On the surface he is an improbable candidate for an antiques dealer. He wrestled in high school and still retains the pugilistic build; he is gruff, funny, and profane; he favors shorts and sneakers even in November, and he is remarkably generous toward both competitors and customers who want a break. But as he struggles for a spot in a high-end Boston show, he must step up his game, and perhaps more challenging, fit in with a white shoe crowd. Through his ascent, we see the flea market for what it truly is: less a lottery than a contact sport with few rules and many pitfalls. This rich and sometimes hilarious subculture rewards peculiar interests and outright obsessions: one dealer specializes in shrunken heads, another wants all the postal memorabilia he can get. So Avery must be a guerrilla historian and use his hard-earned knowledge of America's past to live by and off his wits. Only the smartest survive in one of America's most ruthless meritocracies. Killer Stuff and Tons of Money is many things: an insider's look at a subculture replete with arcane traditions and high drama; an inspiring account of a self-made man making his way in a cutthroat field; a treasure trove of tips for those who seek out old things themselves; and a thoroughly fresh, vibrant view of history as blood sport.

The Encyclopedia of Collectibles: Folk art to horse-drawn carriages, 1978. Profusely illustrated text discusses such antique and collectible items as cookbooks, corkscrews, coverlets, cowboy gear, Currier Ives cut glass decoys, Depression glass, and detective fiction. The Rectory of Moreland, Mrs. Clara M. Tobin, 2017-07-05. Examining the compelling and often poignant connection between women and the material culture of death, this collection focuses on the objects women make, the images they keep, the practices they use or are responsible for, and the places they inhabit and construct through ritual and custom. Women's material practices ranging from wearing mourning jewelry to dressing the dead, stitching memorial samplers to constructing skull boxes, collecting funeral programs to collecting and studying diseased hearts, making and collecting taxidermies, and making sculptures honoring the dead are explored in this collection, as well as women's affective responses and sentimental labor that mark their expected and unexpected participation in the social practices surrounding death and the dead. The largely invisible work involved in commemorating and constructing narratives and memorials about the dead, from family members and friends to national figures, calls attention to the role women as memory keepers for families, local communities, and the nation. Women have tended to work collaboratively, making, collecting, and sharing objects that conveyed sentiments about the deceased, whether human or animal as well as the identity of mourners Death is about loss and many of the mourning practices that women have traditionally and are currently engaged in are about dealing with private grief and public loss as well as working to mitigate the more general anxiety that death engenders about the impermanence of life Build It, Make It, Do It, Play It! Catharine Bomhold, Terri Elder, 2014-06-30 A valuable one stop guide to collection development and finding ideal subject specific activities and projects for children and teens For busy librarians and educators finding instructions for projects activities sports and games that children and teens will find interesting is a constant challenge This guide is a time saving one stop resource for locating this type of information one that also serves as a valuable collection development tool that identifies the best among thousands of choices and can be used for program planning reference and readers advisory and curriculum support Build It Make It Do It Play It identifies hundreds of books that provide step by step instructions for creating arts and crafts building objects finding ways to help the disadvantaged or engaging in other activities ranging from gardening to playing games and sports Organized by broad subject areas arts and crafts recreation and sports including indoor activities and games and so forth the entries are further logically organized by specific subject ensuring quick and easy use An Oak Spring Pomona Sandra Raphael, 1990-12-26 An Oak Spring Pomona is the second in a series of catalogues describing selections of rare books and other material in the Oak Spring Garden Library a collection formed by Mrs Paul Mellon The Pomona describes one hundred books and manuscripts about fruit with illustrations taken from some of the most beautiful books on the subject as well as from original drawings and paintings The earliest book described is Bussatos Giardino di Agricoltura of 1592 the latest The Herefordshire Pomona an encyclopedia of apples and pears from the 1870s In between there are fruit books large and small La Quintinie s Instruction pour les Jardins fruitiers Duhamel s Traite des arbres fruitiers and many others The book is divided into sections on fruit growing in France and Britain fruit elsewhere in Europe and fruit in America as well as citrus fruit apples and pears peaches and soft fruit grapes melons and tropical fruit Each description gives the background of the book and its relationship to others and is accompanied by illustrations of its contents in color and black and white The Pomona includes not only brief bibliographical summaries of each book but also background wssays that place the books in a historical setting
