growth and well being and maternal responses to pregnancy. This book will become the standard reference source not only for reproductive scientists but also for those clinicians who want better to understand the complex factors that affect pregnancy and their pregnant patients. Fertilization of the Human Egg In Vitro. Henning M. Beier, H. R. Lindner, 2012-12-06 The Organon Symposia have actually become a tradition keeping up with exciting developments in reproductive medicine. The purpose of this symposium on Fertilization of the Human Egg in Vitro was to bring together the still limited number of clinical specialists in the field and to stimulate another group of basic research people to exchange their experiences and knowledge hopefully promoting close cooperation between the two groups. It was a kind of scientific first that all research teams so far successful in achieving the birth of a healthy baby fertilized in vitro came together at a workshop conference without a large audience of spectators and reporters but with a small number of highly critical colleagues from the fields of basic reproductive physiology and comparative developmental biology This atmosphere allowed for the elose exchange of results hypotheses diagnostic and therapeutic procedures criticism and respect and created very productive discussions all of which furthered the aim of the method To help more childless couples to have their own babies by the ultima ratio procedure of in vitro fertilization and embryo replacement The book that has emerged from this symposium will help to disseminate the great amount of information and experience gathered among the scientifically and clinically interested colleagues of many other hospitals and universities who could not be invited to the meeting At the same time it will prove that there is much more work to be done in the basic and clinical sciences of human embryology and reproductive biology
