Domestic Intersections in Contemporary Migration Fiction Lucinda Newns, 2020-01-07 Homing the Metropole presents a new approach to diasporic fiction that reorients postcolonial readings of migration away from processes of displacement and rupture towards those of placement and homemaking While notions of home have frequently been associated with essentialist understandings of nation and race an uncritical investment in tropes of homelessness can prove equally hegemonic By synthesising postcolonial and intersectional feminist theory this work establishes the migrant domestic space as a central location of resistance countering notions of the private sphere as static uncreative and apolitical Through close readings of fiction emerging from the African Caribbean and South Asian diasporas it reassesses our conception of home in light of contemporary realities of globalisation and forced migration providing a valuable critique of the celebration of unfixed subject positions that has been a central tenet of postcolonial studies

The Transnational in Literary Studies Kai Wiegandt, 2020-07-06 This volume clarifies the meanings and applications of the concept of the transnational and identifies areas in which the concept can be particularly useful The division of the volume into three parts reflects areas which seem particularly amenable to analysis through a transnational lens The chapters in Part 1 present case studies in which the concept replaces or complements traditionally dominant concepts in literary studies These chapters demonstrate for example why some dramatic texts and performances can better be described as transnational than as postcolonial and how the transnational underlies and complements concepts such as world literature Part 2 assesses the advantages and limitations of writing literary history with a transnational focus These chapters illustrate how such a perspective loosens the epistemic stranglehold of national historiographies but they also argue that the transnational and national agendas of literary historiography are frequently entangled The chapters in Part 3 identify transnational genres such as the transnational historical novel transnational migrant fiction and translinguistic theatre and analyse the specific poetics and politics of these genres

Reisman, 2022-11-08 Moral Complexities in Turn of the Millennium British Literature offers a critical analysis of moral complexity and social responsibility in works by Kazuo Ishiguro Patrick McGrath Graham Swift Andrea Levy and Jeanette Winterson Mara Reisman argues that through their writing these authors reveal and upset literary cultural and political fictions and encourage readers to think carefully about language power community and social justice The book examines moral issues in two different ways how books by these authors address morally complex social political and cultural issues and how their books serve a moral function by challenging readers to be socially engaged Reisman provides an in depth analysis of The Remains of the Day Asylum The Light of Day Small Island and The Daylight Gate and uses these books to discuss twentieth and twenty first century British politics and culture These books address a wide variety of issues often associated with moral judgments war racism adultery maternal neglect murder professional misconduct witchcraft and religion Despite this diversity and settings that range from the seventeenth century to the late twentieth century these books include similar arguments about how empathy personal responsibility and civic engagement can create more productive social relations and a less divided world
