Hemispheric Regionalism Gretchen J. Woertendyke,2016-06-02 In this broad ranging study Gretchen Woertendyke reconfigures US literary history as a product of hemispheric relations Hemispheric Regionalism Romance and the Geography of Genre brings together a rich archive of popular culture fugitive slave narratives advertisements political treatises and literature to construct a new literary history from a hemispheric and regional perspective At the center of this history is romance a popular and versatile literary genre uniquely capable of translating the threat posed by the Haitian Revolution or the expansionist possibilities of Cuban annexation for a rapidly increasing readership Through romance she traces imaginary and real circuits of exchange and remaps romance's position in nineteenth century life and letters as irreducible to nor fully mediated by a concept of nation The energies associated with Cuba and Haiti manifest destiny and apocalypse bring historical depth to an otherwise short national history As a result romance becomes remarkably influential in inculcating a sense of new world citizenry The study shifts our critical focus from novel and nation to romance and region inevitable she argues when we attend to the tangled messy relations across geographic and historical boundaries Woertendyke reads the archives of Gabriel Prosser Nat Turner and Denmark Vesey along with less frequently treated writers such as John Howison William Gilmore Simms and J H Ingraham The study provides a new context for understanding works by Washington Irving Edgar Allan Poe Herman Melville and James Fenimore Cooper and brings together the theories of Charles Brockden Brown the editorial work of Maturin M Ballou and the historical romances of Walter Scott In Hemispheric Regionalism Woertendyke demonstrates that US literature has always been the product of hemispheric and regional relations and that all forms of romance are central to this history Contributors to the Quarterly Review Jonathan Cutmore,2015-10-06 The Quarterly Review presents a rare opportunity to Romantic scholars to test the truth of Marilyn Butler's claim that the early nineteenth century periodical is the matrix for democratization of public writing and reading This is the second title in this series to look at its influence The Historical Novel in Europe, 1650-1950 Richard Maxwell,2012-05-10 This book examines how the

French invention and the Scottish re invention of historical fiction prepared the genre s popularity during the nineteenth and twentieth centuries Conservatism and the Quarterly Review Jonathan Cutmore, 2015-10-06 In its time the Quarterly Review was thought to closely reflect government policy however the essays in this volume reveal that it was inconsistent in its support of government positions and reflected disagreement over a broad range of religious economic and political issues
