Community Engagement and the COVID-19 Pandemic Tawnya Azar, 2025-06-24 Community engaged CE teaching is not a new concept However in the past several years it has gained increased emphasis as is evident by the changes to institution mission statements and the allocation of institution resources to support faculty development in CE teaching as well as to support CE coursework and research The arrival of the COVID 19 pandemic forced many faculty members to pivot to an all online instruction model impacting community engaged teaching and research in both predictable and unexpected ways Community partners facing similar struggles to serve their communities with restrictions on face to face interaction were often too overwhelmed to work with higher education volunteers Legally universities could not ask students to risk their health with face to face community engagement In fact the number of CE courses decreased dramatically in 2020 and 2021 due to the unique challenges posed by the pandemic At the same time the pandemic presented some CE faculty with new opportunities for community engagement Some responded swiftly to the immediate needs of the local regional or national community with which they worked taking advantage of the affordances of digital technology or capitalizing on the issues that the pandemic itself created or exacerbated This collection captures the incredible work of pivoting and innovating in community engaged teaching With a primary focus on community engaged teaching in higher education this collection explores how faculty students and community partners navigated their work during the COVID 19 pandemic Additionally it raises important questions about how we might stay engaged with community during a crisis Sketches in Democracy Lisa DeLorenzo, 2012-02-23 Sketches of Democracy is a captivating book that chronicles the first year in the life of a new urban high school Based on journal entries and educational literature this book traces the author's challenging journey toward creating a democratic community of learners within a tangle of socio economic and political issues An experienced public school teacher and university educator DeLorenzo brings a unique perspective to the teaching learning process Her poignant anecdotal stories along with information from authoritative sources provide a narrative that is deeply reflective and affecting This book is a must read for teachers teacher candidates and teacher educators who share a passion for teaching those on the margins of society Art, Education, and the Democratic Commitment D.T. Schwartz, 2013-03-14 In reflecting on this book and the process of writing it the most pervasive theme I find is that of confluence I drew much of the energy needed to write the book from the energy that resides at the confluence or nexus of contrasting ideas At the most general level the topic of arts subsidy offered a means of exploring simultaneously two of my favorite philosophical subjects aesthetics and politics The risk of a dual focus is of course that you do neither topic justice However the bigger payoff of this strategy resides in finding new and interesting connections between two otherwise disparate topics Developing such connections between art and politics led directly to many of the book's positive arguments for subsidy At a deeper level the book exploits a confluence of contrasting philosophical methodologies The central problem of the book politically justifying state support of the arts is cast in the Anglo American tradition of analytical philosophy Here normative arguments of ethics and politics are scrutinized with an eye toward developing a defensible justification of state action Yet while the book initially situates the subsidy problem within this analytical tradition its positive arguments for subsidy draw heavily from the ideas and methods of Continental philosophy Rather than adjudicating normative claims of ethical and political truth the Continental tradition aims at the hermeneutical task of interpreting and describing structures of human meaning
