They can directly and indirectly contribute a significant number of domestic and international visitors to destinations and may be part of longer term retirement lifestyle and amenity migration that can have significant economic and social effects on communities and destination development. This volume offers an overview of different disciplinary and methodological approaches to second homes while simultaneously providing a broad geographical reach. Divided into four parts exploring governance, development, community and mobile second homes, the book provides a contemporary account of the major issues in an area of growing international interest. This timely handbook covers a wide range of dimensions from planning to the role of second homes in development and the management of their impact. The international and cross disciplinary nature of the contributions will be of interest to numerous academic fields in the social sciences as well as urban and regional planners.

Smarter Home Business Tina Johnstone, Catherine Whitaker-Hynd, 2004-06-01. The new essential guide for home business owners. It will provide you with tried and tested solutions to business problems, unique to home businesses, inspirational stories to give you confidence, techniques to avoid possible isolation and help with establishing networks, advice on business planning, goal setting and time management skills, financial planning and funding and useful exercises to help you achieve your goals. It is estimated that more than 200 000 home based businesses are currently operating in New Zealand and with rapid developments in technology and the desire of many New Zealanders to create a more flexible lifestyle, the number is increasing. We wrote the book to inspire and encourage those who work from home. We wanted to recognise and support one of the fastest growth areas in today's business environment. It seems there are becoming more and more good reasons to work from home each year. Finally we wanted to share the knowledge and experience we have been honoured to gain in the hope that others may benefit from it.
